Highway department wants more US-27 alternatives

The Department of Transportation and Environment announced that the highway department is considering a number of alternatives for the US-27 highway between St. Johns and Mason. The department is seeking public input on these alternatives, which include a combination of new construction and improvements to existing roads.

Assessment fight continues in DeWitt Township

The fight between a local community and the township over the assessment of their properties continues to escalate. The community is seeking a reduction in property taxes, while the township argues that the assessment is fair and within legal guidelines. The issue is expected to be resolved in court.

County adopts 1976 budget

The county commission has approved the 1976 budget, which includes funding for various programs and services. The budget is expected to be distributed to local governments and schools in the near future.

ST. JOHNS - Plans are presently under way to plan a special anniversary celebration for the Clinton Theatre, which is celebrating its 25th year of operation. The theatre plans to host a special anniversary celebration on Thursday, Nov. 6, to be followed by a showing of a film.

Tuesdays in Clinton Theatre

The Clinton Theatre in downtown St. Johns, owned by the Ovid Cinema, is now open for business. The theatre is open Tuesday through Saturday, and offers a variety of films and entertainment options.

Fire starters should leaf well enough alone

If you’ve looked out the window lately and noticed leaves falling, you might be tempted to start a fire. However, state fire officials warn that starting a fire near leaves could go up in smoke.

Death claims former board president

Ovid-Elsie School Board died at 11:51 a.m. on August 24, 1964. During 1967-68 he acted as chairman of the board and was elected to serve on the board in 1964 after Ovid and Elsie School districts merged, and was elected to serve on the board in 1964.

Nurses charge unfair labor practice at hospital

ST. JOHNS — Today's nursing practice changes have begun and have been adopted by the St. Johns Memorial Hospital. The new regulations are designed to improve patient care and to prevent the spread of disease.

Parade kicks off activities at St. Johns Homecoming

The official kickoff for the St. Johns Homecoming activities is set for October 22. The parade will start at 5:30 p.m. (All St. John's High School students, faculty, and alumni are invited to participate.)

Moonlight madness fan

Three girls in the second year of the fall/winter Madrigal in St. Johns are an example of the many activities that contribute to the city's cultural atmosphere.

Assessment fight continues in DeWitt Township

The township is continuing to fight the county over the assessment of properties within the township. The township argues that the assessment is unfair and that it is seeking a reduction in property taxes. The county, on the other hand, argues that the assessment is fair and within legal guidelines.

County adopts 1976 budget

The county commission has approved the 1976 budget, which includes funding for various programs and services. The budget is expected to be distributed to local governments and schools in the near future.
Thanks St. Johns... for 20 beautiful years

To you and the hundreds of people from St. Augustine to the Soo who have made the Wheel Inn a part of their travel plans we extend a sincere appreciation.

Juanita O'Leary was a long-time employee at the Wheel Inn, and when she retired, it was time to honor her. The Wheel Inn celebrated its 20th anniversary with a special event, inviting former customers and employees to come back and enjoy coffee and cake. The theme of the event was the bicentennial of the United States, and the Wheel Inn contributed a quilt to the celebration. The quilt was made by the St. Johns Bicentennial committee and was entered in the National Quilt Museum's bicentennial quilt contest. The event was a success, with many former customers and employees attending. It was a time to remember the past and look forward to the future, with the hope of continuing the tradition of hospitality that has made the Wheel Inn such a special place for so many years.
Harmony Hounds will perform at 4-H banquet

EX
Moratorium on laws

The people who create our laws have a bottom-line responsibility for many of today's economic and social problems. They are the legislators who in their frantic efforts to pass laws to alleviate whatever socialistic disaster some newspaper in the state holds up as an example to the rest of the country, have somehow feel that continuous, whirlwind law-making activity is akin to the most efficient way to solve the problems.

And so it has been. There is no way to argue the fact that legislators who somehow feel that continuous, demonstration law-making activity is akin to the most efficient way to solve the problems of our society.

But our legislators also have a responsibility not to make laws that result in pyramidal bureaucracies which are expensive, wasteful, unnecessary and often counter in action to what may originally have been a good intention.

There are those who believe that the key to solving the problems of our society would be to give the 'bureaucrats' the power to do it. The 'bureaucrats' would be the people who now work in the state and county government, the people who have been in their jobs for 40 years, the people who have seen it all before. These people, they tell us, would know exactly what to do because they have seen it all before.

But it is not just the bureaucrats who have seen it all before. It is also the politicians who have seen it all before, the lawyers who have seen it all before, the judges who have seen it all before. It is all people who have seen it all before. And they all know exactly what to do because they have seen it all before.

The goal is not to create another bureaucracy to solve the problems of our society. It is to create a bureaucracy that can solve the problems of our society. And that means that the bureaucracy must be efficient, effective and economical.

