and copper miners' strikes, and the inescapable, virtual paralysis of East Coast and many midwestern game plans have been remiss in considering. These recent behavior would have caused serious concern even if the Administration had not spoken "prophets!"

Furthermore, the traumatically stunted recovery and the apprehensively placid business climate have contributed to widespread public anxiety and lowered business confidence. The Babson-Boston Transcript survey of 2,000 business executives indicated that 32 percent did not expect any increase in business activity in the next six months. Among its other forecasts, Babson's Report said:

1. The inflationary potential facing the nation's economy will be no less a factor in the coming year than in the past year, although it will be offset to some extent by the more buoyant level of general business and the inchoate leftist forces. Instead, what we look for is a lessening of the inflationary-potential which faces the nation's economy.

2. Inflation will be less worrisome this year than it was last year, with the threat no longer so imminent. The labor contracting situation for the year as a whole will be the labor contracting situation for the year as a whole. On the other hand, the need for more money in the economy to meet legitimate business requirements as a result of a more buoyant level of general business, and the behavior of the investment tax credit should continue to manage among several council politicians unextracted by the economic sentiment and increase in capital spending.

The term "devaluation" is used in this report to denote a fall in the foreign exchange rate of a currency relative to the United States dollar. It is a means of adjusting for inflation and to improve a country's balance of payments. The report discusses the effects of this devaluation on economic growth, investment, and trade, and suggests that it should be limited to cases where it is absolutely necessary. The report also discusses the potential risks and benefits of devaluation, and recommends that policymakers consider the implications carefully before implementing it. Overall, the report argues that devaluation can be a useful tool in managing economic policy, but it should be used judiciously and in conjunction with other measures to address underlying economic issues. continued from page 3.

The Babson report is a quarterly publication that provides economic forecasts and analysis for businesses and investors. The report covers a range of topics, including economic growth, inflation, interest rates, and the balance of payments. It is widely regarded as a reliable source of economic information and is used by policymakers, businesses, and investors to make informed decisions.

The report discusses the effects of devaluation on economic growth, investment, and trade, and suggests that it should be limited to cases where it is absolutely necessary. The report also discusses the potential risks and benefits of devaluation, and recommends that policymakers consider the implications carefully before implementing it. tips

If you are in town during the Christmas season and like to take a drive or a walk to see the lights, we have a few suggestions for your enjoyment. First, look for the lights on the front of the courthouse in St. Johns. They are very bright and colorful. Next, drive to the St. Johns United Methodist Church and look for the lights there. They are very beautiful. Finally, drive to the St. Johns High School and look for the lights at the entrance of the school. They are very impressive.

We hope that you enjoy your drive and that you find the lights very enjoyable. We wish you a very happy and safe holiday season.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]

Golden Gloves deadline Jan. 5

Only two more days remain for Golden Gloves event hopefuls to submit their applications to the Clinton County News office.

The Golden Gloves Tournament for boxers in Clinton County will be held Saturday, Jan. 7, at the Community Center. The event is sponsored by the Clinton County Chamber of Commerce and is being held in conjunction with the Golden Gloves Invitational Relays. Their hostesses will be Mrs. Dorothy Schmitz and Mrs. Frances Greer.

All hopefuls are asked to submit their entries to the Golden Gloves office by 3 p.m. Friday, Jan. 5. Applications should be made payable to the Golden Gloves and should include the boxers' full name, address, phone number, weight class and birthdate. A letter from a coach or sponsor certifying the boxer's ability and skill is also required.

The Golden Gloves event will feature six weight classes, each with six matches. The winners of each class will advance to the state finals, which will take place in Grand Rapids on Feb. 18-19. The state finals will be held at the Westgate Arena and will feature boxers from all over the state.

The Golden Gloves event is open to all boxers in Clinton County, regardless of their age or experience. It is a great opportunity for young boxers to gain experience and improve their skills. The event is also a great way for the community to come together and support their local boxers.

If you are interested in participating in the Golden Gloves event, please contact the Clinton County News office at (616) 532-7772. We look forward to seeing you there!

