NFO sale at Pewamo protests pork prices

Pewamo was a local point for Michigan members of the National Farm Organization (NFO). Waldo T. Wadsworth, as local president, presented a rally to protest against low farm prices for pork.

The aim was to keep prices down. This was planned as a nationwide NFO campaign of protest against government policies which are currently pricing pork at only 52 cents a pound.

"Farmers should be able to make a living at this price," Wadsworth said. "This is what we are working for."

NFO members are calling for a national boycott of pork products until prices are raised to a fair level.

A year ago, pork prices were around 70 cents a pound. Now, they are around 52 cents. This is a $18 per cent drop in prices.

"This is unacceptable," Wadsworth said. "We are going to fight this until we get a fair price for our pork."

Seek federal aid for sanitary sewer system

Westphalia, located in the heart of Clinton County, is seeking federal aid for its sanitary sewer system in order to improve the quality of life for its residents. The village of Westphalia has been experiencing issues with its current sewer system, leading to a decrease in property values and a reduction of tourism. The village council is now considering applying for federal grants to fund a new sewer system that will provide a safe and healthy environment for the community.

Westphalia was scheduled for a grand opening on Sunday, February 23, 1967, in honor of its two-year anniversary. However, due to the sudden decision to cancel the festivities, the event was postponed. The village council is now considering alternative plans to celebrate the anniversary and address the sanitary sewer system issue.

The village of Westphalia had 500 residents in 1967, and the population is estimated to be around 800 today. The village is located in the heart of the state, surrounded by forests and farmland. Westphalia is known for its beautiful scenery and friendly community.

The village council hopes to receive federal aid to fund a new sewer system that will improve the village's infrastructure and attract more tourists. The village has already started the process of applying for federal grants and is optimistic about receiving the funding it needs.

New overhead projectors 'big' with the teaching set

Federal and state aid for Friday district programs have made it too or her presentation to St. John's Public Schools to add a flexible overhead projector to each of its school buildings, according to a district official. The district is making the addition to demonstrate better the teaching set up, but one at least popu lar and placed in positions are to be overhead projectors.

The project's advantages:

- Enhanced visual aids: Overhead projectors allow teachers to display images on a larger scale, making it easier for students to see and understand concepts.
- Flexibility: They can be used in various teaching settings, from small classrooms to large auditoriums.
- Increased engagement: Overhead projectors can engage students more effectively by providing dynamic visual content during lectures or presentations.

While the overhead projector has been around for some time, its impact on education continues to grow as educators find new ways to incorporate it into their teaching strategies.
Tells of English people, education

By Holly Davis

Aug. 12, 1967 New York - Last month, as a student government leader, I walked down a city street, but today I'm on the mainland. It seems strange to be away from home, but somehow this is not home. I am in England.

The English people could not have been more kind to me. They helped me so much during the first month. I arrived in Sheffield, but then I had to go to the hotel to register. I was tired and hungry. I had to wait 15 minutes before they could even check me in. But after that, they were really nice to me. They were so kind. I had a great time there.

The next day was spent teaching at the University of Sheffield. We spent four weeks teaching there. The students were very nice and kind. They were very friendly and helpful. I really enjoyed teaching there.

The last week of the term was spent teaching in Blackpool, London, Nottingham, Edinburgh, Eyam, York, and other towns. I spent a lot of time teaching in those areas. I really enjoyed teaching there.

The NFO terms milk holding action as "high public duty".

The National Farmers Organization (NFO) seems to be doing its best to represent the farmers in the country. But it seems to be doing a poor job. The farmers are not really happy with the NFO. News of Interest to Clinton County Farm Bureau Families

New membership drive kicked off on Feb. 14.

With a few short weeks remaining during the months of February, March and April, interested persons are urged to get acquainted with the benefits of Clinton County Farm Bureau. With nearly 1,000 members, the county Farm Bureau is an excellent organization for any member to join and take part in. Local meetings take place every Thursday at 7 p.m. at the county office.

The main function of the Farm Bureau is to protect the farmer from unfair competition, to carry out the best interests of our communities, and to educate the public as to the needs of farmers and the work farmers do.

The Farm Bureau is made up of several groups, each of which has its own set of responsibilities. The following is based largely on the accomplishments of the Farm Bureau with the help of legislators and Farm Bureau members.

Farm Bureau membership was originally started to protect the farmers and to help them get the best from their land. Today, Farm Bureau membership is an excellent way to meet new people, to learn more about the local area, and to help the community.

Farm Bureau membership is for anyone who wants to help the community and to be a part of it. It is a great way to meet new people and to learn more about the community. Farm Bureau membership is available to anyone who wants to help the community and to be a part of it. It is a great way to meet new people and to learn more about the community.

President's Message
BY E. J. BOTTUM
The annual meeting of the Clinton County Farm Bureau was held last week in St. Johns.

The theme for the Royal-Union dinner, a key part of the meeting, was "The Chamber of Commerce - Ohio's Networking Machine." This is in line with the theme of the Clinton County Farm Bureau meeting, "The Chamber of Commerce - Ohio's Networking Machine." The three events are interconnected to promote the importance of networking and the role of the chamber in fostering economic growth.

The Farm Bureau and Clinton County Chamber of Commerce are both organizations that bring people together to discuss and address issues affecting the local community and economy.

Why join...
Federal and state legislators are considering new laws that could have a significant impact on farmers. The Farm Bureau is working to ensure that farmers' voices are heard in the legislative process. If you are interested in learning more about these issues and ways to get involved, please contact your local Farm Bureau office.

Just how hard up for help is rural America?

Our thoughts:
At the federal government's expense and demand, the financial collapse of these rural communities is being forced upon us, and in some cases right into the hands of County Officials. In terms of the current national mood of the country, this is a great step forward in the direction of making the federal government more responsible for the economic welfare of the American people. It is a step in the right direction, and one that is long overdue.

But there is a great deal of work to be done in the rural community. It is important to focus on the needs of the rural community, and to work to ensure that the federal government is doing its part to help.

Just how hard up for help are we Americans? Must we turn to our Washington with our paternalism? We really need that kind of help.

We don't think America is down on its luck that far. There are enough high spirits, strong backs and alert minds that can not only survive in the world today, but we can make a good place for ourselves. We've proved over the years we can do just that.

In St. Johns, we've done it that way.

We're not saying our efforts are the only way to go, only that it is a way that has been successful in the past as well as in the system itself. Why then federal aid for our urban renewal?

Why can't we do it ourselves anymore? Maybe we've lost our initiative what with all the easy money the federal government throws around. We've turned a great deal of our efforts into the bureaucratic trap that says Americans of that desire to keep this country great and not just liveable.

It's a time for a reduction in government programs. A reduction would not only cut federal government spending but would allow Americans to feed themselves and reap all the benefits that go along with that experience. Besides, Americans get more help.

A popular myth about government debt fades

A popular myth about government debt is running into more and more trouble. In essence, that the myth is the political forces favored by this belief that the federal government of any country is not to worry about because "we owe it to ourselves." Many who believe this theory have been shocked to predict public office on the strength of this irresponsible myth that we can spend almost as much as we can borrow. That's on federal debt, and it exceeds the entire federal budget of any "New Deal" year... ,... .

If debt is no burden because "we owe it to ourselves," then why should the go -
