Baseball season opens for county teams

April 2, 1975

CLINTON COUNTY NEWS, ST. JOHNS, MICHIGAN

Pertler won honorable mention mound by graduation, but hopes "swan song." New coaches will begin their 2nd season at the helm of the Redwing varsity.

"We are looking for a good season, a really better season," says Bill Doan, head coach of the Ovid-Elsie Marauders. "We hope to make some progress this year." The Marauders were 3rd place and went 10-6 overall, 6-1 in the Mid-Michigan B conference.

Jack Nutter goes into his 4th year as head coach of the Mason Eagles. "We are hoping for a winning season this year," Nutter says. "We hope to repeat last year's success." The Eagles went 8-1 in the CMAC and won the league.

"We need a lot of pitching," says Brian Downing, first-year coach of the St. Johns Merchants. "We will get as far as we can this year." The Merchants were in 3rd place with a 33-13 record last year, but they are looking to improve this season.

"We have a mostly senior ball club this year," says Jim Wetmore, head coach of the Fowlerville Eagles. "We hope to change that this year." The Eagles were in 3rd place last year with a 6-3 record, but Wetmore is looking to improve this year with a young team.

"We have a solid nucleus of returning regulars," says Jim Quine, head coach of the CMAC Panthers. "We have a good chance of surviving this season." The Panthers have a solid number of pitching wins in a row under Messner, who has guided the Panthers to a 1973 33-13 record.

But returning is Bob Rice, head baseball manager. "We lose five starters," Rice says. "We're going to be a young team right now." The team will have to learn, and Messner is looking to improve this year with a young team.

Thinclds face cold opening

By John P. Wing

Current Sports

If April's serene existence is to last much longer, Winter will soon be with us. It's a time of nostalgia for the great outdoors and all the activities available during the winter season. But high school track and field meets have been put on hold, leaving athletes to train indoors and wait for the longed-for day when the snow will melt and they can return to the track.

According to Coach Fred Wright of the school track team, the team is still in training mode, with the goal of being ready for the cold weather: "We're still in training mode," he said. "We're working hard to get ready for the upcoming season, but the weather is not cooperating."

The team is composed of 20 athletes, both men and women, who are training indoors to prepare for the upcoming season.

Steel burns

By John P. Wing

Current Sports

The steel industry is facing a new challenge as steel burns increase. The steel industry has been dealing with steel burns for many years, but the recent increase in steel burns is a cause for concern.

Steel burns occur when steel is exposed to high temperatures and the steel metal reacts with oxygen. This reaction causes the steel to lose its strength and durability.

The steel industry is working to find solutions to this problem. "We are working hard to find solutions to this problem," said Steel Industry Association President John Dorsey. "We are working hard to find solutions to this problem, and we are grateful for anyone who comes forward to assist in the investigation."

Kelley fights automatic utility rate increases

LANING—Attorney General Frank J. Kelley today called for a halt to utility rate increases, saying utility companies are automatically increasing their rates without first obtaining regulatory approval from the Public Service Commission.

Kelley said he will make it illegal for utility companies to increase rates automatically after college students used the heat of the large rate increases in Detroit and creating huge losses for ratepayers. Michigan was one of the states that have been hit hard by the rate increases.

Kelley said that the Public Service Commission should be allowed to regulate the utility companies' rates and that the companies should be required to obtain approval from the commission before increasing rates.

Kelley's action follows the decision of the Michigan Supreme Court, which ruled that the Public Service Commission has the power to regulate the rates charged by utility companies.

The decision was based on a previous ruling by the Supreme Court that the Public Service Commission has the authority to regulate the rates charged by utility companies.

Kelley said that he will ask the Legislature to pass a bill that will give the Public Service Commission the power to regulate the rates charged by utility companies.

The Legislature is currently considering a bill that would give the Public Service Commission the power to regulate the rates charged by utility companies.

The bill would give the Public Service Commission the power to regulate the rates charged by utility companies.

Back Through the Years

From the Clinton County News of 1975:

Editorial

What others are writing

The average Michigan taxpayer is getting fed up with the constant harping, back-siding and back-stabbing on that old chestnut—tax reform.

Since the days of the constitutional convention back in the 60s, the Michigan taxpayer has been bombarded with threats of increased property taxes and countercharges, claims and counter claims, please for urgency, death cries from bureaucrats and other cacophonic noise in regard to financing an ever mushrooming government.

Financing state government deserves much more than the years of chaos game action being lopped by those who are using it for purely partisan purposes.

Every political candidate for the past 14 years has professed no greater love than to change the methods of financing government. Both Democrats and Republicans have trotted out various tax schemes, using based on getting more taxes and not in providing a more equitable way for taxing.

The schemes are run up the flagpole, usually in the thick of an election year—but nothing ever happens once the legislature and governor settle back to post-election jockeying.

There is but this year—no because it is an election year, but because Michigan is one of the hardest hit states in the current economic slump.

Questions have got to be solved—not on the basis of partisan politics, but on the merits of fiscal responsibility, on the need legislative and administrative leadership playing politics with a cruical issue on what we in Michigan and what we in Michigan do not need or want.

LETTER TO EDITOR:

"Forgotten end of the city?"

I am a resident of the 8th Ward in St. Johns and am very concerned with the welfare of its wards. While the City Council has given much attention to the downtown area, the west end has been neglected.

Recently, (and I refer to this week) I phoned the mayor's office, but was not given any information. It is very important that the west end be considered. I understand that the Planning Commission is looking into the matter. Perhaps you can do a story on this subject.

Kill weeds in corn this year. Rotate to soybeans next.

Outlook* outlines a broad spectrum of broadcast weeds and grasses. There are some carryover problems. Use Outlook or a direct control on this land this year, and it won't cause carryover problems on other crops in rotation, such as soybeans. (Don't rotate to sugar beets.)

Outlook requires no pre-treatment with oil, but it is a one-constant, one-treatment product. Get the weeds before the weeds "get" some of your corn yield. See your dealer. Outlook is a trade name of Outlook Inc.
