MSU announces extension service shifts in light of state budget crunch

It's the best that first transition shock in terms of losing a major initiative from the Extension Service. It's far from what we feel is the worst...or from the many questions we've been asked since the announcement last week. It's a shift that is going to affect the Extension Service in a number of ways.

The shift is a result of the state budget crunch. The Michigan State University Extension Service is facing significant cuts in funding for programs. These cuts will have a significant impact on the Extension Service's ability to continue providing services to communities across the state.

The Extension Service is responsible for delivering a wide range of programs and services, including agriculture, natural resources, and community development. The cuts will impact these programs in different ways, depending on the specific needs and priorities of each county.

The challenge is to find ways to maintain the quality and effectiveness of our programs while still meeting the needs of our clients. We are committed to finding creative solutions to this problem and to working with communities to find ways to continue to provide the services they need.

We appreciate your support and understanding as we navigate this difficult period.

He's your choice!

It's your choice! What Christmas is all about is what you decide it is. Christmas is a time when we remember what Christmas really means. It is a time when we take a moment to reflect on the true meaning of Christmas. It is a time when we spend time with our loved ones and remember the importance of family. It is a time when we give and receive gifts, but the real meaning of Christmas is not found in material things. It is found in the love and kindness we share with each other.

We're waiting for you to call

We're waiting for you to call. The phone rings and you answer, "Hello, how may I help you today?" The person on the other end of the line is excited and asks, "Can you make me a Christmas present?" You think for a moment and then say, "Of course! What would you like me to make for you?" The person on the other end of the line is overjoyed and says, "I want a Christmas tree with lights and ornaments!" You get to work and begin making the Christmas tree. You paint the tree, put up the lights, and add the ornaments. When you're done, you call the person on the other end of the line and say, "Here it is! I hope you like it!" The person on the other end of the line is thrilled and says, "Oh my gosh, this is amazing! Thank you so much!" You feel proud and happy that you were able to make a special Christmas tree for someone else.

thanksgiving

A tradition for more than 350 years

This Thanksgiving, as we carve the turkey and eat the foods of the harvest season, let us remember to be thankful for the freedom we enjoy. And, as we approach the 200th anniversary of the United States, let us pay a special tribute to the Pilgrims of New England in search of freedom. The Pilgrims of the Massachusetts Colony and our other forefathers who came to the New World were brave settlers, for it was they who created a colony in a new land, carving a community from the wilderness. We should always remember these brave settlers, for it was they who were searching for freedom. The Pilgrims of New England established the tradition of Thanksgiving even though their first years in the New World were rough and the harvest was small. They were thankful for their freedom and for the opportunity to create a colony in a new land, carving a community from the wilderness. We should always remember these brave settlers, for it was they who set the foundations for freedom upon which our country is built.

Have a Happy Thanksgiving
