Dear Santa,

I would like to bring a big puppy and a baby doll. I would love a big puppy because I like to play with it and go for walks. I want a baby doll because it would be like you.

My dad says I can have it, but he also says I have to be very good.

Dear Santa,

I would like a puppy and a Barbie doll. I saw one in the third grade, and I think it would be so much fun to take care of it.

In the first grade, I tried very hard to be good, but I have been as good as a 3 year old can be.

Bond issue, millage voted down for Portland schools

State law dictates that the bond issue and millage election be held at the same time as the regular election on April 1. Two of the 13 mills requested by the bond proposal will go to the voters. The Board of Education will call the election and the voters will decide whether to support the proposed millage.

Superintendent (Clyde) Brown made the total vote tally now worth-while, which was the largest ever recorded in the Portland schools. The proposition, which was the highest turn-out last year, will now be put to the voters on April 1.

Job relocation tax deductions changed

The 1968 Tax Reform Act made significant changes to the tax consequences of moving to a new home because of a job relocation. According to Dr. Robert L. Bly, president of The Midwest Association of Certified Public Accountants, the new law broadened the deduction for certain moving and relocation expenses. The law also allowed for the exclusion of the capital gain on the sale of the former home.

Controlled porosity developed

A new spraying technique which separates small and dense powders is being used to control spraying needs for best results. The technique was developed by Dr. A.J. Edmondson, Michigan State University.

The technique involves mixing the powders in a water base and applying the mixture to the soil. The water base helps to keep the powders suspended in the soil, allowing them to be applied more evenly.

In the past, powders have been applied to the soil using a spray gun, but the water base helps to keep the powders suspended longer, allowing them to be applied more evenly.

The technique is being used by farmers in the area to control spraying needs for best results. The technique has been shown to be more effective than traditional methods of spraying.

Snow and ice halt six contests

A full slate of six Clinton County basketball games was cancelled Friday night as the first and second day snow storms of the winter moved across central Michigan. All of the scheduled games in the Mid-Michigan Athletic Conference were called off. The local CAC games were Lansing — Detroit, Freeland — Mt. Pleasant, and Williamston — Owosso. Freeland's girls' team was the only Class County League game called off.

The St. Johns-Laporte game was rescheduled for Dec. 9 at Owosso. The only other West Clinton game called off was the cold Friday night game for the White Oak girls, which kept their engagements Friday night for the only West Clinton contest played, as the Clinton game expired on Dec. 9. None was lost in the county's game Tuesday night (Dec. 14) at Pewamo-Hollywood played in Lone Hope, Port Huron, Port Huron and North Huron, but Paul opposite to Port Huron.

Five big games will be on the Friday night当你 needs to write a letter, I would like to take this opportunity to suggest the following:

- The Johnnies take on the Lansing Lions at Owosso.
- The Travellers battle the White Oak Wolves at Port Huron.
- The Mosquitoes meet the West Clinton Indians at Port Huron.
- The Gutter Gangs clash against the Coldstream Lions at Owosso.
- The Alley Dusters tangle with the Redwing Lanes at Port Huron.

I hope this list helps you to plan your games and ensure a successful weekend of basketball.

PIRATE PRIDE

The Panama-Whatislith's 1973-74 basketball squad finds itself in one of the tougher C-D leagues in Michigan, but Coach Harry Peacock is proud of his team contending for a berth in the playoffs. The Pirates, led once more by Jay Pippitt, have Steve Wirth, Charlie Thies, Mike Blane, Bill Vences and Coach Peacock. With four victories, John Beigli, Milt Cotter, Ron Kennedy, Roger Schafer and Mike Gros.

Grady L. Bondard and Lloyd R. Campbell of St. Johns, U.S. Forest Service, were the first place winners in the 1978 Conservation photo essay contest, sponsored by the Michigan Chapter of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (ASPCA). The contest was sponsored by the Michigan Chapter of the ASPCA and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

By TOM McELENEY

The AFC Central is being fought over by Cincinnati and Miami. After their defeat Sunday at the hands of the Chiefs, the Dolphins still have an outside chance at a berth. The AFC East has been won by Baltimore but the Miami Dolphins are runner-up in the AFC. The NFC East has been won by Minnesota, New York, San Francisco and Detroit. The World Champions will be the Detroit Lions, Chicago Bears and Green Bay Packers.

We are looking forward to the NFC Central being won by the Los Angeles Rams, who have an outside chance at a berth. If the Rams win, they have to win both their last two games and hope the Packers lose both of theirs.

EXTENSION REPORT
Wheat programs have some new twists

by GEORGE McQUEEN

Wheat programs are going through a busy period. Extensive field investigations were conducted recently in several states by University of Michigan agronomists to determine various aspects of wheat performance and classification. Results of the investigations clearly indicate that a strong potential market for wheat exists in other areas.

Mobile allergy testing machines are being designed to determine the severity of allergic reactions to gluten in some varieties. The machines are being tested in mobile locations to determine if they can provide accurate allergy testing for wheat products.

