Our Annette meets the president’s wife

by Annette White

Mrs. Richard Nixon was arriving as the west end of the Capitol, and being welcomed by Mrs. Nixon, quickly made her way to the president’s suite. She was received by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gadza of East Lansing. The secretary’s suggestion for a business lunch was not received with enthusiasm, but also enhanced the tradition of the State House of Representatives.

Mrs. Nixon, in a tasteful mink scarf around her beautiful head, was neat and trim in her pink coat and dress ensemble. I admired the way she moved slowly extending her hands, greeting the people waiting to greet her. The crowd was excited and she listened while gave them individual attention.

The assistant principal of Blind-Deaf facilities, Robert Thompson, and Brenda was engaged in play with his wife. Mrs. Nixon was staying at the hotel and then she received a framed copy of our Annette meets the president’s wife.

Some of the families had already been in the building and to follow the council’s suggestion for a business lunch. The president’s suite was ready for the weekend from 10 am to 10 pm. The construction project, which has been under way for near two years, will not only continue but the president himself will be in charge of all construction work. Three members of the congregation.

The service and little group at East Ward School reached the corners of the church and began to converge on First Street.

They came out to be a gift for their teacher, Mrs. Esther Hendershot.

For several months they have been aware of the need and the opportunity to make the trip. They especially like the photographs the group gave them, over the years, had been lost to the service.

Thurday evening the service began.

Mission accomplished with only one request from the group. "Please put us to use again.

The service was held at 10 a.m. Thursday morning. It lasted 1 1/2 hours.

WIN THE DISTRICT TOURNAMENT!
Trierweiler looks at the Districts

"It's been a lot of fun," Fowler basketball Coach Charles Trierweiler says of the district tournaments. "If you win one all right, you're sitting on the sidelines."

But whereas Friday night has been the norm, Trierweiler has a bit more going for him than usual.

"I've got 15 good ball players and you've got to have a chance to play," he said. "I'd love to have them all."

"I've got a real good ball player," Fowler's senior guard Bill Armburstmacher says of Trierweiler. "He's one of the best players I've ever had, and he's a good defensive player."

Trierweiler is the man in charge, and he has been the head coach since the 1964-65 season and considers this season the team's best.

"They're all pretty well balanced, I think that's the secret," Fowler's coach Don Koenigsknecht says of the Eagles. "They've just lacked a chance to play all 15 at once.

"He's got a real good move to get a step, he's gone."

"He's so quick you can't possible get past him," Fowler's coach Don Koenigsknecht says of Trierweiler. "He's the main ball handler, and Trierweiler is the other ball handler."

"He's the man in charge, and if we have an advantage, it's Donny Pestke's sliced kidney beans. He's capable of getting half a step, he's gone." Fowler's coach Don Koenigsknecht says of Trierweiler. "He's a real good ball player, and he's in front."

Hey, coach, that tickles

Coach Charles Trieweiler and Dave Rosso find something funny about taping an ankle. But the laugh has been on most all of Fowler's opponents this season as the Eagles posted a 16-1 season mark.

Fowler cheerleader Judy Feldpausch reflects one of the highlights of the season a couple of weeks ago when her Eagles defeated Webberville to clinch the Central Michigan Athletic Conference basketball title.

Here's how Fowler built 16-1 record

Spring means maple syrup

By MILER B. HEACH, Special to the Leader-Call

When going in June around the county, maple syrup time is an annual event. April and May have traditionally been the months for gathering sap from maple trees and making syrup. This activity is known as the "sugarbush." A sugarbush is a place where sap from a number of maple trees is collected in a sugarbush pool. Maple syrup is a product of maple sugar, which is obtained by boiling down sap from maple trees.

Spring means maple syrup, and the production of this sweet product is an important part of the agricultural economy in the Upper Peninsula. Maple syrup production is a traditional activity in the Upper Peninsula, and is a major source of income for many farmers. The process involves gathering sap from oak and maple trees, which are known to produce the most flavorful syrup. The sap is collected in sugarbush pools and boiled down into syrup.

The process of making maple syrup begins with the collection of sap from maple trees. The sap is then boiled down to a syrup that is sweet and nutritious. The syrup is then used in a variety of ways, such as in breakfast foods, desserts, and beverages. Maple syrup is also used as a natural sweetener in cooking and baking.

It's another title for Wings

by Bob avalanche

There has been much speculation this week, about the possibility of a title run by the Wings this year. The team, which has yet to lose a game, is considered by many to be the favorites in the conference.

"There's a lot of pressure," said one wing player. "But I think we can do it. We've got the players and the team chemistry.

"We've been working hard in practice," added coach Bob Gaffney. "And we're playing well in games.

"I think we can win the conference," said Gaffney. "We've got a lot of talent, and we're playing together well.

"We've got to keep improving," added Gaffney. "And we've got to stay healthy.

"We've got a lot of games left," said Gaffney. "But I think we can win the conference."
DeWitt’s game plan against Fowler: ‘to win’

By ROB CALVETTE

Coach Frank Shook of DeWitt only displayed a sparse tribute at the end of the season Friday night. He might as well have given it to the young Fowler squad.

“We were going to it,” he said. “We were going to prepare and give them our best. We gave them our best. We gave them the best we could and it was a pretty good game. We were playing against a pretty good team, and we gave them our best shot.”

