School accepts city's price for extra high school land

There is no problem to be solved. Street costs.

Long negotiations over the exchange, trade, or sale of land to complete the new high school site ended last Wednesday evening when the school board accepted the city's price of $20,000 for the 6.5-acre tract.

Only the night before the St. Johns City Commission turned down a school board offer for $1,000 an acre.

The school board will put on its previous offer at $1,000 per acre to the city's offer of $20,000 if the board's decision is of an independent appeal.

Wednesday night the school board met in the city hall at the end of the month to pass the next budget. The meeting of the two groups has been scheduled to follow, following the regular city commission meeting.

The city engineers witnessed the meeting. The city's contract with the county showed the schools' property. The city park rounded out the site purchases for the new high school. The shaded area shows the school's property.

The St. Johns School Board's acceptance of the City of St. Johns offer for the rectangular plot of land along Sickles Street south of the city park mowed out the site purchases for the new high school. The small area shows the property.
To reduce National Guard backlog

The Adjutant General of Michigan, Major General Clemon C. Cof­ cannon, announced today that the Michigan National Guard’s backlog of military personnel has been reduced by 50 percent. This brings the backlog down to 1,500 from 3,000 a year ago.

The Adjutant General also revealed that the program was initiated in 1965 to reduce the backlog of National Guard members who entered the service in the 1960s. The program was designed to help the National Guard meet its current requirements and reduce its backlog.

TURN WINTER INTO the Safety Season

Winter can be a happy time, but last year it was not for everyone. Five billion people in January and December 1965 died of some other weather.

The only way to prevent these deaths is to substitute the Christmas trees, wreaths, wreaths of evergreen, electrically heated, oil-fired, and warm-cakes, etc., with such things of comfort.

THE BIGGEST TOY OF ALL.

At Christmas your tree is the biggest toy of all. This will be your tree, and you will be able to put it up on a rack or on a table, and inside the house. It will be so comfortable that the whole family will enjoy it.

The Christmas tree is the best toy of all. It is warm, it is comfortable, and it is beautiful. It is perfect for anyone who likes to have something to look at. You can have it yourself, or you can give it to someone else. It is something that you can enjoy all winter long.

The Christmas tree is also a symbol of the joy of Christmas. It reminds us of the love and care that went into making it, and it reminds us of the joy that it will bring to those who see it.

Federal Highway funds cut for Michigan roads

Michigan's highway needs are not only the responsibility of Michigan, but the federal government also helps. Each year the federal government contributes about $1 billion for our roads and highways. Of the $1 billion for our roads and highways, Michigan has been allotted $20 million. This is a reduction of $5 million from last year's allocation. This is a reduction of $5 million from last year's allocation.

Dr. Gilbert W. DeRath, head of the federal medical clinic, has announced that the federal government is currently reconsidering the allocation of federal funds for highway construction. The federal government has been asked by the Michigan Department of Transportation to re-examine the allocation of federal funds for highway construction. The federal government has been asked by the Michigan Department of Transportation to re-examine the allocation of federal funds for highway construction.

In the past, federal funds have been used to construct and maintain roads and highways. These funds have been crucial in the development and maintenance of our transportation system. Without federal funds, many roads and highways in Michigan would be in poor condition.

However, with the recent budget cuts, the allocation of federal funds for highway construction has been reduced. This has put pressure on the Michigan Department of Transportation to find alternative funding sources for highway construction.

The Michigan Department of Transportation has been working to find ways to reduce costs and increase efficiency in highway construction. They have been exploring ways to use local funds more effectively and to increase the use of private sector funding.

Despite the reduction in federal funds, the Michigan Department of Transportation remains committed to maintaining and improving our transportation system. They are working hard to ensure that our roads and highways remain safe and functional for all travelers.

With the continued pressure on funding, the challenge of maintaining and improving our transportation system will only become more pressing. However, with the commitment of the Michigan Department of Transportation and the federal government, we can continue to work towards a safe and functional transportation system for all drivers.

