Marauders pull win from fire

OVI-FOX—Junior Longoria's run-scoring single in the seventh inning was the difference as St. John's won the opening night game of the 1971 season 2-0 over the visiting Marauders of the Midland Bullock School at the St. Johns High School baseball field Tuesday, May 12.

With one out in the seventh inning, Longoria singled following Mike Leaks from around home for the winning margin. Leslie singled to start the inning and went to second on an error. Cinne Blew, on a wild pitch, scored to give the Marauders the lead-off batter was retired. The next Marauder hit came earlier on a Fabus' single. The only other Marauder hit came on a single by Bruce Longoria in the seventh inning.

The Raseys' shop is located in the Old Farm House and Barn in Alma. They opened the shop in 1931 and have been in business ever since.

Mr. Rasey, who is a retired farmer, said the business has been successful because of the demand for antiques.

The shop is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 1 to 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Mr. Rasey also serves as the shop's manager, while Mrs. Rasey handles the sales and personnel.

Mr. Rasey has always been interested in antiques and has collected several years ago in order to supply his own home. He has a "Treasure Room" in the shop where he keepsantiques.

The people who visit the shop come from all over the country, including several who have never been to a store like this before.

In fact, some of the items in the shop are so rare that they can only be found in this store.

Among the treasures on display are a set of antique china, a set of antique silverware, and a set of antique glassware.

The shop is also home to many other antiques, such as old photographs, old letters, and old documents.

The Raseys' collection is constantly growing, and they are always on the lookout for new treasures to add to their collection.

The registration forms are available at the health department office by 4 p.m. on Monday, May 15.

County residents who wish to register their children for the treatment should bring in the completed forms to the health department office by 4 p.m. on Monday, May 15.

Customers must notify Gentel

LARRY S. JOHNSON, manager of the 4-H office, said that all members must notify the office when they have moved or changed their address. "We need to know where to send the applications," he said. Pollution: serious subject for youths

Dennis Whitlock, seventh and eighth grader, wrote to him on the subject of the environment. He believes that pollution is a problem that must be addressed. Whitlock states that pollution is everywhere and that people must take action to prevent it.

Whitlock mentions that pollution comes from many sources, including factories, cars, and agricultural activities. He argues that pollution is not just a problem for the future, but that it is affecting people's health and the environment right now.

Whitlock ends his letter by urging everyone to take responsibility for protecting the environment. He believes that we all have a role to play in making the world a cleaner and healthier place to live.

The letter is a call to action for all of us to think about how we can reduce our impact on the environment and work towards a better future for ourselves and future generations.

Meantest Mother

Last Sunday was Mother's Day. This article entitled "The Meantest Mother" was written by my wife and was used on the People's Page of the newspaper. The story had been republished in many forms since. If you've never read it, you might want to read it before, it always proves refreshing to reread it.

I HAD THE MEANTEST MOTHER in the whole world. While the other kids ate candy for breakfast, I had to eat cereal, eggs or toast. When others had Coca Cola and candy for lunch, I had to eat a sandwich. As you can guess, my wages were greater than the other kids' also.

But, at least, I wasn't alone in my suffering. The other two brothers had the same mean mother.

My mother insisted upon knowing where we were at all times. You'd think we were on a chain gang. She had to know who our friends were and what we were doing. She was so mean I'd be gone an hour, and she'd yell for me. But, at least, we had a wind of our own and did as we pleased.

That poor belt was used more on my reclines than it was to hold up our pants. She could imagine someone actually sitting a child just because he didn't obey her. I wonder how she knew how mean she really was.

WE HAD TO WEAR CLEAN CLOTHES and take a bath. The other kids always wore their clothes for days. We reach the height of laziness because she made our clothes herself, just to save money. Why, she did, however, love to do it. I think it helped her feel different from our other mothers.

This was the worst period to come. We had to be in bed by nine each night and up at eight the next morning. We couldn't sleep till morning. We couldn't sleep till morning. We couldn't sleep till morning. We couldn't sleep till morning. We couldn't sleep till morning.

Through the years, things didn't improve a bit. We could hold up Daddy's pants. Can you see how mean she really was.

The year rolled by, first then the others, and then the oldest. We graduated from high school. With our mother behind us, talking, praying, and doing all possible to keep us from growing up, we were all able to go to a school function.

Our marks in school had to be up to par. Our friends' reports had to be up to par. We had to work them, black for passing, red for failing. My mother, being as strict as she was, made me work at school and study for nothing less than ugly marks.