The result? A 64-59 loss to the top-ranked Eagles its first loss of the season, 64-59.

Looking like he’s ready to pounce on his adversary is Fowler’s John Bengel. The Vikings’ Scott Fuller took 14 points, took a 15-11 lead at the end of the first period. The two clubs played nearly even ball late in the season for St. Louis which cost the O-E squad a chance at the Mid-Michigan B final. St. Louis finished in the three-horse race with DeWitt and scored both times.

Don Koenigsknecht stole the ball twice in a row, the second sending the Vikings to the DeWitt inhabited by the Marauder’s hot 54 per cent clip for the evening. DeWitt got 40 more than the Eagles and settler six more field goals (26-20) than the Vikings’ 18 points, took a 15-11 lead at the end and stifled the Eagles for the night.

Although they averaged 64 per cent for the game, the Vikings only averaged 80 per cent for the game.

The Vikings’ coach, Joss, after 16 straight victories, said Charlie Trierweiler Fowler’s coach.

“4 of 5 is a rebuilding year. We just didn’t play that well,” he said. “We were playing against a pretty good team, and we gave them our best shot.”

Separation of storm, sanitary needed

Future water use, disposal challenges budget

Water and its running for use and drainage continues to play an important role in the city of St. Johns. A recent report by the Michigan State Department of Environmental Quality indicates that the city is facing significant challenges in managing its water resources.

One of the major issues highlighted in the report is the separation of stormwater and sanitary wastewater. The report states that stormwater runoff, which includes rainwater and overflows from sewers, can contain potentially harmful pollutants that can enter the city's drinking water supply if not properly managed.

The report also notes that the city's current system of collecting and treating stormwater is inadequate to handle the volume of runoff generated during heavy storms. This can lead to flooding and erosion, as well as increased wear on the city's infrastructure.

In addition to the stormwater issue, the report highlights the need for better management of sanitary wastewater. The city currently relies on a system of sewers and treatment plants to handle waste, but the report notes that this system is also facing challenges.

The report recommends a number of actions to address these issues, including the implementation of separation strategies, the improvement of wastewater treatment facilities, and the development of more robust stormwater management plans.

As the city moves forward in addressing these challenges, it will be important to ensure that the necessary investments are made to protect the city's water resources and ensure the health and safety of its residents.

In spring, homemaker's thoughts turn to cleaning

Bright tropical days stir a host of projects. One of the most popular is the spring cleaning of the home. Homeowners' thoughts to spring are associated with the idea of cleaning out the surfaces of the home.

Cleaning tips:
- Use a vacuum cleaner to remove dust from carpets.
- Dusting with a damp cloth can help remove dirt from furniture.
- Use a soft-bristled brush to clean interiors.

In some cases, a gentle cleaning solution may be necessary to remove tough stains.

Homeowners should also consider the use of environmentally friendly cleaning products to reduce their impact on the environment.

Homeowners who are uncertain about their cleaning products' effectiveness can consult with a professional cleaner to ensure they are using the best methods for their particular home.

In any case, careful attention to cleaning is important to maintain a healthy and attractive home environment.

Nearly 1.5 million cattle, calves counted in state

The number of cattle and calves in Michigan was estimated as 1,490,000 head, an increase of four per cent from Jan. 1, 1969. This increase was the result of an increase of 60,000 head in the dairy herd and a decrease of 16,000 head in the beef herd. All other classes of cattle and calves in Michigan are included in the steer and heifer classes.

The inventory data is derived from the Bi-monthly Summary of Livestock. Data from the Summary are published in the Michigan Co-op Marketing. Data published in the Michigan Co-op Marketing are all in thousands and all ages, one year olds and over kept and bought, regardless of the number of head owned by the Michigan dairy farmers. Only 94 per cent of the dairy herd was reported for the week ending Jan. 31, 1970. Metrecal, the same method used by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in the U.S. inventory was used in the Michigan survey.

In the United States, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Agricultural Economics, estimated the total cattle and calves on farms in all states to be 240,000,000 head, an increase of 3.4 per cent from Jan. 1, 1969. A three per cent increase in the number of cattle and calves in Michigan was not expected to result in the United States because of the unsettled national economy.

Happy birthday, Rotary

Sixty-five may be identified as an age for retirement in many countries, but this week, as Rotary clubs around the world celebrated their 65th anniversary, the lifesize statue of the girl with the camera that sits in front of the Grand Central Terminal in New York City was lit up with a special light. The statue, which was unveiled in 1935 as a tribute to the spirit of Rotary, was illuminated in honor of the club's 65th anniversary.

Marine Corps Recruit deck was one of the few places where they could hear the story of the week. It was a report of a study of educational programs and the problems they face.

The basic approval for some drug drugs has been hindered by the Department of Health, which has been asked to review the matter. The recent release brings in some new clarification. The current situation has been the result of many discussions and negotiations.

The Special Investigating Committee was established to deal with the problem of drug use in schools. The committee is expected to release its report in the coming weeks. The report is expected to be released in the coming weeks. The report is expected to be released in the coming weeks.
I might at well consider, be­ the book itself. I was reading that in my hotel room at sea in 1970.

And I like to change some of the principle book with a darker, meaner one. It's not so as well as the Sports Illustrated magazine was in the room. I'm glad I bought that one.

It's the thing I like about the Shorthorn. This is ridiculous. I've
