Citizens continue tax battle

The Detroit News

DEWITT TWP. - A group of DeWitt Twp. residents who have provided legal advice, copies of public records, and have been instrumental in a tax protest against the 1-mill tax assessment claim that the 1-mill tax, which included on an election ballot and submitted for a vote, was illegal. The petition asks for reimbursement and redetermination of the property tax mill, assessed by the State Tax Tribunal.

The argument by DeWitt Twp. residents against the 1-mill tax is centered around the fact that the 1-mill tax was never considered by the County "Board of Commissioners and the prosecutors. The idea of a mill tax is not new, but the manner in which it was presented to the voters was, according to DeWitt Twp. residents, illegal.

Voter registration system continues to soar in state

Voter registration offices throughout the state have been at peak activity this past week, with voters taking advantage of early voting, absentee voting, and in-person registration. The state is currently experiencing a record-breaking voter turnout, according to information provided by the Secretary of State's office. The increase in voter registration is largely attributed to the ongoing economic recovery and the desire for change among voters.

The 12-week course is open to anyone interested in learning about the fundamentals of driver license testing. Participants will learn about the process of driver license testing, including the types of questions asked, the format of the test, and how to prepare for the exam. The course is designed to help participants feel more confident and prepared when taking the driver license test.

May the message of that first friendship brighten and warm your holiday season.

The ox, ass, camel and the sheep are known as the biblical quartet of animals. The ox, whose name is synonymous with physical labor, was used for heavy farm-work. Even the poorest family owned at least one ox. In Hebrew and included flocks of sheep, goats and other herded animals.

Scientists have established that domestication of animals first began in the Ural mountains, long considered the boundary line which separates Asia from Europe. To the east, the Persians had acquired the onager, an ancient breed grown in the area that is now Iran. To the west, the Romans had domesticated the camel, a large, broad-tailed animal that was raised in the Middle East and north Africa.

The biblical Giver Sheep, and the Bactrian camel, are among the animals that are still domesticated today. In the United States, the Bactrian camel is raised primarily for its milk, which is used to make butter and cheese. The Giver sheep is one of the most adaptable species of sheep, able to survive in a wide range of environments.

In Bible times, every Palæstinian family bought two lambs at Passover time. They killed one to eat at the feast celebrating their return from Egypt. The other lamb was killed as a sacrifice to God. The purest, meekness and loyalty of the sheep for its мяke and patient nature inspired writers to refer to Jesus as "The Lamb of God." This simple beast was their mode of transport into Bethlehem and later for the flight into Egypt.

State Representative

By Stanley Powell

We are in the holiday season and it seems appropriate to remember that Christmas is not only a time for joyous occasions but also a time for rejoicing in the good things of life. Christmas is a time to celebrate the joy of giving and receiving, the joy of family and friends, and the joy of growth and progress.

The holiday season is a time for reflecting on the many blessings we have in our lives. It is a time to give thanks for the many wonderful things that we have been able to accomplish and the many things that we have yet to accomplish.

Christmas is a time to remember the past and to look forward to the future. It is a time to celebrate the joy of life and the joy of living. It is a time to remember the joy of friendship and the joy of love.

As we celebrate this holiday season, let us remember the importance of giving and receiving. Let us remember the joy of family and friends and the joy of growth and progress. Let us remember the joy of life and the joy of living. Let us remember the joy of friendship and the joy of love.

We wish you a joyous Christmas and a happy New Year!

"Think fat" says the auto club

December 24, 1975

Realizing that 80 percent of Michigan motorists will drink and drive this holiday season, the Automobile Club of Michigan is calling for a "Think Fat" campaign to "limit their drinking."

Also, G. Moffat, Auto Club general manager, urges drivers to keep up good visibility, snowy or icy roads or not, and at all times follow the rules of the road. "Past experience has shown that 80 percent of Michigan motorists will drink and drive this holiday season, and in some states this percentage is even higher," Moor said. "Therefore, we urge you to limit your drinking and not drive when you have had a drink."

Nativity Creche Art Dramatizes Story Of Birth Of Christ

The members of the court took up the hobby of their king and soon all the great Neapolitan families were making elaborate clothes of velvets and satins, embroidered with jewels and embroidery. Then they began to decorate the Nativity scene, which he had set up in his castle every Christmas Eve.

The most astounding of these figures were produced by the Catello family. The most outstanding of these figures were produced by Giuseppe Sammartino and his pupils, Salvatore de Franco, and Antonio Caracciolo. The categories were already popular in Naples during the second half of the eighteenth century.

The Indians had a Sacred Spring Festival Tree Upon Which They Hung Gifts

In early pioneer days in America, Indian children were taught to use the Christmas tree and were given extra food. One custom — to eat, probably on many more than one occasion — was for a friend dancing around the tree, stopping and walking in the familiar manner.
