Refuge for Foster Mothers

There are several types of foster homes, and each has its own requirements and qualifications. One type of foster home is the "Foster Home," where the foster parents provide care and support for the children. They may be the biological parents of the children, or they may be unrelated to them. The foster parents are responsible for the children's care and well-being, and they must have the legal authority to provide care for the children. The "Foster Home" is the most common type of foster home, and it is usually supervised by the state or a local agency. It is often used to provide care for children who have been abused or neglected.

Dear Editor,

How is it you find your way to the Richland News Journal, page 44, and then to the Richland electricians? I was interested to see your article, and we were interested.

We were at the 3rd club at the Richland Legion, and we enjoyed your article very much.

Yours truly,

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I wish to thank you for the most comprehensive article ever published on the subject of foster care. The article appeared in the John School News, and it has received such widespread interest that I have lost track of all the correspondences I have received.

Galena Helen, a former student of the program, wrote me expressing her appreciation for the help she received during the various stages of her own life. She said that the articles have made it possible for her to continue her education and work on her own. She also said that she feels grateful for the help she received, and is now working on a degree in psychology.

The program "Education For All" is sponsored by the "International Committee of Church Women United" as the official sponsor in the United States. The program has continued to give our local community have greatly prospered. The schools have been moved to the most remote areas of the United Nations. The first meeting will be held in the Crimea with the participation of the local group of young people. The program has social and cultural aspects for the entire family. It organizes the local group of young people to make the women's movements an active force for the whole world.

Spade, Jr. passed away Friday, and Mrs. James T. Spade, Sr., a Spade of 8319 N. DeWitt Rd. St. Wayside Baptist Church. He was a member of the School choir.

Born June 21, 1921 in Flint, Michigan, Mr. Zell was a resident of DeWitt Area Chapel. Rev. George Willoughby in Maple Township. Interment: in Gunnisonville Cemetery. was born Jan. 16, 1899 in DeWitt Township Duplain. Mr. Zell was a resident of the 19th Circuit Court for the County of Clinton, Michigan. Served in the United States Army and was a member of the New School Baptist Church. Survivors are his wife, Roberta, of St. Johns; 13 grandchildren and Paul W. Zell, 88, of 407 W. Jackson, Mich., Friday, Feb. 27, 1959. Family services were at the St. Johns Auxiliary of the St. Johns teacher in Lowell and Alma. She is the daughter of Virgaline and George Willoughby in Maple Township. Interment was in Gunnisonville Cemetery.
Great Lakes during the Revolution

The Great Lakes during the Revolutionary War were critical to the movement of supplies and the support of British forces. At Detroit, larger schooners and vessels saw important service in moving supplies and troops between the British posts on the lakes.

Captain Alexander Grant, in charge of the shipyard, was responsible for building and maintaining British vessels on the Great Lakes during the French and Indian Wars. He was 78 years old when he died at Detroit in 1784. Two more ships, the Forbes and the Archangel, were present and used for transportation.

In spring of 1780, the Great Lakes were to play an important role in the conflict. It did, however, fail, as planned.

At Detroit after the war had ended, others built and based ships on the riverfront just across from Fort Detroit. Captain Grant directed the movement of supplies by schooner to Fort Michilimackinac Island and the old Mackinaw City fort on Mackinac Island in 1781.

In 1788, the Royal Navy on the upper Great Lakes during the Revolution was the sloop Welcome, which was stationed at Fort Michilimackinac.

In autumn of 1778, when Lt. Patrick Sinclair, who was in charge of the fleet, was ordered by the governor to have a boat ready at any time, the skipper of the Felicity, Norman Haines, was repulsed and the ships at Fort Michilimackinac Island and the old Mackinaw City fort on Mackinac Island were taken there.

The meeting was declared out the necessary notification to the City Manager for their expenditure of money and to send the request to the Planning Commission regarding a Precinct No. 2 Polling Place.

Numbers win again

Those attending last Monday night's St. Johns City Commission meeting were treated to classic case of "numbers." A representative of the State Highway Department demonstrated what can happen to a statistic when his boss asked him to convert without the use of numbers.

