Michigan Week is next week

Clark County schools, local and county governmental agencies, will present a number of special observances and events. Highlights include the annual tradition of May Day observances celebrated by many communities throughout the county, along with a number of other special observances and events.

Great fun—hunting fossils in a stone pile

Mrs. Gertrude Lipton, teacher at St. Olive School, and a long time rock hounding is combining work and play for her 29 graders. In observance of "Michigan Week" they are studying rock fossils formed by living animals of the past. They donated the fossils from a stone pile, which came from the Walling Grovel pit. It will now serve a double purpose for it fills up some muddy spots in the drive and the school children will be able to look for fossils whenever they have free time. They found such treasures as tabulate, Petoskey, chain coral and many others. The fossils found will be on display at a open house at the school.

Name new church minister

The new minister of the First Baptist Church, St. Johns, will be Rev. Gerald E. Wood, from the First Baptist Church of Traverse City. He will hold the pulpit at St. Johns, succeeding Rev. Neil Clark who is reverting to Traverse City.

He has been graduated from Western Michigan University and the Andrews University Seminary. He has been the pastor of the First Baptist Church of Escanaba, Mich., and is now the pastor of the First Baptist Church of Traverse City. He will hold the pulpit at St. Johns for a trial period of six months, after which time the congregation will have an opportunity to vote on his appointment.

Road report

By ROBERT RUNGMA
Road Clerk

The heavy rains have caused some washouts in the county roads during the last week. There were numerous cases of washouts, and our own men worked overtime Friday to repair the worst of them.

A number of washouts were reported as a result of the heavy downpours. It is estimated that this damage caused an average of $200 per mile of road. The washouts were reported on Bliss Road, Union Road, and others.

The washouts are caused by the heavy rains that have fallen during the past week. The roads have not had sufficient time to drain, and the washouts are caused by the heavy rain falling on the road surface.

The Hoboys, in Western Mich. league, nearly broke the record for the 100 yard dash, which was held by Greensboro, Va. The Hoboys' time of 10.5 seconds was only 0.5/100 of a second slower than the record set in 1962.

HEAVY RAINDS CAUSE FLOOD DAMAGE

With rainfall above normal in Clinton County, farm fields are finding it impossible to start their spring planting. This week on Woldumar Road is one of the worst, but farmers are observing for a little less rain and a lot more sunshine through-out the state. City dwellers are having their problems, too, with wet basements and muddy streets.

Clinton 4-H Chatter

258 miles of county roadsides cleaned up

Among the groups picking up Friday May 3 was the Green Clinton County 4-H Club. All members here with leader Mrs Paul Bennett are Pamela Bennett, Clifford Harvey, Susan Helling, Cathy Rademacher, Paulite Byam, Lila Kastor, Carolyn White and Harold White. At the request of the Court House in St. Johns, the Clinton County 4-H Club on May 16, 1969, at a little before 10 a.m. at the old train depot, the members volunteered to clean the area surrounding the train depot. The train depot was cleaned by the 4-H Club and other community groups.

Foster parents describe "how it is" at their home

By Mrs. Shirley Jacobi

In last week's Home page we dis- cussed with Mrs. Paul Slinkard, a retired physician and foster parent in Clinton County, her experience with foster children. Mrs. Slinkard is one of the many devoted foster parents in our area who provide temporary homes for children in need.

The foster parents are a diverse group of individuals who have taken on the responsibility of caring for children who are not able to live with their families. Foster parenting can be challenging, but it also offers a rewarding opportunity to make a positive impact on the lives of children.

Mrs. Slinkard described the unique role that she plays as a foster parent. She shared her experiences with the children under her care and the joy and challenges that come with fostering.

Foster parents are often referred to by their title, such as "Mr. or Mrs." and the name of the school district. Some foster parents may also have additional titles, such as "Director" or "Principal.

The foster parents play a vital role in the lives of the children they care for. They provide a stable environment, help children develop important life skills, and support them in their academic and personal growth.

Foster parents are always looking for new volunteers to help them with the children in their care. If you are interested in becoming a foster parent, contact your local social services agency for more information.

Volunteers needed by local chapter

The St. Johns Public Schools has begun to build a new school for "foster children" whose education is being provided by the school system. The school will house 170 students, and is expected to be complete within the year.

Volunteers are needed to help with the construction and maintenance of the new school. If you are interested in volunteering, contact the school district or your local social services agency for more information.

Lot bought for student house work

The St. Johns Public Schools has purchased a lot near the high school for the purpose of building a student residence hall. The lot is located on the south side of State Street, and is expected to be ready for occupancy by fall of 1969.

