Morrison's campaign for Senate

Morrison, 21, is running on a platform of education and public safety.

"I believe that education is the key to our future," Morrison said. "We need to invest in our schools and our teachers, and we need to provide opportunities for our young people to succeed in life."

Morrison called for increased funding for education and for the hiring of more teachers, as well as for the creation of a new police department.

"We need to make sure that our communities are safe," he said. "We need to protect our families and our neighborhoods, and we need to ensure that our police officers have the tools they need to do their jobs."

Allen introduces bill to protect children from flammable clothes

Allen introduces bill to protect children from flammable clothes. A bill requiring that clothes made for young children be constructed of non-flammable materials has been introduced in the House by Rep. Richard Allen, D-Grand Rapids.

Allen says that about 5 percent of the hospitalizations of children under four are caused by clothing related accidents. The bill, if passed, would require that garments be tested for flammability. It provides for minimum safety standards, he added.

"This is a direct out of technology being brought to bear on dangerous things that children face," said Allen. "It is not only going to save the lives and health of our children, but it will also be a very important step in providing new safety standards." He added.

"Many of these burns could have been avoided by the use of non-flammable clothing," Allen said. "If we use positive legislative action, we can practically eliminate them, and it seems to be infectious."

Allen explained that the 15-year-old figure was used in the bill because statistical data shows that after this age young children are no longer in danger of clothing-related accidents.

"I wish I had a list that could have been used to prove that so many of our children are injured by clothing-related accidents," Allen said. "It's my personal goal to try to get this legislation passed into law."

"This would not only save lives and health, but it would also be a very important step in providing new safety standards," he added.

"We should demand not only positive clothing for children."

ALA N found, introduced last week, requires that additional safety devices be used when the storage of accrued electric power is transported. It provides for electrical safety standards, Allen said.

"This is not only going to save the lives and health of our children, but it will also be a very important step in providing new safety standards." He added.

Redwings sweep a pair; pull off a 'triple play'

Ron Waggoner's stolen base and a Ron Waggoner error set the scene for the third out, as the Redwings defeated Ithaca, 5-0, 6-0.

St. Johns' Tim Watson took the loss against Ionia last week as the Redwings dumped the Bulldogs, 4-2.

Dennis Ballinger led It off in the fourth and had the bases loaded with no outs when Bruce Watson singled home Dennis Ballinger and Ron Waggoner's stolen base and Larry Wakefield was safe when Boettger's game-winning three-run triple sparked by Eddie Boettger's first conference loss, 4-2.

Linda VanVelsor and Vicki Putnam, both former Kurt's Appliance Center saleswomen and residents of Laingsburg, have been inducted into the top 2 national retail trade group or- der, the National Retailers Association. The two were chosen for the honor by the group's national retail trade group of top 25 for the year.

The two women were chosen for their outstanding customer service and salesmanship. They were given the award at the National Retailers Association convention held in Chicago.

Both VanVelsor and Putnam have been with Kurt's Appliance Center for several years, and have been recognized for their outstanding performance. They have been instrumental in helping the store achieve its success, and have been a key part of the team that has made the store a leader in the retail industry.

Linda VanVelsor has been with Kurt's Appliance Center for the past 10 years, and has won many awards for her outstanding performance. She was chosen for the top 2 national retail trade group for her dedication to customer service and salesmanship.

Vicki Putnam has been with Kurt's Appliance Center for the past 8 years, and has also won many awards for her outstanding performance. She was chosen for the top 2 national retail trade group for her dedication to customer service and salesmanship.

Both women are a testament to the dedication and hard work that goes into making Kurt's Appliance Center a success. They are an inspiration to their colleagues and a great asset to the store.

Linda VanVelsor and Vicki Putnam are thrilled to be part of the elite group of top 2 national retail trade group. They are proud to represent Kurt's Appliance Center and are excited to continue their work in the retail industry.

They both hope to continue to excel in their careers and to make Kurt's Appliance Center even more successful in the future.

Let Color Flow from Room to Room

On the inside, as well as the outside, it is important to avoid the feeling that your exterior, it is important to your room addition is an afterthought. A properly thought out addition will maintain the character of the original house. Color, a properly thought out, the addition to the house adds to the desirability of the neighborhood, and makes the addition more valuable.

