off. He was voted Earth Science Teacher of the Year by the students at Fowler's Holy Cross School, in St. Johns.

Actually, they are working on a national project, sponsored by the U.S.D.A. Soil Conservation Service, which is entitled
"The Origin of the Earth to the Arrival of Man on the Moon.",

The scale is 250,000 years per inch of drawing and students must learn to think in very small increments of time. As a student progresses, the projects become more independent and he must learn to think for himself.

DeWitt nursery a cooperative venture

DeWitt - In October 1973 the DeWitt Cooperative Nursery School began its operation with the certificate of incorporation. The school was organized by interested parents who were seeking an alternative to the existing nursery schools in the area.

The school was begun in January of 1974, and the initial classes were offered to children aged 3 and 4. The school is housed in the former DeWitt Elementary School, with snack time and other activities. Some of the play equipment was furnished partly by the local community and partly by the children. Other toys include a variety of items such as a slide, notebook, and a slide projector.

The school is an ideal place for children to learn and grow, and the teachers and parents who assist donate their time and efforts to make the school a success.

May this be a nice way to say I love you.

The hospital officials of this county have been busy this past year, doing little things to improve the lives of people. One of the most significant was the opening of the new hospital in downtown St. Johns. The hospital officials are proud of the American Legion and Auxiliaries to these veterans and they have been instrumental in making sure everything is up to par. The new wing will be ready by July 17, 1973. The new hospital is a multi-story structure, containing 180 beds. The hospital was dedicated by President and Mrs. Roy Davis, and the new wing will be opened to the public later this year.

Sister Mary Paul, daughter of Mrs. and Mr. Joseph Pulliam of Maple Rapids, has just married the Rev. John Pulliam of St. Johns. The couple plan to move to the city to pursue their careers. The couple has been married for 26 years and have two children. They are the donors of the new wing of the hospital.

MOVIE

The movie of the week is "A New Life" starring Bette Davis and Alain Delon. The film tells the story of a woman who returns to her hometown after years of absence and must confront her past. The movie is rated PG and has a runtime of 110 minutes.

Watergate: lesson for us all

Watergate could be a tragic lesson right down to our great-grandchildren. Let's hope not.

The lesson? A country of mercurial legislators, a revelation to few. The fact is, money and lots of it has more to do with the running of our state than responsible governance.

Watergate has shown us that the integrity and devotion to serving the public might, perhaps, have been lost during the trip to "victory in Vietnam."

Why do we comment on this in a local county newspaper? Because, that's where the whole thing starts.

Right here at home is where the original vote comes from on the way to building that big picture in Lansing and Washington.

A network news commentator suggested the other evening that campaign contributions be done away with in favor of a system fixed at a set figure.

Presidential Candidate would have X number of dollars, as would have Candidate B. Senator Z would have no more than Y, etc. and so on. If properly controlled, such fund procedures would eliminate much of the "lavish buying" and give us a more equal view of all candidates.

It's worth thinking about.

You are what you litter

An annual effort has once again accomplished a great deal in removing a county-wide eyesore, the litter problem. People of the county have been doing their part, so far as they can.

The litter problem is being handled by a group of approximately 25, including those people chosen as 4-H clubs, Boy Scouts and other volunteer groups.

These young people are donating their free time, amounting to hours, to correct the blight caused by careless litterers throughout the county.

We thank those groups and individuals who take upon themselves to clean up our roadsides.

In our opinion those individuals who make the above hours rate about the same as the scene they leave in their path.

88th District Report by Stanley Powell

State Representative

 Stark people had predicted that it would never see the "light of day," but a tax relief package which is expected to benefit every county in the state has been adopted by the Michigan Senate. The legislation is due to be signed by the Governor for approval. It will be a short but sweet victory for a legislator and a taxpayer in St. Johns who fought long and hard to get his general fund block proposed.

The tax bill adopted last week would have, when fully phased in, reduced property taxes by more than $2,000,000 in the county alone, a reduction equal to one million dollars per year. The new revenue will be used to provide services that were being cut back due to previous budget reductions.

"Governor Parson's" budget proposal was rejected by the House, but they will still have to come up with a new one. The Governor has said that it is his intention to provide further tax relief and that he will not accept a budget that does not provide this relief.

