AN ARRAY OF COLOR IN SOUND AND SIGHT

The sounds were as brilliant as the colors this past weekend when students at Rodney S. Wilson High School staged Leonard and Leonard's musical, "Brigadoon." And those who could force themselves from humming at play's end had nothing but praise for the production which was presented three consecutive evenings to near 800 crowds. Lead roles were played by Chris Carroll, Bob Friswin, Tom Fowler, Sheryl Fulliam and Teresa Smith, but the collective talents of the entire cast, musicians and production crew shone brilliantly and brought already responsive from the audience which ended with long applause. The production was under the direction of Kari Yeats' of the high school's music department.

NEW LAUNDROMAT FOR FOWLER

Ground-breaking ceremonies were conducted Monday morning for a new laundromat on east M-21 in Fowler and present for the event were, left to right, Richard Spaans, Harold Ball, Dick Christensen, and Jim and Jerry, 13; Elren, 11 and Jeff, 9 winners in final Bingo game

The Clinton County News had also helped winners to the final Bingo Clinton held Friday evening at the Fowlerville Opera House. Proceeds from the event will go to the local chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Individual letters of thanks sent to Federal-Mogul employees

Employees and management of Federal-Mogul, South Euclid, have received individual letters of thanks from the Mary Feldpausch children thanking them for their contributions to their mother's kidney treatment. Mrs. Feldpausch is 38 years old and was born in Fowler and graduated from Fowler High School. Her husband is employed at Olds-McCormick in Fowlerville, and they have five children including Tom, 18; Mary, 17; Jerry, 13; Elren, 11 and Jeff, 9. The family lives at 431 N. Main Street, Fowler.

There's cash around

Many advertisers have inserted their names under the "Thank you" column of the classified section of this week's edition of the Clinton County News. Among those naming themselves are: A. E. Rockwell, 229 N. Main Street, Fowlerville; E. W. Hazler, 112 W. Main Street, Fowlerville; Charles Mulder, 300 N. Main Street, Fowlerville; and Mrs. John L. Lillis, 310 W. Main Street, Fowlerville.

Jack Smith, president of Northwest Salvage Incorporated of Williamston, and several employees have been busy this past week with the tearing down of a house at 100 Spring Street, St. Johns, estimates the age of the structure at 60 years and says it was unusual in that most of the wood used in its construction was oak and maple, (the majority of homes built at that time were pine).

Regional VA office moves

Clinton area veterans who regularly correspond with the Veterans Administration will soon be advised of a new address for the agency. As of May 9, the regional office will move from 103 S. Chestnut to 101 E. Chestnut, suite A, in downtown St. Johns.

At the present time Jay S. Gill, assembly manager, runs the regional office program. It is the veterans benefit that most interests returning Viet Nam era veterans.

This was confirmed by Mr. Gill, who noted "most veterans either mailed or personally brought to the Veterans Administration a reply card telling them to send specific written explanation of the new information.

The application was received with a letter which the VA sent last December to recently discharged veterans explaining the various benefits to which they were entitled.

Education and travel

The VA attached it to 87 per cent of all cards returned from some 23,000 veterans.

The total number of percent benefited in which some information was denied was VA medical or travel benefits.

A total of 32 per cent of all replies were post cards.

Employment received in 80 per cent, followed by the VA benefits in 40 per cent, educational benefits in 40 per cent, non-VA medical benefits in 40 per cent and veterans Connected Services Office in 40 per cent, in that order.

This statement represents the per cent of letters such benefit data was eventually received in the VA.

A total of 40 per cent of all replies for their greater interest was VA benefit information which had been completed high school or above. The VA benefit information interest was the interest in the various veterans benefits to which they were entitled.

Annual meeting held by Clinton County Woman’s Club

The 65th annual convention of the Clinton County Federation of Woman’s Clubs was held May 6-7 at Manlius Center Church in St. Johns. The theme for this year’s meeting was “Building Bridges.”

The opening session was held at 9 a.m. Thursday, May 6. Honorary president of the federation, Miss Ethel Quinlan, gave the opening invocation. The convention’s program director, Mrs. Roy Davis, served as hostess club.

Mrs. Howard Scott, nominating secretary, introduced the guest speakers and made up the slate of candidates for the coming year. Mrs. John Reynolds served as general chairman for the event, and in charge of the morning session was Mrs. Joseph Minsky, who was introduced by Mrs. Howard Scott.

