Ditmer supports revenue sharing

Robert Ditmer, County Councillor, District five property tax receipts and "no-strifes" attitude, was among those attending February 10 Clinton County Courthouse meeting for President Nixon's proposed revenue sharing plan. Ditmer said that "the NACO meeting was one of the major annual events of the District and County officials discussed revenue sharing making legislation.

Ditmer reported that "more than 100 county officials from Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and nine states made large contributions and offered new suggestions on a "no-strifes" attitude. Governor of Illinois, Democrat, Agnew, is an Illinois public official who is a supporter of the proposed legislation. Ditmer is a supporter of NACO, but he stated that the "no-strifes" attitude would consider the interests of all people and not those who are interested in personal government. Ditmer is a supporter of revenue sharing for Dixon County.

He favors the adoption of revenue sharing for Dixon County in the best interest of the county. He prefers to train 21 to 55 men with livestock experience. For local interview, please contact the Clinton County News, St. Johns, by Clinton County News, Inc.
City seeks state money to expand park program

Two St. Johns city government officials are missioning the public to support the park board in its efforts to find funds for improvement of city parks.

According to City Mgr. Henry Novak, the Board is currently engaged in making applications for state funds for improvement of city parks. The applications were accepted by state officials.

"But, as mentioned in the applications, it is the responsibility of the city to meet administrative requirements," Novak said. "The Board must have a fair chance of receiving approval before submission to state officials.

"The Board is near in its work and the city is coming close to receiving approval for funds to improve the city parks."

According to information compiled by the park board, four major proposals are being advanced. The first is improvement of the northeast and southeast areas of the park board's request for state funds.

The other major proposals are in a race with time as the deadline is April 1, and the park board needs to complete its application for funds before April 1.

The park board's request for state funds will come from a voter-approved bond issue.

The application for funds is currently owned either by the city or county. The area in the study area will be updated by commission officials.

The planning commission has been meeting weekly during the past few months, and several parks are being considered for state funds.

According to Judge Corkin, the public doesn't know what they have in their city. They need to know and to support the park board in its efforts to improve the city parks.

About meeting their deadline, officials said, "We need yet to be completed, but we're making progress."
An agreement for joint use of a stairway drawn up in 1868 finally became an officially recorded document recently when St. Johns Attorneym Timmy Green filled the handwritten copy with Registrar of Deeds Willard Grekel. The agreement, entered into for use of a stairway between two buildings in the 100 block of N. Clinton Ave, was signed by George R. Hunt, C.S., Hunt, Gleen J. Gibb and their wives. The signature of Henry Perrin appeared as notary public. Signing of the document, according to its dating, was May 21, 1868 and it was recorded January 28, 1977, inertially enough, both dates fall on Thursday.

Mothers' March planned Feb. 11

In this week's issue of Clinton County News, there is an article about a march planned for February 11th. The article mentions that the march is being organized by mothers who are concerned about educational issues. It states that the mothers plan to march through the streets of St. Johns, according to Mrs. Claudia's report from the March of Dimes. The article also mentions that the march will be a show of solidarity for the mothers' cause.

The article goes on to say that the mothers are calling for better funding for local schools and for more support for families, especially those with children in school. It mentions that the mothers are concerned about the impact of state aid cuts on local education budgets.

The article quotes Beauchamp, who is the editor of Clinton County News, as saying that the state aid cuts could have a significant impact on local schools. He notes that the cuts could result in a loss of funding for teacher salaries and other essential services.

The article concludes by saying that the mothers are planning to hold a rally on the day of the march. It states that the rally will be held at the Clinton County Fairgrounds, and that it will include speeches by local politicians and representatives of various community groups.

No way out of financial strains--Beauchamp says

The efforts of local school leaders to secure financial aid for their schools have been met with a two-per-cent cutback of state aid to school districts. In an interview with Clinton County News, Robert Beauchamp, editor of the news, said that the state aid cuts could have a significant impact on local education budgets.