Keep Yule plans within your limits

By HEDER M. MESSIG
University TimesEditorial

It is time to start planning about all those Christmas presents you are going to make or buy. It is getting late, but you are going to do it. After all, presents are gifts. The decision that you make now could determine what you will buy or make. The sooner you are sure of your plans, the better chance you will have of getting what you want.

Now at the last minute, you realize that you are not going to have the money you need...or you are going to have to borrow a few dollars from somewhere.

The solution is to start now. It is much better to have a budget than to be caught without money at the last minute.

What is the most important thing about Christmas for you? Is it the tree? Is it the gifts? Is it the cookies? Is it the decorations? Is it the cards?

Christmas is a holiday. It is a time to relax and enjoy the company of friends and family. It is a time to give and receive gifts. It is a time to celebrate the birth of Jesus Christ.

At the Church of the Nativity, the celebration of Christmas begins with the lighting of the Christmas tree. The tree is decorated with lights, candles, and ornaments. It is a symbol of the love and peace that come with the holiday.

Mrs. Pease, Mrs. Lee retire

Clara Pease, who retired in March after working 31/2 years at Clinton Memorial Hospital and Blanche Lee, who will retire Dec. 31, were honored last Wednesday evening by staff and fellow members of the hospital. Both women were employed in the kitchen and Mrs. Lee is the medical record librarian.

Launch kidney donor program

One more step in the fight against kidney disease has been taken by the Michigan Kidney Foundation and the University of Michigan Medical Center.

At the organizational meeting of the Michigan Kidney Foundation, Plant Representatives of the Michigan Kidney Foundation, the National Kidney Foundation, and the University of Michigan Medical Center, the following program was adopted:

1. The kidney donor program is to be made available to all patients with end-stage renal disease.
2. The program is to be staffed by qualified personnel.
3. The program is to be supported by federal and/or state funds.

Mrs. Pease served as the year's honored guest and Mrs. Lee as the new program's director.

The evening was spent in socializing and enjoying refreshments served by the Esthers Circle.

Christmas, graduation spirits mingle at SJHS

By GAY BOND

St. Johns High School

The Christmas spirit is being felt throughout the halls of St. John's High School, as seniors are busily scurrying around the halls, making plans for the holiday season. The seniors have been busy ordering their caps and gowns, with the gowns being the next thing on the agenda to be ordered. Seniors are also planning for the Christmas concert, which is scheduled for St. Johns High School.

Though graduation is yet far away, the seniors are already making plans for the special occasions that will mark their senior year. The Christmas concert is one such event, and it promises to be a festive and memorable occasion. The seniors are working hard to ensure that the concert will be a success, and they are counting down the days until it arrives.

The seniors are also looking forward to the graduation ceremony, which is scheduled for graduation day. They are working on their graduation attire, and they are planning for the special occasion that will mark the end of their high school careers.

In addition to the Christmas concert and graduation ceremony, the seniors are also planning for other special occasions that will mark their senior year. They are working on their senior projects, and they are looking forward to the senior year as a time of celebration and achievement.

The seniors are also looking forward to the senior year as a time of growth and development. They are working hard to ensure that they make the most of their senior year, and they are looking forward to the challenges and opportunities that lie ahead.

The seniors are also looking forward to the senior year as a time of friendship and camaraderie. They are working hard to ensure that they make the most of their senior year, and they are looking forward to the challenges and opportunities that lie ahead.

The seniors are also looking forward to the senior year as a time of opportunity and achievement. They are working hard to ensure that they make the most of their senior year, and they are looking forward to the challenges and opportunities that lie ahead.

4-H Leaders honored at annual banquet

THE ANNUAL 4-H leaders banquet was held at Smith Hall last Thursday with over 200 in attendance. George Hazle, President of the Clinton County 4-H Council, gave a brief history of the Clinton County 4-H Council for the evening.

The banquet was sponsored by the 4-H council in honor of the many members who have contributed to the development of this organization over the years.

Among those honored were 100 years of 4-H leadership represented here after receiving their service awards.

Between them, Ed and Iola Rose have over 53 years of service to youth. Key awards presented by the Board of Supervisors were given to Frances Baker, Jeanette and Esther Tabor, Elmer Smith, Jack Sleper, Mary Snyder, Clare Swaney, Mrs. Clay Wilson.