While the Governor's budget may not provide the tax relief that the taxpayers want, the House has already shown that it is willing to work with the Governor to find a solution. The House has already approved a number of tax relief measures, and it is expected that these will be included in the final budget.

The Governor's budget is expected to be released in early March, and it will be up to the House to approve or reject it. The Governor has said that he will not sign a budget that does not provide tax relief, and it is expected that the House will also demand this relief.

The House has already shown that it is willing to work with the Governor to find a solution. The House has already approved a number of tax relief measures, and it is expected that these will be included in the final budget.
Farm Tips

Organic food is produced inorganically

WILLIAM LARKIN

Agricultural Services Agent

Many advantages of organic farming and gardening are readily available to people who wish to grow plants without the use of manufactured chemicals. Organic farming generally refers to growing crops without synthetic fertilizers or pesticides, whereas organic gardening provides a method of growing plants without the use of chemicals often used in conventional gardening.

Organic farming and gardening do not mean that plants are grown without chemicals. Organic farming and gardening mean that chemical fertilizers and pesticides are not used to enhance yield or fight pests. Soil fertility is maintained through composting, organic matter, and crop rotation. Nutrients are replenished through organic methods and therefore better sustained. It is a growing movement of those who wish to produce food organically.

The concept of growing food without the use of inorganic fertilizers is not new. Many crops grown in the past were considered organically grown because there were no chemicals available to grow the crops. However, inorganic fertilizers are defined as chemicals that enhance crop growth. Therefore, fertilizers that are not organically defined as being inorganic are being used to increase crop yields.

The use of inorganic fertilizers is looked down upon by some people who believe that organic fertilizers are better for the environment. However, the use of inorganic fertilizers is looked upon as being more efficient in growing crops, as there are more inorganic fertilizers available to enhance crop growth.

Eating organic food provides a variety of health benefits. It is important to consider the health benefits of organic food because they can help reduce the risk of certain diseases and can help maintain a healthy diet.

A small gardener may have to rely on custom mix fertilizers because not all fertilizers are available. Inorganic fertilizers, however, can be used to enhance crop growth and therefore improve the quality of food grown organically.

Farm Bureau Custom-mix fertilizer is tailored-made for your exact field and yield needs.

Farming Bureau Custom-mix fertilizer is blended to meet your crop needs according to your specific soil requirements.

Since soil fertility is affected by the crop previously harvested, you should have your soil tested each year to determine if you need to add any fertilizers to the soil. This is important because the fertility of the soil will change from year to year.

The way it pays to rely on Farm Bureau Custom-mix fertilizer, is you get exactly what you need and only what you need, which is important because you don’t want to add too much or too little fertilizer to the soil.

Have your soil tested often, and as seasonal changes change, have the organic specialists change needs in your Custom-mix fertilizer.

The end of March marked the completion of the Tri-County Regional Planning Commission (TCRPC)’s work highlighted by the year-long Planning Handbook project funded by the Planning Commission.

The handbook was produced by the Regional Information Management (RIM) team at the Planning Commission.

The program opened with the singing of Pass Me, This Song Was Dedicated. The program included an introduction, a keynote address, and a panel discussion.

The program was well-attended by members of the planning community, including local building officials, representatives from various agencies, and members of the public.

The program included a keynote address by a prominent figure in the planning community.

The program ended with a Q&A session, where attendees were encouraged to ask questions about the planning process and the handbook itself.

The program was well-received by attendees, who expressed their appreciation for the comprehensive information provided in the handbook and the valuable insights shared by the panelists.

The TCRP, a non-profit organization, is dedicated to improving the quality of life in the Tri-County region through the development of sound planning policies and programs.

The TCRP’s mission is to provide the Tri-County region with a comprehensive planning framework that will guide its future growth and development.

The Tri-County Planning Commission is supported by a grant from the state of Michigan and other local and federal agencies.

The TCRP’s work is supported by a dedicated team of volunteers and professionals who work tirelessly to ensure that the region’s growth is sustainable and equitable.

The TCRP thanks its partners and supporters for their continued support, and encourages all residents of the Tri-County region to become involved in the planning process.

The TCRP encourages all residents of the Tri-County region to become involved in the planning process and to provide their input on future planning initiatives.