In the Spring, the situation is even better, as the addition of color to the exterior, it is important to the function of the new room addition is an afterthought. Decorative materials from

For this reason, one of the most important jobs of a home addition is to be a functional space, and no small part of that is the floor plan. It is not enough to simply say that the floor plan is adequate. The new space must be adaptable to the activities it will be used for, and the family's needs must be considered.

In the kitchen, the choice of materials is important. The walls, floor, and ceiling should be painted in a way that complements the overall design of the room. It is important to choose colors that will make the space feel larger and more open.

The inflation which you have experienced may be interfering with your ability to understand your personal needs. It may be surprising to find that your ability to understand your personal needs may be affected by the inflation which you have experienced.

Most modern homeowners or apartment dwellers may find themselves caught in a bind when it comes to understanding their personal needs in the face of inflation. The same is true for older homeowners and apartment dwellers. The problem is that they have less money and less freedom to spend money to meet their personal needs.

The fundamental rule of personal needs is that they must be met in order to live. This means that we have to balance the personal needs of the individual with the personal needs of the group. It is important to remember that personal needs are not the same for everyone. What is a personal need for one person may not be a personal need for another person. Therefore, it is important to be aware of the personal needs of different individuals in order to better understand their personal needs.

New Rug Fibers, Materials
Present New Maintenance
Problems. Here's Answer

A revolution in the home furnishing industry has brought a numerous new materials and fibers that are not only beautiful but also hardy and low-maintenance.

For example, Enameled Mohair rugs are beautiful and hard to spoil. Rugula, a new fabric, has been designed by a floor-care manufacturer to demonstrate the new "Rugula Revolution." Squares of 48 different colors and types of carpets, from flat needlefelt numbers to inches-high shag rug, have been bonded together into a beautiful 6' x 8' area rug to show the tremendous variety in carpets, fibers, patterns and styles such as plexiglass, glass substitutes and plastics. This new fabric will adjust to hard wood and tile floors too.

Correct cleaning procedures are important to keep high pile rugs in top condition. A soft brush attached to a vacuum cleaner is the best way to pick up all the dirt that accumulates on these types of furnishings. The Eureka canisters go anywhere from the attic, basement or even the bathroom. An upholstery brush works wonders on upholstered surfaces.

Enameled Mohair represents one of the many new materials and fibers that have come to the market. The result of this convention of fibers and materials available today for home furnishings industry has brought materials that are not only beautiful but also hardy and low-maintenance.

In the bathroom, don't expect to pick up all the dirt that accumulates on these types of furnishings. The Eureka canisters go anywhere from the attic, basement or even the bathroom.

ing industry has brought a num­

In the kitchen, the vacuum-brush and the front wheels of the vacuum cleaner are her best friends. A vacuum cleaner is a unique sliding control located behind it, permitting her to reach the farthest corners of the home. The vacuum cleaner should be her vacuum cleaner.

Beauty in the Bathroom

Is More Than Skin-Deep!

bathroom have recently come a long way since the attention was paid to the appearance of the toilet or the sink. The modern bathroom is a place where you can enjoy peaceful relaxation and privacy. It is a sanctuary for self-care and rejuvenation.

There are several reasons why the bathroom is considered the most important room in the house. First, it is a place where we spend a significant amount of time every day. It is also a place where we experience a sense of comfort and well-being.

In the past, bathrooms were often neglected and considered a place for practicality. However, today's bathrooms are designed to be luxurious and relaxing.

One of the most important aspects of the bathroom is the choice of materials. Materials that are durable, easy to clean, and visually appealing are essential.

In this section, we will explore the key factors that contribute to the beauty of the bathroom and how to create a space that is both functional and aesthetically pleasing.

One of the most important aspects of the bathroom is the choice of materials. Modern materials such as porcelain, ceramic, and glass are popular choices because they are durable, easy to clean, and visually appealing.

Different materials are selected for different areas of the bathroom. For example, the floor may be made of ceramic tiles, while the walls may be covered with subway tiles or glass. The choice of materials depends on the desired look and feel of the bathroom.

Another important factor is the color scheme. A bathroom can be designed in a monochromatic color scheme, which creates a sense of calm and relaxation. Alternatively, a bathroom can be designed with a pop of color, which adds a sense of energy and vibrancy.

The lighting in the bathroom is also crucial. Good lighting can make a small bathroom feel larger and more open. It can also create a cozy and relaxing atmosphere.

In conclusion, beauty in the bathroom is more than skin-deep. It is a place where we can relax and rejuvenate.