Alysworth, Extension 4-H Youth Director, presented the newly established, Friends of 4-H award, to the 156 women and 76 men for their dedication of long service to 4-H, representing the efforts of many men and women who volunteered their time and effort to the Clinton County 4-H Council.

The dinner was prepared and entertained for the Board of Supervisors by Mrs. Charles Cranmer, a member of the First Presbyterian Church, St. Johns, Michigan.

ENTERTAINMENT FOR the evening was a musical by Mrs. Dorothy White from the Clinton National Bank and Trust Co., and Mrs. Dorothy VanderVeen from the Clinton County News.

Thursday, December 22

To our forefathers, this was living at its best...but the hard deals, the love lost and the open gate steal not in our sight of wonder.

Today kitchens sparkle with bright, modern style and equipment is filled with helpful appliances. We ride in four-wheeled duats and sleep up spotlessly furnished. Almost every aspect of modern life is almost beyond our control.

Man, with his moral and God-given beauty, has overcome many obstacles, and there seems to be no limit to the advancements that have given us a world full of possibilities, and minds that can only work to improve our environment.

But to make the most of our opportunities, we must ever develop and enjoy the wisdom that is from our forefathers. Gone to church and with others receive that heritage of inspiration and light.

Dairy men who adapt have bright future

Dairy farmers, however, are maintaining their strategies and trying to adjust to the changing market conditions. With the increase in feed costs and the need for higher milk production, dairy farmers are looking for ways to reduce costs and improve efficiency. "I think we have to adapt to the market and be more efficient," said one dairy farmer. "We have to be willing to change and be open to new ideas." Another dairy farmer added, "We have to be innovative and think outside the box. We have to be willing to take risks and try new things." Farmers are also starting to focus more on quality over quantity. "We need to be more selective in our breeding," said one dairy farmer. "We need to focus on producing high-quality animals that can compete in the market." Dairy farmers are also looking to technology to help them improve their operations. "We need to be more technology-driven," said another dairy farmer. "We need to use technology to help us be more efficient and reduce costs." Dairy farmers are also looking to the government for support. "We need the government to provide more support and assistance," said one dairy farmer. "We need the government to help us reduce costs and improve our operations." In conclusion, dairy farmers are facing many challenges, but they are adapting and finding ways to improve their operations. Savings bond sales go higher

W. D. McDonnell, chairman of the State Bond Commission, today hailed the Treasury's announcement that $3.3 billion of savings bonds have sold since the program began on April 10, 1966. About $1.3 billion have been sold in the first month of the program. All told, about $3 billion have gone to make 66 million payments on savings, education, health, retirement and other purposes.

"This is the most important step that has been taken in the hope of increasing the savings of millions of Americans who have had their way to financial security through regular investments in savings bonds," Mr. McDonnell said.

The mailing approval of the savings bonds program was considered a shrewd move by the Treasury to encourage the sale of bonds. The Treasury Department has been trying to encourage the sale of savings bonds since the program began in 1966. Savings bonds have been sold in increasing amounts since the program began. In the first month of the program, about $1.3 billion have been sold. In the second month, about $2.0 billion have been sold. In the third month, about $2.5 billion have been sold. In the fourth month, about $3.0 billion have been sold.

GI's longing for peace proves that God is alive

On Christmas Day a soldier in Vietnam, dirty with jungle mud and blood, will tear open a letter from home. For a few moments he will get his hope and only failure will be replaced by the smell of white sheets on the old bed at home on Christmas Eve, the pensiveness of Christmas pain and the aroma of food from mother's kitchen.

From the HOPPER
from STEVE MIND

This past week, here at the News, has been a little rough for me. The result part of the past week, effectively opening, has been very hard to get one out to. To clarify this statement, I will have to take you back to early January when this trouble started and explain.

A couple of weeks ago, I had to make the decision to fire one of my long-time members of the News staff. I know that this is a hard decision for anyone who has been a member of the staff and has been a part of the organization. This is a decision that was not easy to make, but it is a decision that had to be made.