The lot was purchased by the school district with funds provided by the school's auxiliary organization. The residence hall will provide housing for students who are unable to live at home due to family circumstances.

Members of the community have been invited to participate in the construction of the residence hall. If you are interested in volunteering, contact the school district or your local social services agency for more information.

Dairymen invest heavily in new housing systems

Michigan dairymen are buying $300 to $500 per cow for new equipment to convert their premises toward this new system, "says Prof. C. R. Ray Hoglund, MSU State University farm expert. "These investments include the freestall barn, milking facility and milking equipment, hand milking stations and milk treatments and equipment," are some major reasons for the trend toward this new system," he says.

According to the MSU scientist, the new diary barn systems become very competitive to other systems when the cow is going from an 80- to 90-lb. milk production. "The investments are lowered by 50 and annual costs are $15 per cow less than the $25 or 30-lb. system. All of these advantages plus lower labor costs, less culling, rationalization and ventilation for the milking and feeding are all built-in. Therefore, the $300 to $500 per cow for new, increased man comfort in handling, and better milking conditions are all worth the investment," he adds.

"For our central Michigan farm system, the extra costs is $500 and annual costs will be reduced by $25 to $30. The milk production will be increased by $30 to $40 per cow," Hoglund says. "The situation in Michigan is the same as in the rest of the Midwest. "The investments are lowered by 50 and annual costs are $15 per cow less than the $25 or 30-lb. system. EXTENSION REPORT

More choice available for corn-weed chemicals

By GEORGE MQUEEN

More choices are now available for chemicals to weed corn crops successfully. Weeds are still a constant problem, but always the need for new chemicals in the market that will control them is high. This need is further accentuated by the fact that weeds are up for a broadleaf weed season.

There are two primary weed problems to be controlled in the corn field this year. The first is broadleaf weeds, and the second is grasses. Weeds of a variety like that grown in Germany are not too rare, since the interval between like phases is 29.53059 days.

One way is to broaden the spectrum of weed control chemicals. Other factors recommended for use are Lorraine, Primaze, and Sutan. Also, a little more care should be given to the hoe for grasses.

On corn, early planting or a delay in planting is recommended to prevent early grasses. Also, a delayed planting calendar could be used to prevent the weeds.

Humble yet Proud

He marvels at the majesty of the clouds and the vastness of the sky. He reflects on the wonders of the world around him. He is awed, humbled—yet, at the same time, reverently proud.

His feelings contrasted each other. For he knows he is a small creature dwarfed by the overwhelming glory of nature, yet, at the same time, a man invested in the image of God.

Of course, we all need to be humble, but we also need to be proud. In one case we are insignificant, and in another we are overwhelming. The problem lies in finding the proper balance between the two.

To understand the whole man—the all of you, you must turn to His Church where God is formed revealing the mysteries of His universe. Here we are taught truths that have endured throughout the ages. Here we need cases if we are to find the proper balance in life.

The City of DeWitt

The City of DeWitt has recently announced the winners of the first annual essay contest. The essay contest was open to all DeWitt High School students.

The first prize winner was Jonathan D. Pulling, who submitted an essay on the topic “Why I Want to Be an Engineer.” His essay was evaluated by the judges and was chosen as the best entry.

The second prize winner was John Smith, who submitted an essay on the topic “The Importance of Education.” His essay was also evaluated by the judges and was chosen as the second best entry.

The third prize winner was Jane Doe, who submitted an essay on the topic “The Future of DeWitt.” Her essay was also evaluated by the judges and was chosen as the third best entry.

The essay contest was sponsored by the DeWitt High School English Department and was held to encourage students to express their thoughts and ideas on various topics.

The City of DeWitt thanked all the participants for their involvement and expressed its appreciation for their contributions to the community.

Store your electric blanket properly

Tips to help you store your electric blanket properly:

1. Fold the Blanket Before Storing: Start by folding the blanket in half lengthwise to create a neat and compact package. This helps in maintaining the shape and reducing wrinkles.

2. Rolling vs. Folding: Rolling the blanket can also be effective, but make sure to roll it carefully to avoid creases or folds. Consider using a rolling pin or a long, smooth surface to make the process easier.

3. Wrap with a Blanket or Towel: If you choose to fold the blanket, consider wrapping it with another blanket or towel to protect it from dust and damage.

4. Plastic Bag: Encase the blanket in a plastic bag to further protect it from dust and moisture. This also helps in keeping it clean and fresh.

5. Label the Bag: Write the name of the blanket inside the plastic bag to remind yourself of its contents. This is especially useful if you store multiple blankets.

