NOT A "TOUGH FIGHT"

Dade thinks his community is not a "tough fight" that in any way further expands the District. We believe that the District still has a long way to go before it is declared a "tough fight." The voters of Bath Charter Township must be convinced that their Township is not merely a rehash of the same old story. They must be convinced that their Township is different from the Township that surrounds them. They must be convinced that their Township is not just another Township. They must be convinced that their Township is going to do something different for the people who live in it. They must be convinced that their Township is going to do something different for the people who vote for it. They must be convinced that their Township is going to do something different for the people who are going to vote for it.

Clintons historian

Larry Aronsky, new teacher of the week from DeWitt's Middle School, teaches a class in Michigan history, especially facts and data of old Clinton County going back more than 150 years. The idea of using local area history to interest students in the subject has been highly successful.

Four named to Wolverine Boys' State

Teachers will meet with the children alone while other school officials are busy conducting their daily business. The teachers will have as their responsibility to find out whether the children are eligible to participate. If found eligible, the children will be allowed to participate in the Wolverine Boys' State assembly at Michigan State University April 9-11.

Separate checks, scheduled to arrive in May, will be for the amounts payable to beneficiaries before enactment of the legislation. Social Security beneficiaries do not need to get in touch with a Social Security office to report new earnings, the report stated. Carol Cook bride of George Seidel

At the Lutheran Church was the setting for the double ring ceremony of marriage of Carol Louise Cook and George Seidel, both of Bay City. The couple was chosen at the Fifth Avenue Church in Bay City for its beauty and musical talent.

The bride and groom were married by Rev. Hersey, who earlier in the day had officiated at the wedding of another couple, and Mrs. Clarence Cook of the church was the matron of honor.

For the bride, the gown was designed by Mrs. Robert Cook, and the bridal bouquet was fashioned by Mrs. Robert Cook's daughter, Mrs. Robert Cook.

The groomsmen were Joe F. Roddquez, friend of the bride, and Joseph "Bee" Caudy, nephew of the bride.

The attendants were Mrs. Robert Cook, maid of honor, and her dress was identical to the maid of honor; and Mrs. Robert Cook, bridesmaid, and her dress was identical to the maid of honor.

The bride's gown was designed with a long puffy sleeves and skirt of baby's breath tied with satin ribbon. The train of nylon net and bridal bouquet was arranged from white roses, pink roses, and lady's bower tied with satin ribbon.

The groom's suit was fashioned in empire style with a white shirt front with matching long puffy sleeves and skirt of royal blue and emerald green was designed in empire style with a matching hat.

The setting for the double ring ceremony was decorated with flowers and candles.

The March meeting of Eight and Forty was held at the home of Eva Johnson, 13461 Winton Road following a brief ceremony. The couple will reside in Bay City, while the traditional wedding cake was fashioned in empire style with a matching hat.

About the farm

Spring—yesterday

Spring is here! Foliage is coming through with a host of pretty things. Never whitewash plants, even if they are not as pretty as something from dark-blossomed black, rose, green or grace—Pliny’s rake, black vase is appearing in the Bussel. The flowers today show how colorful they can be, and I think we’ll probably be going to have a lot of flowers and plants that will bloom in the fall. Again, make believe the plants are rich, with tree, sun, or fake. If you grow potted plants from seeds, they can be grown up in the fall and then

All are a delight from the old Stilk Blue, gray or blue, once heavy, today is all a delight from the old Stilk blue. We have a lot of pretty little things to look at, today.

Classification resulted in the best improvement being a 70 pound increase for one animal. In addition, there were 14 Holsteins classified, all of which were rated Superior.

Conservationists attend seminar

Lloyd E. Campbell, district Soil Conservationist, and Lloyd Beachler, soil conservation technician, sponsored a seminar for conservationists held at the Soil Conservation Service office of the USDA in St. Johns February 23rd. The seminar was a testing and evaluating of the Soil Conservation Service's new television series, Food, Soil and Water, a 12-week television series preparing classroom presentations. The course was conducted byemphasis on the importance of long-range planning and the development of a water management program and the development of these barriers removed. This training was a part of the new series of educational programs designed to increase the regularity and effectiveness of soil and water management training in order to encourage farmers to develop a water management program.

The seminar was conducted by a group of experts in the field of soil and water management. The seminar was designed to help farmers understand the importance of water management and to encourage them to develop a water management program.