By choosing the right materials, colors, and lighting, we can create a bathroom that is both functional and aesthetically pleasing.

When to Remove Paint Splatters

From Window Pane

When to Remove Paint Splatters

When the paint is still wet or when it is thin, the simplest method is to remove it from the window pane. This can be done by scraping the paint off the pane. Use a scraper or a plastic card to remove the paint. If the paint is thick, it may be necessary to use a knife or a putty knife to remove it.

2. Use a vacuum to remove paint splatters from the window pane. Make sure the vacuum is set to the lowest suction setting and use it to gently remove the paint from the pane.

3. Use a solution of warm water and dish soap to clean the window pane. Apply the solution to the pane and use a squeegee to remove the paint. Rinse the pane with clean water.

4. Use a chemical paint remover to remove paint splatters from the window pane. Follow the instructions on the chemical remover to apply it to the paint splatters. Allow the chemical to sit on the paint for the recommended time, then scrape the paint off the pane.

When the paint is dry, it can be removed using a sanding block or a paint scraper. When using a sanding block, apply the sanding block to the paint and move it back and forth across the paint. When using a paint scraper, apply the scraper to the paint and move it back and forth across the paint.

THIS DRYER COMPLEMENTS YOUR SPACE PROGRAM

Who have you ever heard the idea of having a clothes dryer because one doesn’t even own a single machine and have lots of space and speed? Being able to wash clothes has a big advantage that need not take up any space and needs no specialized installation. And we don’t want a squeaky dryer but Murray is a little more space in the corner of a room, with an attractively wired 1/50 watt electric dryer, mature, is it a great folding screen and yet a safe a spot. Small or large, it can create a climate that will raise your morale. Good luck in finding a dryer. In the next six and thirty days, Murray will be available.

Flush Garbage Down the Drain With Disposers

While we have all discovered that clean clothes can make you happy, it has been shown that your clothes can make you happy. Murray has become a good disposal device for some reason it may be a small or large, it can be a home or a business. As a matter of fact, the dryer moves easily as a large appliance or as a small appliance in an office. No testing required.

Extend Indoor 'Gallery' Outdoors For Patio Elegance, Distinction

Just a handful of clever designing tricks amount a "handicraft" in creating a beautiful outdoor room. The simple introduction of a subtle ornament, a small window box of flowers, can add a quality to your patio which better suits a room than a pool. Use graceful cast aluminum furniture of graceful proportions. Place matching plants so they blend into the general theme. Whether your patio is large or small, there are ways of developing an intimate sitting area that the family will enjoy year after year.

Are you happy with your present furnishings? Perhaps you’re thinking of updating it, or adding a room, or in your planning stages, to have a complete refreshment of your present furnishings. In fact, to enjoy your present surroundings more, it will affect your overall living environment.

A Home-Exterior Shows the "... Arrows of Adversity"
When there is wind blowing, or as it is sometimes called, "wind blowing, the wind may cause wind damage, hail damage, rain damage, or other signs of aging, such as cracks, holes, and other signs of wear. In some cases, the wind may also cause damage to the structure of the house, such as bending and warping. Wind damage is usually caused by strong winds, such as tornadoes or hurricanes. The wind may also cause damage to the roof, such as lifting shingles or blowing away roofing materials. In some cases, the wind may cause damage to the windows, such as breaking or cracking them. Wind damage can be costly and can require extensive repairs, if not replaced. It is important to inspect your home regularly for signs of wind damage, and to make necessary repairs to prevent further damage. If your home has been damaged by wind, it is important to contact your insurance company to file a claim for the damage. This will help you to repair your home and get your life back on track. If you have experienced wind damage to your home, it is important to contact a professional to assess the damage and provide a quote for repairs. This will help you to understand the extent of the damage and the cost of repairs.
Home Efficiency Starts with Home Manager

The average homeowner spends more than seven hours a week doing household chores, devoted to the cooking, cleaning, laundry, and care of the home. And even if you hire a cleaning service, you could cut your time in half, most of which is spent on basic household chores, like cleaning, laundry, and cooking. The key is to create a plan that works for you, and to make sure that you take care of the household chores in a way that is efficient and effective.

Dining table decorations
- almost forgotten art

By LORRAINE DUGGER
Editorial Home Features

The dining table is one of the most often forgotten areas when we think of home decorating. Usually the one we use the most and take for granted, it is possible to improve even this area with a little effort and skill. Wrong choice of china, lamp shades, place mat colors, and even the right or wrong type of flowers can make a dinner party a success or a failure.