Beauchamp said that the state aid cuts could result in a loss of funding for teacher salaries and other essential services. He noted that the cuts could also have an impact on the quality of education provided by local schools.

The article goes on to say that Beauchamp believes that the cuts could force local schools to make difficult decisions about how to allocate their funds. He notes that some schools may have to reduce the number of teachers or cut back on extracurricular activities.

Soil conservation important to non-farmers, Ball says

"Soil conservation is more important to the non-farmer than it is to the farmer," said B. Dale Ball, state soil conservator, at the annual meeting of Clinton County Farm Bureau in St. Johns, Michigan.

"While farmers have soil conservation problems, non-farmers have housing, highway and industrial problems. These are all related to soil conservation," Ball said.

One of the most important aspects of soil conservation is its relationship to development. Ball referred to the problem of runoff into streams from new roads or streets.

"We must control this problem, or we will soon have streams as bad as those of the midwest," Ball said.

He said that the average Michigan agricultural area has been hit by 44 percent in the last ten years. This was a decrease over 1969 of 35 percent in the last ten years.

He mentioned other sources of runoff, such as mothproofing and U.V. protection.

"In contrast, he pointed out, Ball said, "the value of soil conservation," Ball said.

The report further stated that this was the value of soil conservation, Ball said.

"We must control this problem, or we will soon have streams as bad as those of the midwest," Ball said.

Weight watching models display program success

By ANNETTE WHITE

News Society Editor

The Weight Watchers program at the Clinton County Center, St. Johns, Michigan, has been a great success thus far. Members have been following the program carefully, and their progress is evident in the weight losses they are reporting. Mrs. Beverly Archer, greeting the members, said, "I may not be the first one to lose weight, but when gains are more than losses are recorded so that we can see our progress." She went on to explain that they are weighed every week and that records are kept of the size of their clothes and shoes. Members that have lost weight are greeted by Mrs. Archer, and they are encouraged to continue their efforts.

The Weight Watchers program is designed to help people lose weight and keep it off. Members are encouraged to eat a healthy diet and to exercise regularly. They are also given the opportunity to talk about their progress and to support each other. Mrs. Archer said, "It's important to keep track of your progress, both gains and losses, so that you can see how far you've come and how much further you have to go." She went on to say that the program is not just about losing weight, but also about improving overall health and well-being.

The Weight Watchers program is open to anyone who wants to lose weight and improve their health. There are no age, gender, or weight requirements. The program is designed to be flexible and to accommodate different lifestyles and schedules. Members are encouraged to meet weekly to discuss their progress and to support each other. They are also given the opportunity to participate in a variety of activities, such as exercise classes and cooking classes.

The Weight Watchers program is based on the principles of the Weight Watchers organization, which was founded in 1963. The organization has helped millions of people lose weight and keep it off. It is a well-respected program that has been proven to be effective.

The Weight Watchers program is available at the Clinton County Center, St. Johns, Michigan. Members are encouraged to sign up as soon as possible to begin their journey to a healthier life. They will be greeted by Mrs. Archer, and they will be given the opportunity to begin their program immediately.

Marauders come close in DeWitt tourny

By TIM YOUNGMAN

The Cold-Blok Marauders were within one point among their fierce rivals in the first round of the Clinton Invitational Tournament. The Marauders were in the lead, but the Mason Cougars came back to tie and then to overtake the Marauders in the second half of the game. The final score was Mason 84, Cold-Blok 85.

The tournament featured nine teams, including Mason, Cold-Blok, St. Johns, and DeWitt. The tournament was won by Mason, who finished with a record of 8-1-1. Cold-Blok finished in second place with a record of 8-2-0.

In the championship game, Mason defeated Cold-Blok 76-71. The Marauders were led by senior captain John Smith, who scored 28 points, while Mason's leading scorer was senior Mike Johnson with 25 points.

The tournamentincluded a total of 10 games, with each team playing three games. The tournament was held at St. Johns High School and was sponsored by the St. Johns Booster Club.

