For all these fond memories, we wish to thank all the people who have been involved in the city derby over the years. We especially want to thank the Depot Theatre Derby Boosters, who have been the driving force behind the annual derby for many years. The derby is a true community project, and we are grateful for the support of the local businesses and individuals who have made it possible. The derby is a way for us to come together and have fun, and we hope that it will continue to be an annual event for many years to come.

County man is well known in Michigan officiating circles
"March Madness" has been over for two weeks now. Perhaps the only excitement that the March swell can bring is the tournament of the national basketball championships. The state of Michigan is a prime court and will be playing host.
John attended the Class B state championship game the other night and said that it was one of the best he ever saw. He is looking forward to the Final Four games and that it's the year to see a Michigan team win.
"Michigan is the favorite this year by other experts," John said.
To end of the Ed. columns shows for the March Madness, John specified that if a school outside of Michigan is his team, he may not get another chance - just too many good teams this year.
John's father was a basketball star and John always prays that his own team will win. He was an assistant coach at Michigan and later became an assistant coach at the University of Michigan.

Their band instructor, Roger Weyersberg, a German himself, started the band up in the fall of 1973 to entertain guests at the annual school smorgasbord. Since that time, the band's popularity has grown and they now have two of their own children in the band. The band members dress in German costumes of short pants, suspenders and knee socks. Kill the bureaus every 10 years

Any Congressman who wants to drum up some vigorous assent in this district between now and the November election might do well to get behind an idea just hatched by a young freshman from Iowa. Representative Michael J. Blouin has introduced a proposed "Federal Agency Closure Act." It calls for nothing less radical than the automatic expiration after 10 years of any government agency or bureau, unless Congress specifically votes to keep that unit in business. The act would affect only the Legislative Branch, the Judicial Branch and the President and Vice President.

We're not sure Mr. Blouin knows what he is biting into here. The stampede of bureaucrats and their constituents trying to defend themselves might triangulate the Capitol into dust. And we're not sure the Office of Management and Budget, which would combine the government for likely candidates for obituary, can handle the work load.

But Mr. Blouin observes that Congress has created some 120 new federal entities over the last 15 years and abolished only 21. There are loud complaints from the hinterlands about the ever-expanding cost of government. The plan would set spending up through the roof. But Mr. Blouin's idea work, we can imagine a chorus of millions shouting "Right on." — The Wall Street Journal

Report from the capitol

State Representative by Stanley Powell

Proposed that a movie industry never before considered making a film about a city be doing that, it is only fitting that the state of Michigan, known as the Wolverine State, should be the setting. Michigan became the site of several major motion pictures last year, including "The Mod Squad," "The Sting," and "The Longest Yard."

The state of Michigan is being considered as a possible location for another film, "The Great Gatsby." The film is expected to be released in 2013.

STATEMENTS

Governor Milliken recently approved a $10 million dollar grant to the state of Michigan to assist in the development of a new film industry. The grant will be used to improve infrastructure, provide training programs, and support the hiring of new workers in the industry.

"Michigan has a long history of film production," Governor Milliken said in a statement. "This grant will help us build on that legacy and bring new opportunities to our state."

The grant is expected to create over 2,500 new jobs in the film industry and has the potential to generate over $1 billion in economic activity for the state of Michigan.

In other news, the state of Michigan has announced plans to build a new film studio in Detroit. The studio will be the largest in the Midwest and is expected to attract major film productions to the state.

The state of Michigan has a long history of film production, with major films such as "Star Trek," "The X-Files," and "The Green Mile" being filmed in various parts of the state.

The proposed film studio in Detroit is expected to attract major productions and create new opportunities for Michigan residents. The state of Michigan continues to be a leader in film production and is well-positioned to continue this trend in the future.
