The Saga of the St. Johns Sea Lions

Being a member of the St. Johns Island Lions, Meyer took the idea to the school administration for a swimming program with the firm belief that the kids would be more interested if they could see a coach who was interested in the program and an avid team booster, Meyer was not surprised with the girls' interest.

Tornado season is here

Water main stress test may give clues to aging and the need for more information. The National Institute of Health has given permission to use this data to study the rate of breakage in water mains. The study, which will be conducted throughout the state of Michigan, will involve the use of over 500 water mains. The data will be analyzed to determine the rate of breakage in water mains in the state. The study will be conducted from April 14 to May 20, with the results announced in June. The study will be conducted by the University of Michigan and the Michigan Department of Health.

The study will be conducted in three phases. Phase I will involve the collection of baseline data on the water mains in the state. Phase II will involve the collection of data on the water mains that have been under stress for a period of time. Phase III will involve the collection of data on the water mains that have been under stress for a period of time and have subsequently broken.

Miller's Mill Road west of Spring Lake will be closed for one week to repair the bridge over the Grand River.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

April 18, 1966

The Clinton County News reported on the argument between the citizens of the town of Spring Lake and the Michigan Department of Transportation over the proposed closing of Miller's Mill Road. The citizens were concerned about the impact on their community and the potential for increased traffic on nearby roads.

ADVERTISMENT FOR BIDS

The Clinton County Intermediate School District School Board of Education will advertise for bids for the construction of an addition to the Intermediate School in the Town of Spring Lake. The project includes excavating, grading, and installing new electrical, mechanical, and plumbing systems.

Stalking the wild mushroom

Small but edible and choice. Collected, caps are small and in moist aspen, birch and have little substance. Edible but not worth bothering with. Normally appears in early May, cream to brownish-black. Not worth collecting. If you must pick more than one, be cautious (half a cap). Even lucky finder doesn't need many.
RSVP recognizes volunteer contributions.

Since 1984 RSVP has sought to recognize the contributions older persons are making through their volunteer efforts. The program, funded by the Corporation for National and Community Service, is designed to match the skills, experience, and interests of older persons with the needs of local agencies.

Martha B. Thompson, a Central Michigan University student, demonstrates the collective and individual contributions older persons can make to the community through volunteering.

Some 200 retirees and community agency representatives presented pins and certificates to older persons who have served 1,000 hours or more with agencies participating in the Community Outreach Office Volunteer Program. Mrs. Thompson has developed and maintained a network of volunteers assigned to task forces to help plan activities for people with special needs or interests.

Farmers go on dairy tour

Approximately 200 farmers visited a southeastern Michigan dairy farm on Tuesday, April 5, on the last day of the Dutchess County Dairy Tour. The tour was sponsored by the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service, the Clinton County Dairy Promotion Council, and the Dutchess County Dairy Promotion Council.

The tour focused on the management practices of the farm and the role of the dairy industry in the local economy. The farmers were able to ask questions directly to the dairy farmer and learn about the latest technologies and practices used in the industry.

Sealed Power Corp. appoints David Dodd

Dodd graduated from Bethany College in West Virginia and earned his M.B.A. from the University of Virginia. He has worked for Rocketdyne, a Division of North American Aviation, Inc., and is currently employed as a management consultant. He is a member of the American Society for Engineering Management and the American Society for Quality Control.

Sponsored by the Clinton County Cooperative Extension Service, the tour was designed to provide farmers with a better understanding of the dairy industry and its impact on the local economy.