Selections from the third generation of Michigan wheat varieties by Dr. J. A. Johnson and Dr. W. H. Smith are showing promise of improved yield and quality. The selection process involves crossing different varieties to produce new ones that may be more resistant to disease and pests.

Agronomic research on the use of natural genetic inhibitors is also being conducted. These inhibitors may be used to reduce the amount of insecticides required to control wheat pests.

In addition, there is growing interest in the development of wheat varieties that can be grown in areas with less favorable growing conditions. This includes areas that are prone to drought or have poor soil quality.

These new wheat varieties are expected to provide a strong market for Michigan wheat growers. The demand for these varieties is expected to increase as more and more farmers are forced to grow wheat in areas that were previously unsuitable for this crop.

Proposal (Confusion)

Michigan voters made their desires clear by an overwhelming vote for public and private schools but it is unfortunate—and embarrassing—that the intent of the proposal has come under such conflicting interpretations that the will of the people appears to have little or no immediate effect.

Aside from the confusion surrounding the vote, the new law and public and private school officials know only one thing for certain—this law becomes effective on November 15, 1970. It is true that the law is ambiguous and it will take some time for the implementation, however, there is another thing for the exact meaning of the proposal is awaiting the decision of the courts.

It is a sad commentary, indeed, when an act of legislation becomes so ambiguously written as to bring about the present state of confusion. There can be little doubt that the bewilderment surrounding the results of the vote is but an excellent example of what is called American is steadily losing confidence in those to whom leadership is entrusted. When confusion is to be expected in the process of settling the question, the efforts and decision of Nov. 3 take on a monumental importance and the voter's growing skepticism is the effectiveness of the ballot receives a well supported boost.

It is ironic that the question was presented in such a manner that final letter has come to represent confusion.

Sleep on

Bill Gibbons, editor of the Galfey Journal, recently posed a question to his typewriter recently, going after the so-called "silent American." Wrote he, (in part),

"Sleep on, silent American. Turn your care away from the clamor of the mob in the street, the thunder of artillery shell in the night and the practice of tomorrow's battle. Politics is a mess anyway. Never look for the so-called "serious American." Wrote he, (in part, recently, going after the so-called "mute American.")

"Sleep on, silent American. Don't worry about the student protesters who are commandeering administering buildings and bổcking doors. The world has grown big and we are in need of another silent American."

"Sleep on, silent American. Say nothing, this country is far too big for we to worry about the problems of this nation may vanish. Don't be intimidated by your children. Tell your children to play with their toys, but not bother you. Your eight-year-old has books and games and a color TV in his room. It's not necessary for you to go into his room to hear his prayers. Let him entertain himself."

"Sleep on, silent American. Tell your teenager to go have himself a good time. Throw out your car keys and give him a ten-dollar bill. But don't ask him where he is going. He is a vision of his privacy and an infringement on his rights. Never ask him who his friends are. Do not require him to work and earn his own money."

"Sleep on, silent American. Do not best yourself to go to the polls on election day. Politics is a mess anyway. Never be seen with your head over your heart and resist the urge to put an American flag on your car. Applied nudity in the theater is the New Morality. Don't you hear it?"

"Sleep on, silent American. Go to the golf course on Sunday morning; you've worked too hard. And don't deprive yourself a little time off to relax. Of course, you might drop the kids off at Sunday School and give them the chance to drop into the collection plate. Lie back in the hammock of nomadicness and take in the sensuousness of indifference."

"Sleep on, silent American. You have everything to lose."

ONE YEAR AGO

A see plan for financing city operations, designed to meet the city's $20,000 deficit, was presented by the city manager on March 25. The proposed plan would entail the sale of a $50,000 bond issue to be used for the construction of a new city hall.

The Clinton County Board of supervisors, including the county auditor, was presented with these proposals and was instructed to present them to the city manager for consideration.

The city manager's plan includes the construction of a new city hall, which would be located on the corner of Center and Main streets. The building would be designed to accommodate the city offices and provide additional space for the police department.

TAKING FIVE

The Direct Free Press, popular through the years, recently posed a question to readers: what would you do if you were the editor of the Direct Free Press? About ten pages of answers were received and presented.

The most effective device that's ever been used was a smile. The only thing that works is a smile. The only thing that works is a smile. The only thing that works is a smile.

We hear no dissent whatsoever. We hear much about separation of church and state, but we will honor the state as it is.

We know where we went wrong in the Christmas holidays with their excitement, and what but what do you wish? It's the only thing you wish. It's the only thing you wish.

There's nothing better than the Christmas holidays.

The most efficient device that's ever been used was a smile. The only thing that works is a smile. The only thing that works is a smile. The only thing that works is a smile.

It was a very busy week with the report of the 87th winter season in Rockefeller, which included the annual horse race. The race was held on the frozen lake and was won by "The Champion," ridden by J. Smith. The event was attended by hundreds of spectators, who enjoyed the excitement and great weather.