The GI spent most of his life in the service of his country and had served with honor. He had been mentioned for promotion, but it had not been enough to secure the rank he desired.

To Backfire

Winter's Armour

It has been a difficult week for me as a News employee. I have had to make some tough decisions that I did not want to make. But it is necessary to do what is right for the organization.

I am proud of our staff and the work they do. They have always been there for me and I am grateful for their support.

We are not going to give up fighting for what we believe in. We will continue to work hard and try to make a difference.

In Case of Fire

When a man flirts with a waitress he may be playing for big steals. No matter what happens, there is always someone who knew it would.

When a fire starts, it is important to know what to do. The American Insurance Association says, "Every five minutes fire claims a life."

In a house without a basement people have to put things where they belong. The taxpayer just doesn't believe the government can be trusted. He has seen too many examples of the misuse of tax dollars.

military security", but we are not sure what the answer will be. The problem was that a device was to be made and it just might work.

The excitement of getting and giving can never be completely explained. The same member of the member's club will welcome him back to the fold to support all those who serve so bravely.

In the fall, the store will be developed, offering a wide range of religious literature in the store.

FUTURE OF MIHS

Social Security's new program, in effect since 1965, is open to all citizens of the United States. It is designed to provide a retirement income for people who have retired from work.

The purpose of the program is to ensure that people who retire can maintain a standard of living similar to the one they enjoyed while working.

The program is funded through contributions made by workers, employers, and the government.

In 1965, the program was established with a trust fund, which is invested to ensure that the program will be able to meet future obligations.

The trust fund is invested in a diversified portfolio of stocks and bonds, which are managed by a professional investment manager.

The program is administered by the Social Security Administration, which is an independent agency of the federal government.

The Social Security Administration is responsible for administering the program and ensuring that beneficiaries receive their benefits on time.

The program is designed to provide a secure retirement for all eligible beneficiaries.

No need to be concerned about the future of the program, as it is managed by a professional investment manager who is dedicated to ensuring that beneficiaries receive their benefits on time.

So, relax and enjoy your retirement, knowing that the future of your Social Security benefits is secure.
Carbon monoxide deaths on increase this year

The number of accidental deaths from carbon monoxide poisoning in the state during the past year is a cause for concern. According to Dr. Albert E. Heustis, Director of the Michigan Poison Control Center in Detroit, the number of cases dealing specifically with carbon monoxide poisoning increased 40% over the previous year. The increase is attributed to the higher number of automobiles in Michigan, the use of carbon monoxide detectors in schools, and the prevalence of smokeless stoves, which are known to emit carbon monoxide fumes.

Dr. Heustis's advice:

1. Keep至少 one side window open. Even if your car has a defective exhaust system, the danger of carbon monoxide poisoning will be lessened by keeping a window open. This will help to prevent the build-up of fumes inside the car.
2. If your car has a defective exhaust system, turn on the car's engine when you repair it. This will help to minimize the amount of carbon monoxide emitted during the repair process.
3. If your car has a defective exhaust system, transport it to a service station at least once a year. This will help to ensure that the exhaust system is functioning properly and will minimize the risk of carbon monoxide poisoning.
4. Make sure to provide adequate ventilation in all enclosed spaces where carbon monoxide may be present. This includes garages, basements, and heated areas of buildings.

Dr. Heustis also advised motorists:

- If the fumes seep back through the fire wall or up through the floor, the occupants should not leave the building. This is because carbon monoxide is colorless and odorless, and may not be detected by the human senses.
- This is especially important to remember when you are in your car. Make sure to check for carbon monoxide fumes before entering an enclosed space that may have been exposed to exhaust fumes.

Carbon monoxide detectors are highly recommended for use in homes, garages, and other enclosed spaces. These devices can alert you to the presence of carbon monoxide, allowing you to take necessary precautions to prevent exposure.

Carbon monoxide poisoning can be a serious health threat. It is important to take steps to prevent its occurrence, and to be aware of the symptoms so that you can act quickly to seek medical attention if exposure is suspected.