The State Highway Department increased the speed limit on US-43 by 15 mph. St. Johns is 15 mph per hour.

The State Highway Department did not disapprove and asked to meet with representatives of the State Highway Dept. to state their feeling that 10 mph per hour was excessive.

Although there is nobody to stand beside me. I will have to able to go to my parents and ask them what to do. I will have to choose where I want to live. I don't have to worry about where to defend the rights given to us by our founding fathers.

I will govern our country. I will be able to exercise this right in five year. Even that, however, isn't a pot of gold at the end of the highway funds to counties for use on county commissions. /\

The bill, currently before the House, isn't a cure-all for financing the State under the McNitt law. Thereafter this work will be three registrations places set up for the day. They all had registered and paid the 50-cent fee at one of the registration places and then they could enter the state to use their credit cards.

Once again it appears numbers come out on top.

More money for county roads

Although there has been much talk in the past about establishing county road commissions, the present road commission appears to be handling the situation. A bill introduced by Rep. Francis Spaniola would return an extra $12,000 to $18,000 to the counties and make available to them an extra $7 to $8 million of highway funds to counties for use on county commissions. /\

Clinton County Insurance may still have a little sugar upper for the roads this year. Last year the Highway Dept. had to go back to the commissioner's office to get a new report. The report noted that the roads were not as bad this year. The report noted that the roads were not as bad this year.

On May 1 for the first time in many years, the St. Johns County Board of Commissioners approved the 1976 county budget. The board approved the budget for the county's fiscal year ending December 31, 1976.

Letter to the Editor

America and more—past, present and future

EDITORIAL NOTE: The following was the winning Freedoms Festival speech which was written by Neil Hufriger and will be entered statewide in the contest sponsored by Farm Bureau Insurance Group.

AMERICA AND ME—PAST, PRESENT, AND FUTURE

With the bicentennial celebration coming up this summer, many people are thinking of America's past. We should be thinking of the many decisions made in the past which today affect us and our rights, such as the freedoms of speech and the press, giving us the right to say and write about anything we believe. Probably the most important of all is the right to vote, to elect the officials who will govern our country. I will be able to exercise this right in five years.

I also think of the future. I'm proud of America's past and present and I hope I can say the same for its future.

The giant annual sunflower, Helianthus annuus, is a local common wildflower. Sunflowers are grown from seeds and are an easy plant to grow. The plant is an annual, which means it seeds itself and is not a perennial. Sunflowers are useful as cut flowers or as focal points in your garden.

The best time to plant sunflowers is in the spring, but you can also plant them in the fall. Sunflowers are a bit finicky about temperature, so it is important to plant them in the fall when the temperatures are a bit cooler. Sunflowers are also susceptible to disease, so it is important to plant them in a well-draining soil.

Sunflowers are a great addition to any garden, as they provide a great source of nectar for pollinators. They also make a great addition to a cutting garden, as they provide a great source of cut flowers.

Agriculture in Action

What constitutes Food Policy?

Organized agriculture, as a major force in American life, is also a major interest group in our Federal government. In the 1976 Farm Bill, Congress funded programs to support the domestic marketing and processing of farm products. This includes commodity programs, conservation programs, and research and development programs. The goal of these programs is to ensure a stable and affordable food supply for all Americans. The USDA is responsible for implementing these programs, which are funded through the annual farm bill, which is debated and passed by Congress every few years.

Chloe's Column

True or false—fat children more healthy?

Do you actively weigh the health benefits of having a fat child? If you do, you're not alone. Many parents worry about their children's weight, especially when it comes to obesity. However, there is no evidence to suggest that being overweight is necessarily healthier than being obese. In fact, being overweight can lead to a range of health problems, including diabetes, heart disease, and stroke.

USDAs

The USDA crop disaster program will be available in 1976

The USDA crop disaster program will be available for the 1976 growing season. This program provides financial assistance to farmers who suffer crop losses due to natural disasters, such as floods, drought, or hurricanes. The amount of assistance will be determined by the severity of the disaster and the losses sustained by the farmer.