Increasingly today, the table should be more than a place to set dishes and cutlery; it should become an attractive and appealing as comfortable family room. The dinner table should provide a setting for pleasant conversation. A well-dressed table should express the mood for either family use or formal dinner parties.

To make the table a focal point, start with the table setting. It is the beginning of the picture. There are many styles of table settings to choose from, each presenting a different mood to set the theme of the meal. The best thing about a table setting is that it is so very adaptable. You can mix and blend them to suit your particular hour needs.

A formal place setting is the most traditional, formal, and elegant feeling. Use coordination silver, matched and elegant china. Most important: never mix and match. Matching tablecloth and napkins, silver and china make the atmosphere. For a more subdued and elegant feeling, use alternating table china and silver, use alternating colors and patterns in plates, napkins, glasses or even color for each place setting.

A country style place setting is more informal and easy going. Include a few pieces of bright and pottery and a flowered cloth for a casual meal. Nowadays, casual dining is popular. This can be set from a bold overscaled pattern dish at each plate to a white china, other white or silver noribbit with ceramic. Even use your favorite piece of china, a favorite piece of ceramic, even a favorite piece and a rainbow of napkins.

A casual country place setting is perhaps your personal preference. It is used more and more for alfresco eating in a pretty spot. Linen cloths, delicate oreny take much attention to make them restful and elegant looking. They are available in a variety of colors and textures. Let's not overlook the possibility of placemats or paper place mats. While paper place mats are not conducive to frequent use, they can be a welcome change to your normal eating habits. Family meals deserve honor just as much attention as those special events at home. Place mats, cloth napkins, delicate embroidery or heavy cotton place mats worn with paper place mats and serving dishes, give a pleasant flow in the decoration of your home during the year. The general how-to-do-it method is: no color bleeding, less distortion of texture and furniture and restful setting is what most of us need.

Decorating the table should provide a focal point for one and all. Find the center of interest. Color and flowers play a big role in the decorations. It can, with the right decoration, serve as a conversation piece, stimulate conversation.

A teen demonstration

Boozy for the kids. So frequently we cluster look to the younger generation for a hint for our extended years of experience and knowledge. But it takes the kids to get something.

Two good examples in Clinton County in recent days was the annual county road cleanup campaign and the pre-school park cleanup. Both were accomplished with a minimum of supervision and supervision was whole, whole lot of teens and student effort. And the peculiar part is that, in all likelihood, neither was instigated not by the youngsters themselves, but by we adults who thoughtlessly allow our dis- ordered teens to roam in public areas.

We find it difficult to envision large numbers of adults—even half the size of the recent clean-up-taking through county roads and park areas in search of litter.

But the kids are proud of their county and obviously are not a threat to work hard to redeem their reputations.

We adults could solve the kids a lot of trouble if we think of themselves and their problems. One idea from an auto or leave a bag of garbage as a pittance.

Auto progress

The automobile is considered to be a major factor in air pollution. But, the industries they represent are not to be put out of business for the sake of clean air. Despite their essentiality, the oil and auto industries face a host of antipollution legislation directed far more than most people realize to make the auto less lethal to the environment. Indeed, by the Automobile Manufacturers Association and the American Petroleum Institute the stakes of the story, since 1965, steady progress has been made toward cleaner running automobiles. In the next 25 years the automobile density reduced a typical car's emissions of hydrocarbons to 80 per cent of what were before.

In the oil industry the reduction in hydrocarbons to 75 per cent of the pre-1965 levels. They also reduced carbon monoxide emissions 60 per cent of what they had been.

In the oil industry, the same has been accomplished not by an attempt to solve the problem, but by an attempt to solve the problem in a manner which will not result in a loss of sales.

Fifty-four Clinton County automobile and truck dealers were on the line for the council's air pollution conference.

Integration

By WARREN S. JACKSON

The world is a big place and, as long as I can remember, I've felt that way. "Where is everyone?" I often ask myself. I don't know how many times I've asked that question, but it seems like a lot. I don't know how many times I've felt that way, but it seems like a lot.

The people who say they don't care about integration are probably the ones who care the most. They don't see the point in it, but they care about it. They don't think it's important, but they care about it. They don't think it's necessary, but they care about it.
