Ovid’s bearded ones experiencing growing pains

OVID—Beards are becoming commonplaces in the Ovid area these days as men remember pre-Vietnam days for the service boon doctors were providing. Beards are all the rage, and few of us can say that we are unacquainted with the problem of growing hair on the chin.

If you have a beard, it’s not unique, Ovid barber Merle Kaye said. "I have many people who want me to make their beard look good tonight on the broadcast and shave it."

Kaye said he told one lady that a beard of any length would make her name. "My lady said, 'but I don’t know if I’m ready to have that on my face.'"

Kaye said that Ovid’s barbershop is becoming crowded with men who want to try growing beards. "It’s a popular thing right now, and many men are trying it for the first time," said Kaye.

"The St. John’s Board of Health has been asked to consider a beard law in the city, but so far no action has been taken," said a city official.

"It looks like a good idea, but I don’t think it’s necessary," said the official. "I think it’s more of a personal choice for men to decide whether they want to have a beard or not."

City to ask for special millage, charter revision

The St. Johns City Commission is laying the groundwork for two special elections this spring and fall, one calling for special extra millage for one year and the other for a revision of the city charter.

The extra millage question will be put to voters first. The amount to be asked won’t be known for some weeks, and the date for the special millage election will be set later this week.

City to redraft zoning ordinance

The city commission is planning to redraft the St. Johns zoning ordinance which was recently in effect.

City fathers made the last major change to the zoning ordinance in 1967 and have been considering another revision as long as they have had time to consider it.

City Hall is expected to have a copy of the new ordinance ready for public hearing on the ordinance in late February or early March.

The new ordinance would take into account the changes in the city's population and the changes in the city's economic structure.

The new automatic system that will provide extended area service in the district is being installed in the building. The addition of the new exchange will allow for a larger number of telephone subscribers in the area.

Pat Creese now United stewardess

A St. Johns girl has become a United Air Lines stewardess and is serving United as a flight attendant. Flying from New York City, Miss Patricia Creese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Creese of St. Johns, was graduated from the new airline's school near Chicago's O'Hare International Airport after successfully completing a 5½-week training course.

Pat, in a graduation program before President John M. Elbel and other officers of United, was employed by the United Air Lines after passing a stringent examination.

She was joined by 24 other students, graduated from the program by United in 1961 with a total of 974 students. Their numbers were established by United's expansion plans.

The increase is designed to keep up with expected growth and to compensate for the increase in flight turnover.

March of Dimes 2nd annual project

Included in the training are courses covering the theory of the modern telephone network, including information about how the system works and how it is designed to serve the needs of the community.

The training program aims to provide new graduates with the knowledge and skills necessary to become professional telephone operators.

City to ask for extra millage

The city has received the unusual and costly honor to borrow this year to $80,000 (compared to $80,000 last year) in connection with the Michigan Street Flood Protection System. The city is to borrow eight millage rates, even though many readers may not approve of the extra millage.

"The city is being very cooperative in this matter," said Mr. Middleton. "We have a very good working relationship with the community, and we hope to continue this cooperative relationship in the future."

For more information, please visit the City of Clinton County News website or contact Mr. Middleton at his office.

Former pastor here to direct guidance center in Kentucky

People who need glasses are apt to feel the world pretty funny without them. What appears as only a blur without their "open" savings into sharp focus, once they're put on.

If only there were glasses we could don quickly when we need to put ourselves, our problems, our awareness, and our failure into proper perspective! But that kind of lens has yet to be developed.

We all have moments when we seem to be groping and nothing seems clear. We wonder where we are going and, perhaps, why. We work out contrasts whether or not we go to church on Sundays, for the Church will not give us recipes, man-sized or otherwise, with which to view the world. But . . . the Church does teach us of God's world, if we learn the meaning of Faith, it does show us life in proper perspective.

I think of the lines of the Psalms, "The Lord would give the right! Latest modern opticals and lenses..."

7-year olds react to Valentine’s Day

Cupid faces rough go in second grade

By MRS. SHIRLEY KARBER
News Staff Writer

Valentine’s Day, a special day to many, is a day to some when Cupid makes his rounds with his bow and arrow offering love to those he desires. Other times it is a day to share and exchange gifts. To others Valentine’s Day is something else entirely.

Among the second graders in St. John’s, they were looking forward to Valentine’s Day. They got free boxes to fill with candy and other treats to give to their classmates. The children had bought white roses or carnations for the flowers. They were to put them in the boxes to show their love for another child. It was a day where their thoughts were on love and sharing with others.

Some of the children were looking forward to the day because they knew that they would get to give something to their classmates. They were excited about the day and the anticipation of seeing what their classmates would give them.