The most efficient way to solve the problems of our society is by making laws that will actually work. If a law is enacted and it does not work, then it is a failure. If a law is enacted and it works, then it is a success.

But the most important part of any preparation for the future is to have a plan. A plan that is not only sound but also flexible enough to accommodate any changes that may occur. This plan should be as detailed as possible, covering every aspect of the problem. It should be reviewed and updated regularly, with input from all stakeholders.

In conclusion, our legislators have a responsibility to create laws that are efficient, effective and economical. They need to think ahead and plan for the future. They need to be creative and innovative. They need to be willing to take risks. They need to be willing to learn from their mistakes. And they need to be willing to change. If they do, they will be able to solve the problems of our society.

Ovid-Elsie School Board proceedings

The meeting was called to order at 9:30 a.m. by President Bill, who welcomed all who attended. The meeting was held in the auditorium of the Ovid-Elsie High School. The minutes of the regular meeting held on September 15, 1975, were read and approved. The attendance roll was taken, and all those present were counted as members of the board. The board was then adjourned to the business session.

The meeting was held in order to discuss various matters related to the operation of the Ovid-Elsie schools. The president of the board, Mr. Bill, opened the meeting with a brief welcome to all those in attendance. He then proceeded to call for any additions to the agenda, which were to be discussed. After all additions were made, the meeting was then adjourned to the business session.

The meeting concluded without any further action. The president then adjourned the meeting to the next regular meeting, which will be held on November 15, 1975.

Bicentennial Cookbook CONTRIBUTION SOUGHT

The Clinton County News will be publishing on December 31, 1975 a Bicentennial Cookbook filled with keepsake recipes contributed by readers of The News.

In order to make this project a success, we are actively seeking keepsake collection recipes from our readers. We would like to have your Great Aunt Sarah’s famous sugar cake or your great-grandmother’s secret sourdough recipe or the makings for that special relish that has graced your family holiday table for the past many years. Dig deep and send in that treasured recipe to share with our readers.

The rules for contributing are as follows:

All recipes will become the property of Clinton County News and cannot be returned.

All recipes must be hand printed or typewritten. You must send with your entry the name, address and phone number.

Deadline to receive the recipes is November 15, 1975.

Please follow these tips in your recipes:

- Use only common measuring terms.
- Be sure to include serving size and number of servings.
- Be sure to indicate the temperature and time required for baking and cooking. Include any special equipment needed.
- Include a photograph of the finished dish.

We will be limited to publishing approximately 250 recipes. Recipes will be selected for publishing on a first-come, first-served basis.

We sincerely hope that our readers will share our enthusiasm for this fun project as its success depends on your cooperation.

This Bicentennial Cookbook will be inserted free in the December 31 issue of The News.

Local youths become team members

Despite drought and rain, '75 corn crop could be 2nd largest in history

The hard work and travel that characterized the last weeks of the harvest, pent up an ardor among today's 4-H team members who were preparing for the national conference in Washington, D.C. These youths are the J.D. 400-2008-H team, which will represent Clinton County and Michigan 4-H during the first week of November.

The team members will participate in a national evaluation of their specific projects, the competition is off-the-ground as they prepare to demonstrate their skills.

Headquarters, Lakeland, Fla., is the site of the national conference, which is open to more than 24,000 team members from 500 Michigan counties. The team members will have the opportunity to travel around the country to see different counties and their projects.

The team members are the following: Karen Vining, president; Bob Raffo, vice-president; and Herb Grover, secretary.

don’t turn a deaf ear to noises on the farm

STUART LANDER -- There was a time when 90% of the farm land was used to produce corn, but not anymore. Today, many farmers are finding that there is a better way to do business. This trend is not new. It has been happening for several years now. The reason is that the way we produce food has changed. We are now using more efficient methods to produce food.

Robert Kissane

Twelve years of service as a full-time leader in 4-H, Kissane has been instrumental in helping to foster a closer relationship between the school and the community. He has taken the lead in developing programs that focus on the needs of students and teachers. Kissane is a strong believer in the power of education to improve the lives of young people.

Redwing golfers end successful season

The St. Johns Redwings ended their regular season 1-0 following a 34-21 win over Midland Friday. The Redwings finished first in the Mid-Michigan B while Hemlock, St. Johns, and Bath tied for second place.

They played a total of 12 games, with 10 wins, 1 loss, and 1 tie. The team had a winning percentage of .917.

The team had a successful season, winning their first 10 games before losing to Hemlock.

They played against several strong opponents, including Bath and DeWitt, and emerged victorious each time.

The Redwings were the dominant team in the Mid-Michigan B this year, and their success is a testament to their hard work and dedication.

The team will now move on to the playoffs, where they will face stronger competition. They will be looking to continue their winning streak and bring home another championship.