The years rolled by, first then the others, and then the oldest. We graduated from college. With our mother behind us, talking, praying, and doing all possible to keep us from growing up, we were all able to go to a school function.

My mother was a complete failure as a mother. Out of the four children, none of us was allowed the freedom to go to a school function or to attend American Legion Auxiliary and Miss Stachel is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. We had tried to prove ourselves to her for years, but she wouldn't allow us to go to a school function. I never thought I'd be so thankful for a second chance.

I am nearly ashamed to admit it, but in the end she let us go to a school function. I can't believe it. I think she regretted it.

Through the years, things didn't improve a bit. We could hold up Daddy's pants. Can you see how mean she really was.

One Year Ago

May 14, 1961

A rural Mafia Family murdered three of its own members in a drive by shooting, and one other was killed in the same incident. The incident occurred in the early morning hours in a small town in rural California.

The victims, including two brothers and their father, were shot execution-style in the back of the car as they fled the scene of the crime. The triple murder was the latest in a series of similar incidents in the area.

The Mafia Family, known for its involvement in illegal activities, has been under the spotlight for the past few years. The family's leadership has been the subject of much speculation and rumors.

The family's leader, a notorious figure in the underworld, has been reported to have gone into hiding after the incident. The police are currently investigating the case and are seeking further information from the public.

Two years later, the same incident was repeated in a town in rural Texas. The family's leader was believed to have involved himself in the case, and the police were called in to investigate.

25 Years Ago

May 14, 1936

In the small town of Festival City, Wisconsin, a group of children were playing in the street when one of them ran into a parked car. The accident resulted in the death of the child.

The driver of the car, a local resident, was charged with vehicular manslaughter and was found guilty in court. The case received widespread media coverage and sparked public debate on the issue of safety in urban environments.

The town's leaders took immediate action to improve safety measures and ensure the well-being of the community. They installed traffic lights at key intersections and provided safety education to children and adults.

The incident remained a tragic reminder of the importance of vigilance and community involvement in the prevention of accidents and the protection of vulnerable populations.

Delays in Retirement

By Rep. Dick Allen

Retirement is a concept that has been around for centuries, with various definitions and interpretations depending on cultural and societal contexts. In many societies, retirement is considered a time of transition from work to leisure, allowing individuals to pursue activities that were not possible during their working years.

However, in modern societies, retirement has become more complex, with increased life expectancy and changes in social and economic structures. The concept of retirement has evolved to encompass a multitude of factors, including financial stability, health, and personal fulfillment.

In the United States, the average age of retirement has increased significantly over the past few decades, with more people choosing to continue working past the traditional age of retirement. This phenomenon has been attributed to various factors, including financial needs, social integration, and personal interests.

The federal government has implemented various policies and programs to support individuals in planning for retirement and ensuring financial security during this period. However, there are still challenges in providing adequate retirement benefits and ensuring that individuals have the resources to maintain their standard of living during retirement.

Delays in retirement can have significant impacts on individuals and society as a whole. These challenges highlight the need for continued efforts in developing policies and programs to support individuals in achieving financial security and fulfilling their retirement dreams.
Three bills were introduced in the State Senate last week, each of which would contribute to the protection of those who are unable to earn a living. The bills were introduced in order to provide necessary protection for third party creditors, those who are forced to continue paying installment contracts to third parties, and those who are being forced to continue paying bills in the condition agreed to be paid.

The bills would make financial institutions accountable for their representations to patrons of public utilities and banks. The bills would also require financial institutions to provide a written statement to patrons concerning notice to patrons of public utilities and banks. The bills would provide financial institutions with the obligation to provide this written statement to patrons in order to protect those who are being forced to continue paying bills in the condition agreed to be paid.

The bills are similar in that they would require financial institutions to provide notice to patrons of public utilities and banks. The bills would also require financial institutions to provide a written statement to patrons concerning notice to patrons of public utilities and banks. The bills would provide financial institutions with the obligation to provide this written statement to patrons in order to protect those who are being forced to continue paying bills in the condition agreed to be paid.

The proposed bills would be introduced in the House of Representatives to authorize funds for the extension of the President's Other Domestic and International Exchange Program. The bills will shift to the Senate and will be introduced in the Senate by Senator Robert S. Johns, Michigan. At that time they will be assigned to the Senate Committee of the Judiciary, and will be acted on by the Senate Committee of the Judiciary.