But for some, Valentine’s Day was not as exciting. They were worried about what they would give to their classmates. They were also afraid of what their classmates would give them. They were unsure of what to do and how to handle the day.

Despite the mixed feelings, Valentine’s Day was a special day to all. It was a time to share love and show appreciation for others. It was a day when everyone should enjoy, but then again, it was not always easy for everyone to handle.

Relax and take your clothes off! That's the advice for people who milk cows. Many people now use a milk rotary system which is designed to make the job easier and more comfortable.

The rotary milking system is a newer type of milking equipment that was developed in the 1950s. It consists of a large rotating drum with special paddles that squeeze the udders of the cows. The milk is then collected in a central container, which is then quickly emptied into individual containers.

This system is more efficient than the traditional milking systems, which involve the use of ailkers who manually milk the cows. The rotary system can milk up to 20 cows at once, which makes it much faster and more convenient.

Poor to get ideas on nutrition

Crownvetch, a legume, is a good nutrient plant along with white and crimson clover for hay, haylage, and silage. It is well adapted to the Great Plains region of the United States and also does well in the eastern part of the country. It can be used for both animal feed and soil improvement. Crownvetch is known for its ability to fix nitrogen, which helps improve soil fertility. It's a valuable species for farmers and land managers.

The Ovid-B�� FFA chapter reported this year as winners of the soil conservation display contest at the Ovid-B�� Soil Conservation District. This year’s display featured a question and answer board which, depending on the answer given, produced either sunlight or rain. The board was sponsored by the Clinton Crop Service.

Lincoln’s Birthday

Abraham Lincoln once stated: “A little learning is a dangerous thing; drink deeply, therefore, and teach your children wisely.” With this in mind, the Elsie Community Council of the Village of Elsie, Michigan, in order to carry out the above statement, has decided to host a series of events to celebrate Lincoln’s Birthday.

It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the grand ideal that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

Conserving farm land

The problems of zoning which Clinton County and the City of St. Johns are exp-eriences are probably typical of the problems which society in general is going to have to face. The illegality of zoning appears to be so intricate that it will be impossible to put together the exigencies of the situation properly and which can be interpreted in only one way. But it goes without saying that zoning is a very important as population grows, because it will play a very important role in keeping us in Clinton County and all across the nation.

The 300 will be to conserve prime agricultural land. Technology is ever improving on the yield per acre of grain, the output per cow of dairy products and the rate of growth for meat animals, but we are only beginning to understand that these advances will offset the need to con-serv our land.

It is too early for us here in this county, and in this state and nation, to insist that good agricultural land be re-tained for that purpose and not be covered with concrete, block and building ma-terials. There is enough available land that may not be as well located, and it may be more costly to raise the farmers out of the way in which we support ourselves as they depend on the very survival of humanity—our children and grandchildren.

Certainly residential and commercial development on only agriculturally-mar-ginal land is not wise, although it may also, Americans can afford it. A booming population, one in thirtysome, must be, can be raised on concrete and blocktop. We need all the good farm land there is.

Week to remember

The week of Feb. 15 to 22 has been set aside as National Future Farmers of America Week. The theme of this observance is "FFA—An Opportunity For Youth.

The Future Farmers of America is a national organization of high school stu-dents studying vocational agriculture in our public schools and farmers of all ages. FFA is a nonprofit, nonpolitical organization of, and for these students. The foundation upon which it is built is the character development, sportsmanship, cooperation, efficiency, leadership, and teamwork, improved agriculture, organized recreation, citizenship and patriotism. The FFA itself does not make all members outstanding, but, instead, provides the oppor-tunity for them to excel, grow and become outstanding. Young people in FFA learn the meaning of local initiative. Local FFA chapters provide the strength of the organization. In the local chapters, stu-dent officers and members develop into agricultural leaders.

As long as we have youth organizations such as the FFA, we may feel assured that the values and traditions of the discerners, whose only aim in destruction, will represent the interests of a majority —a minority at that.

WILLOWBROOK, Ill., Feb. 17—On the 30th day of the month, and the first wednes-day, Clinton County and all across the nation.

It is too early for us here in this county, and in this state and nation, to insist that good agricultural land be retained for that purpose and not be covered with concrete, block and building materials. There is enough available land that may not be as well located, and it may be more costly to raise the farmers out of the way in which we support ourselves as they depend on the very survival of humanity—our children and grandchildren.

Certainly residential and commercial development on only agriculturally-marg-inal land is not wise, although it may also, Americans can afford it. A booming population, one in thirtysome, must be, can be raised on concrete and blocktop. We need all the good farm land there is.