"...what being an adult really means. It means a hundred freedoms you've never before had, but also a hundred responsibilities. It means the development of an accepting of where you are, your roots and your community are going, and your particular participation so that they move in the direction that you believe your beliefs and future generations. Being an adult means some tough decisions, some deterrent effects, but the rewards are the accomplishments of an improved city, a new social, a refreshing idea, a challenge. Being an adult means you're here to make your own decisions, to help guide others to what you believe. Keep and think about this. When you're ready to make real moves you'll be here."

After Christmas reflections

What is, perhaps, most disturbing is the time the celebration. The festivity, the days of Christmas, sang over us and in us, and we found ourselves rejoicing that we did not remember but which had always been there.

All around us we saw the bright-tinged light, the dawn of the new year. The world was good and full of new possibilities, and we were ourselves again.

"I like some reassurance from a friend that I can trust," missed words with me.

We saw the Children of the Earth, in St. Paul's letter to Titus.

"His grace (in the birth of his Son, and worldly passions."

"This is, a most people do not live self-"

"... which hangs a breath black cloud stmgaiety and great gladness.

"When we wanted you to make us fly physically and spiritually, The"

Well, Miliken has not been a member of the legisla

see that he has come to the realization that the future is determined not by

voters, but by the people who are running for office.

The Constitution of the State

Redistricting, the process of drawing new district lines for the legislature, is a process that is not done often, but it is done. The last

redistricting was done in 1969, and the process was predictably long and complex. The process

required

months of

VILLEAGE OF FOWLER BUILDING CODE

SECTION 1. DEFINITIONS

For the purpose of this Ordinance, certain terms are hereby defined as follows:

A. Any building, structure or other improvement having one or more walls and roof, or being enclosed by a roof and four sides, exclusive of fences and other temporary enclosures, and having a floor area made up of three or more contiguous floor spaces.

SECTION 2. REGULATIONS

All buildings and structures and the siting of said buildings and structures shall be in conformance with the following regulations unless otherwise specified by Act 3 of 1895 and the Public Acts of 1895 and Act 207 of 1949 and to provide for the enforcement of the same.

SECTION 3. CONSTRUCTION REQUIREMENTS

(1) All new buildings and structures shall be constructed in conformance with the following regulations unless otherwise specified by Act 3 of 1895 and the Public Acts of 1895 and Act 207 of 1949 and to provide for the enforcement of the same.

SECTION 4. INSPECTIONS

All buildings and structures shall be inspected at least once within the first six months of construction for violations of this Ordinance. Inspections shall be made a minimum of once per six months, and the building permit shall be signed off by the inspector after review.

SECTION 5. CONFLICTING LAWS

If any portion of this Code is inconsistent with any current law or ordinance of the Village of Fowler, the provisions of such current law or ordinance shall prevail.

SECTION 6. EFFECTIVE DATE

This Code shall be in effect 20 days after its passage.

Horse science short course

By JoAnne Atlas

Appendix 14 years of age and over, in a field of study in which the student has been successful in the past two years, and who has a positive attitude toward the study of horse science, may be eligible to enter this short course.

The program is divided into two parts: Part I, which includes the first two weeks of the course, and Part II, which includes the last two weeks of the course.

The program is designed to provide the student with a basic understanding of horse science, including the anatomy, physiology, behavior, and care of horses.

In the first part of the course, the student will learn about the basic anatomy and physiology of horses, including the cardiovascular, respiratory, and nervous systems.

In the second part of the course, the student will learn about the behavior of horses, including their social behavior, learning, and communication.

The program is offered in a variety of formats, including in-person, online, and hybrid. Students can choose the format that best suits their needs.

A beginning teacher would require the following qualifications:

1. A bachelor's degree in education or a related field.
2. A passion for education and a commitment to teaching and learning.
3. A sense of humor and a willingness to try new things.
4. The ability to work well with a team of other teachers and staff.

To participate in the course, students should contact the Horse Science Program at [insert contact information].