Stop the brain drain

The decisions of several Clinton County School boards last week may be quite costly for area residents starting with the 1971-72 school year.

A large majority of tenured teachers, between 70 to 100 of them, may not have jobs next year.

In fact, they have been told that they will not have jobs waiting for them next year if the millage vote goes against the school board request.

The financial status of the various school boards involved in precarious indeed without a strong and regular millage proposal, to the relief of many.

If you ever were an opportunity, and a responsibility, for citizens to contact, their, elected officials on a local, state, or national level, the time is here.

It is important to contact the elected officials -- and we emphasize "your" -- how you think on such issues as the 18 year-old vote, and the other age "expections of the 18 year-old vote as set forth by Governor Milliken; legislators should support a new capital building in Lansing.

They should get your feelings on welfare expenditure -- how much or how little, and changes you think are important. Sure. It takes time. Some legislators are fighting the idea of a new, an educational tax. However, this idea is not new. We were warned in a recent issue of the "National Scholastic Press Association.

There are some citizens who do not agree with the idea of a new, educational tax. Perhaps this true in some cases. We must be careful, however, that our actions are not counterproductive. The idea of a new, educational tax would not be a "common" one, however.

Let's take some pride

We think it is time common, the citizens of the state, and of the area, to take pride in their schools. To be proud of our children's education.

We know of families with small incomes who are unable to save or provide enough time to help their children with school. If you ever were an opportunity, and a responsibility, for citizens to contact, their, elected officials on a local, state, or national level, the time is here.

Long term weather

by WARREN B. DODSON

Talk about prophecy实现了! In dry snow and heavy snow, how about that AC?

Thirty years ago, I read in the "national" press that there would be "eleven snowless winters" before another "hard" winter would come. It was the "last" hard winter. We all thought this was the "end of the world." But last year we had one of the "worst" winters in history.

Thirty years is too many. Nor are we alone in this "flight from cold." Take your television set. The "flintstone" era gave way to "space age". Now we have "space age" television sets. Its a wonder how many of these sets work. How many of us have any idea how they work? We just know they work.

What is going to happen? I would say the world is going to be a "space" age. How many of us even know what it is? How many of us have been to "space?" We all know about "space",
The House of Representatives voted Wednesday to recommend to President Nixon that he set wage-price controls. If he takes this action, it would not be the first time a President has taken such a step. In 1971, President Nixon imposed a freeze on wages and prices, a measure that was also supported by Congress. At that time, the Congressmen believed that the Administration was taking the necessary steps to prevent inflation. However, in this instance, the President’s action is based on a desire to prevent inflation without necessarily invoking specific legislation.

President Nixon has justified his decision to impose a freeze on wages and prices by arguing that such action is necessary to stabilize the economy. He has also cited the need for Congress to take action to address the economic crisis. The President believes that Congress must address the issue of wage-price controls in order to maintain economic stability.

The President’s action has raised concerns among economic analysts and policymakers. Some argue that wage-price controls could have unintended consequences, such as reduced economic growth and increased unemployment. Others argue that such controls are necessary to prevent inflation.

The House of Representatives, which consists of members from all 50 states, voted 381 to 19 in favor of the President’s decision to impose wage-price controls. The Senate, which is also comprised of members from all 50 states, is expected to consider the issue in the coming days. It is unclear at this time whether the Senate will support or oppose the President’s action.

If the Senate votes to support the President’s action, the wage-price controls would be effective immediately. If the Senate votes against the President’s action, it is possible that a battle over wage-price controls could ensue, potentially delaying any action on the issue.

Overall, the President’s action to impose wage-price controls has sparked a debate over the role of government in the economy. Some argue that government intervention is necessary to address economic challenges, while others believe that market forces should be left to operate unimpeded.

In the meantime, Congress is expected to address the issue of wage-price controls in the coming days. It is unclear at this time what form any legislation might take, but it is likely that the debate will continue until a resolution is reached.

Wage-price control

In the House of Representatives, the Administration expressed its support for President Nixon’s decision to impose wage-price controls. If this action is taken, the President would be able to prevent a vote of the change, which has been pending in the Senate. This action was taken in response to widespread public discussion about the need for wage-price controls. In other words, you and I are form to the standard God has set for it. The world does not conform to the standard which God has set for it. When we pass against them, and entrust ourselves, not counting their trespasses, and gave us the ministry of reconciliation; that is, God was in the position of salvation. He was a holy God and Adam and Eve were reconciled to Him.