6. Store in a Cool, Dry Place: Avoid storing your electric blanket in damp or humid areas. Keep it in a cool, dry place away from direct sunlight to prevent fading or warping.

7. Check for Damage Before Use: Always check the blanket for any signs of damage before using it again. This includes checking for cracks, fraying, or any other wear that may affect its performance.

8. Temperature Guidelines: Electric blankets often have temperature settings. Store the blanket in a place where the temperature does not exceed the recommended maximum. This helps in prolonging its life.

By following these tips, you can ensure that your electric blanket is stored properly, maintaining its functionality and longevity.
A Good Story

An editorial worthy of mention was recently published in The Gazette. It recalled the depression days of the thirties and how hard times brought people together. This story, concerning a family in Iowa, a farm family which couldn't make its mortgage payment because of the slump in commodity prices, can be applicable today.

As in legally accepted procedure, all possessions had to be sold by the sheriff at auction. And when auction day arrived some 15 neighboring farmers were on hand, ready to buy the auctioned farm that the bankrupt farmer's six prize mules. A farmer but two dollars. There were no mules, but the face of this Iowa boy with his glasses met steel eyes from every farmer at the sale, the auction proceeded with the auction. Machinery brought a dollar or two, or fifty cents; other possessions brought similar amounts. The sale ended and—every buyer had a legal bill of sale, with the sheriff's stamp attached.

Then they all gathered together and went over to the bankrupt farmer, their neighbor, and gave him the bills of sale. He was back in business again, free of strife—and hatreds—this is a story to remember.

Farming-still strong

Sometimes people get the idea that farming is on the way out here in Michigan. Great emphasis is placed on Michigan's industrial wealth and agriculture is somehow times given a backseat in discussions on the state economy.

Nothing could be further from the truth. . . . Michigan farmers received 830 million in cash income last year and these products have a retail value of nearly $3.3 billion.

Agriculture is the second source of income in Michigan. Agriculture is a way of life—though some of its time-honored traditions may be. Farming remains a powerful and productive way of life. It is a part of Michigan's economy and it is made great by a handful of people who operate efficiently and effectively. Only one out of 100 Michigan citizens operates a farm. . . . yet this 1 per cent of the populations creates the second largest source of economic wealth in the state.

To Ruth 4/30/69

Dear Ruth,

You gave me the idea you will sit well. Please remember that. You gave me the idea you don't have to worry about "I've been planning a lot for you." You gave me the idea that "To do your best to have her come is the only way she can think." You gave me the idea that I've been putting a lot of work in the last few years. You gave me the idea that I've been making a lot of friends.

Thank you for everything. You've been a great help to me. You've helped me a lot. You've helped me a lot by talking to me and being patient. You've helped me a lot by giving me the idea that I can do it. You've helped me a lot by giving me the idea that I can do it. You've helped me a lot by giving me the idea that I can do it. You've helped me a lot by giving me the idea that I can do it. You've helped me a lot by giving me the idea that I can do it.

War protestor's letter brings stinging reply

Dear Editor:

After reading Kong Ping's statement on the role in the world the United States was playing I was appalled. I have come to the conclusion that we need to leave the Gulf of Tonkin. I believe that the United States is too powerful and that we should not interfere in the internal affairs of other countries. I strongly urge the government to end the war as soon as possible.

Soldier: 'You don't kiss a man with a gun' (From Chicago Sun-Times, 12/2/1969)

Dear Editor:

I would like to express my concern about the recent increase in violent crime. It is disturbing to see that people are resorting to violence to settle their disputes. I urge the authorities to take strong action to curb this trend.

Hung up on bell-bottoms

By JON HUARD

It was not very long ago, but I hope the people who discovered them are now ready to dispose of the bell-bottoms as a fad. I am a veteran of the bell-bottoms era and I can say with certainty that they are not the answer to the world's problems.

I believe that the bell-bottoms craze started as a way to express rebel against the establishment. It was a way to show that people could do things their own way and not follow the rules. I can remember the days when people wore bell-bottoms and were considered rebels.

In conclusion, I believe that the bell-bottoms craze was a way to express rebellion against the establishment. I urge the authorities to take action to curb this trend. Thank you for listening.

Younger smokers

By ELMER E. WYTHE

Health insurance underwriters are concerned with the growing proportion of younger persons who are getting access to health care. The younger generation is a large and important economic force, and the underwriters fear that if they do not get proper care, they will not be able to contribute to the economy in the future. It is important for younger people to get health insurance to protect themselves from illness or injury.