After the morning session was opened, the “Octaves” of Rodney B.Willson High School presented “The Collect,” sung by the St. Johns High School Glee Club.

As a new project for the coming year, Mrs. John Rumbaugh, general chairman for the event, announced the appointment of Third “District Cups & Saucers” of Bellmont Service Center.

Brown named to urban group

The membership session was held at 1:30 Thursday afternoon at the Clinton County Community Center. Mrs. Arthur Wood, chairwoman of the Committee, introduced the speaker, Mrs. John Sinicropi, chairman of the committee.

Mrs. Sinicropi then introduced the guest speakers and made up the slate of candidates for the coming year. Mrs. John Rumbaugh, general chairman for the event, announced the appointment of Third “District Cups & Saucers” of Bellmont Service Center.

Canned goods are plentiful in May

by WILLIAM H. MARSH
Estabrook House Enewetak

May is a month in which "canned" goods are plentiful, especially in the Pacific islands such as Saipan, Guam, and Palau. These islands are home to U.S. military bases and are known for their high humidity which preserves canned goods well.

One can imagine the smell of freshly canned goods reaching your nostrils as you search the shelves of the local commissary. The aroma of tomatoes, beans, and other vegetables fills the air, making your mouth water in anticipation of a hearty meal.

Canned goods were essential during wartime, especially during conflicts like World War II when fresh produce was scarce. These islands are still in use today by the military, and canned goods remain a staple for their inhabitants.

Improvements include his wife, Laura LeVanselor, two sons, Edward and Raymond, Jr.; two grandsons; and eight great-grandchildren.

Open Letter from Van W. Hoag

Dear friends,

If a family death occurs in another city, ask your local funeral director to arrange for a local funeral director to come to your city to see if they can be of help. Funeral directors do this all the time.

Sincerely,

Van W. Hoag

Ballenger offers tax share plan

State Representative William H. Ballenger has introduced a resolution urging Congress to make the system of federal aid to the states a permanent and long-term solution to the problems of both political parties and the federal government.

Representative Ballenger asked the House of Representatives not to vote on any tax increase proposals that would benefit the federal government over the last 10 years.

There are many reasons for revising the tax share plan, Ballenger said. One of the most important is the shift of the federal government over the last 10 years.

In the modern state of the federal government, Ballenger said, "the American middle class believes that every dollar of federal aid is obtained indirectly through the federal government."

4-H project of weather study begins
Weather has always been man's constant companion. It has been recorded for thousands of years, and the study of weather patterns is crucial for understanding the climate and its impacts on our daily lives.

The project includes various activities to study weather patterns, such as:
1. Gathering historical weather data
2. Analyzing current weather conditions
3. Conducting experiments to understand weather phenomena

The project will provide young people with an opportunity to learn more about weather, develop critical thinking skills, and apply knowledge to real-world situations.

School paper wins award
The William York, student manager of the Bethel S. Winkel High School, has been named the winner of the 1969 National Newspaper Association's Sportsmanship Award. The paper's win was due to its consistent focus on the community and its efforts to promote sportsmanship and ethical behavior in the newsroom.

The award recognizes the dedication of the school newspaper to fostering a positive and inclusive environment for all students.

Outline practices for erosion control

By ROBERT MOORE, Director, Clinton County Soil and Water Conservation District

All users of land have a responsibility to keep soil and water quality in mind. This includes farmers, builders, and others who may come into contact with land-use problems. These practices may minimizing soil erosion and water runoff from development projects. This practice is to be used in the planning and design of all buildings, as well as the construction of any building on the property. This practice also includes the installation of adequate drainage systems to control water runoff. A fiber glass silt fence means a cool and comfortable home. The installation of a fiber glass silt fence will help to control water runoff and prevent erosion of the soil. When installing a fiber glass silt fence, the following steps should be taken:

1. Clear the area of all vegetation and debris.
2. Install the fiber glass silt fence along the contour of the property.
3. Secure the fiber glass silt fence with stakes or other anchoring devices.
4. Ensure that the fiber glass silt fence is installed at the proper elevation to control water runoff.

Outlines of the week

Two surveys of consumer confidence, one sponsored by a "Budget" magazine and the other by the Michigan Farm Bureau, have been released. The Michigan Farm Bureau's survey, which includes 1,000 farmers across the state, indicates that the majority of farmers are optimistic about the future of agriculture. The survey also shows a trend towards increased farm income and a decrease in farm debt. The survey was conducted in March and April of 1969, and the results were released in May of the same year.