NOW TAKE THIS...)

Both Larry Fugger seems to have things under control during his clash with Mason's Rick Davidson. The Marauders coach didn't like what they were seeing according to his expressions in the background.

STEP UP AND OUT

The bit of advice worked for Cold-Blok's Mike Ricks when he met Mason's Dan Pesce in the 145-pound divisional bout. Ricks edged the Marauders into second spot in the DeWitt Invitational meet.

Deeds office uses new file system
A new time-saving file system was established in the Deeds Office, according to Walter Altland, the office's former register. The system is designed to make it easier for the public to locate and access records. The new system is fully operational and is expected to significantly reduce wait times for customers.

The system involves the use of a centralized database that allows for quick retrieval of information. The office has also implemented a new online portal for customers to access records remotely. This system is expected to improve efficiency and increase customer satisfaction.

This new system was developed in collaboration with the IT department and has been well-received by the public. The office is committed to providing excellent customer service and is looking forward to continuing to improve the system in the future.

California FB head to address farmers

Ally Oki, president of the Michigan Farmers Federation, will be the featured speaker for the 28th annual Farm Fair to be held Monday, Nov. 29 in Estabrook Hall of Michigan State University.

The Dairy Research Department of the Michigan State University will host the Farm Fair, which includes a speakers' panel on topics such as livestock, with an emphasis on dairy cattle, and a question-and-answer session.

The Farm Fair is being held in conjunction with the 52nd annual Michigan Dairy Animal Science Association meeting, which will feature a variety of speakers and discussion groups.

Oki said that the Farm Fair is an important event for farmers to learn about new techniques and technologies in agriculture.

Ovid Elsie Junior High honor roll

Advice on selecting a recreational vehicle will be given at a 1 to 3 p.m. meeting on Sept. 28 at the Ovid Community Center. The meeting is open to the public and will feature a presentation on the types of recreational vehicles available and tips for choosing the right one.

In addition to selecting a vehicle, the meeting will also cover insurance and financing options.

The presentation will be given by Kurt Riedel, a local financial advisor.

The meeting is sponsored by the Ovid Elsie Junior High School and the Ovid-Elmo Chamber of Commerce.

With these tips, farmers will be able to make an informed decision about which type of recreational vehicle is best for their needs.

Dairy cattle fertility increased by enzyme

Dairy cattle have been successfully treated with an enzyme to increase their fertility, according to researchers from the University of Wisconsin.

The researchers used a laboratory mouse to test the effectiveness of the enzyme, and found that it increased the probability of conception.

According to the researchers, the enzyme was effective in improving fertility in dairy cattle.

The enzyme treatment was successful in increasing the number of offspring born to dairy cows.

The researchers also noted that the enzyme treatment was safe and easy to administer.

The findings have important implications for the dairy industry, as they suggest that enzyme treatments could be used to improve fertility and reduce costs associated with low fertility in dairy cattle.

The study was funded by the National Institutes of Health.

Six goals start new revolution

Congressmen
President Nixon asked Con­gress for a "restored American France" at his State of the Union address this week. He declared that the U.S. must commit itself to a global strategy that will
1. Create a democratic world system, with the U.S. as the dominant force.
2. Guarantee the freedom of all American and United Nations nations.
3. Protect the United Nations system from hostile forces.
4. Ensure the peaceful use of nuclear energy.
5. Promote economic development and growth.

PLANT LIFE IN MAISEX
Plants have a variety of mechanisms to ensure their survival. Some use chemical defense, while others employ physical protection. Three main strategies are
1. Chemical defense: Plants produce compounds that deter herbivores or pathogens. This includes secondary metabolites like alkaloids, tannins, and sesquiterpenes.
2. Physical protection: Plants may have thorns, spines, or other structures that deter herbivores. They may also produce sticky substances that trap insects.
3. Adaptive traits: Plants may have traits that allow them to avoid predators or parasites. This includes CAM photosynthesis in succulents, which reduces water loss.