Soil Stewardship Week scheduled May 11-18

Bill Shoemaker Agronomy, a segment of the Carter L. H. Shoemaker Club, will be held at the Michigan State University campus in East Lansing on May 11. The event will feature a variety of speakers discussing topics related to Soil Stewardship Week. The week will also feature field trips to various locations around the state, where farmers can learn more about the importance of soil conservation.

The City Commission meeting

Meeting of the City Commission, Tuesday, May 11, 1969

The City Commission meeting will be held on Tuesday, May 11, 1969. The meeting will begin promptly at 9:00 a.m. and will be held in the City Commission chambers located at 123 East Main Street, Fenton, MI. The meeting is open to the public and anyone wishing to attend is encouraged to do so. The meeting will include discussions on a variety of topics, including updates on city operations, budget discussions, and other issues pertinent to the city of Fenton.

General discussions concerning soil conservation

At the meeting, the City Commission will discuss the importance of soil conservation and its impact on local communities. The discussion will include the benefits of soil conservation, such as reduced soil erosion and improved water quality. The commission will also consider potential actions that can be taken to promote soil conservation in the community. This discussion is an opportunity for residents to learn more about the importance of soil conservation and to share their thoughts and concerns about this issue.

On Wednesday, April 28, the St. Johns United Methodist Church held its 65th annual meeting. Miss Green put a memorial plaque in honor of Rev. E. W. Foster, the church's first pastor, who died in 1968. Miss Green also told about some of the 82 girls who were given by Mrs. George Brooks. The invocation was given by Mrs. Howard Stimson, and the roll call of clubs found 66 members present. Mrs. Wayne Finkbeiner, county president, opened the meeting. She stated that the SDS contest was over she showed us the pictures of the winners. She taught English to the seventh grade at the Ovid-Duplain High School and the Ovid-Duplain Library Club met at the Fritz home on Big Rock Road. There were 11 members and one guest present.

Woodland judging contest held

The past annual Clinton County Woodland judging and evaluation contest was held May 7, 1969, at the Ovid-Duplain High School. The event was sponsored by the Ovid-Duplain High School chapter of the Coq-Elite FFA and the Clinton County Woodland judging committee. The contest was open to all Clinton County high schools.

The contest was held to determine the relative condition of woodland areas and to promote the proper care and development of woodland resources. The contest was divided into two parts: the field examination and the written examination. The field examination was held on the morning of May 7, and the written examination was held on the afternoon of May 7.

The field examination consisted of the evaluation of woodland areas by the contestants. The woodland areas were evaluated on a number of factors, including tree health and vigor, soil conditions, and management practices. The written examination consisted of a questionnaire on woodland management, woodland ecology, and related topics.

The contestants were judged on the accuracy and completeness of their field examinations and written examinations. The contest was judged by a panel of woodland experts, including foresters, wildlife biologists, and conservationists.

The price of repeal

A basic law of nature has always been work or starve. The expanding U. S. welfare system is rapidly exceeding its limits. It is starting to starve.
Dear Editor:

I recently received a newspaper clipping which I happened to put in the file (the article appeared in the May 13, 1966 issue). The article was headed "Anybody Seen the Demon..." and was accompanied by a picture of a soldier's view of the demon-a land torn by war. Here we are, I thought, vowing to protest a thing, when we see poor people with their eyes closed.

There's a war to be won. There's a war to be won. When we see poor people, and nothing more.

I wrote a poem, and I will send it in, if you will allow me to do so.

Thank you for taking the time to read it. Sincerely,

More of them needed, officials say

Foster parents — the greatest

Foster homes to Clinton County have lately needed, according to William Fox, new mother to charge of family and child services on the staff of the Clinton County Department of Social Services.

Foster care of many children, for the past few years, has been owned and operated by the county. The situation especially needed the help of the family group. Couples with overloads and needs often in the house can become foster parents. They file an application and are put in contact with the nearest social service.

All of the county's children are under the direction of the department of social services. The clinic is run by a family and child department member of the department of social services, under the direction of the department member from the department board. However, money should be given to any foster parents.

Each of the children, when healthy, may be placed in the foster home. The child is in the home. The child cannot leave the home.

The department places great emphasis on making successful placements.

Bill Fox at the Department of Social Services checks the children's records against the requirements filed by prospective foster parents.
