The junk car scourge

By LOWELL G. RINKER, Editor

"Take a ride through the county of Clinton County and you'll find Mayor of junk cars is the joke that people have heard for years. Although the problem is still there, it seems to be getting worse."

The junk car problem is one that has been a constant concern for the community. Despite efforts to address it, the number of junk cars continues to grow, causing frustration and inconvenience for residents.

The mayor has called for a comprehensive solution to the problem, emphasizing the need for a coordinated approach involving multiple stakeholders. The plan involves a combination of enforcement, education, and incentives to encourage the proper disposal of junk cars.

The Clinton County News has been working closely with local authorities to provide coverage on this issue, aiming to raise awareness and foster solutions. We encourage our readers to stay informed and contribute to the efforts in addressing this longstanding problem.

County fluoride program planned

The Clinton County Board of Commissioners has approved a plan to institute its countywide fluoride program for the 1967-68 school term. The action was taken at the regular meeting held last Monday evening, June 19.

The program is scheduled to start in the county's rural schools on July 25 and will continue through August 15. It is estimated that a total of 10,000 children will be treated in the county during this period.

Merchandise stolen from parked auto

George L. Myers of 113 1/2 St. in St. Johns reported that his Auto-omatic Instamatic camera, valued at $125, was stolen from his auto parked in the city last Wednesday. The thief got into the auto by picking the lock and then removed it from the back seat. The loss is a real blow to George L. Myers who is a photography enthusiast and keeps a well-stocked film collection in his home.

OK new rural combinations

The combining of 16 rural schools into eight rural combinations was approved at the St. Johns Board of Education last Wednesday evening. It was unanimously agreed that the Board, consisting of nine members, would proceed with the formation of these rural combinations. The program is expected to be in operation by the first week of July.

The rural combinations are as follows:

1. Frink, Harper and Deerfield Central School
2. Corunna, Owosso and Imlay City
3. Perry and Owosso Central
4. Imlay City, Corunna and Peri
5. Perry, Imlay City and Deerfield
6. St. Johns, St. Johns Central
7. St. Johns Central and St. Johns High School
8. St. Johns High School

Frida L. Myers, the principal of the rural combinations, has been appointed to head the program. She has been closely associated with the rural schools for many years and has a wealth of experience in rural education.

Prostate judge echoes need for local mental health care

It will probably be a couple of weeks before we actually see anything from the psychologists' reports, but it's very likely that the supervisory mental health center will be closed down since the supervisory report was approved last week.

It was only a couple of weeks before chairman Ernest Shinabery's referrals, approved by the county mental health board, were sent to the county, but it was expected that the center would be closed down due to the lack of funding.

The judge agreed that the center was not needed and would probably contract with another hospital or medical center. He said that the center was not needed and would probably contract with another hospital or medical center.

In other miscellaneous business last Tuesday:

- The Board voted to accept a $2,500 grant from the local, state, and national American Legion to support the American Legion Boys' State program.
- The Board voted to accept a $5,000 grant from the local, state, and national American Legion to support the American Legion Girls' State program.
- The Board voted to accept a $10,000 grant from the local, state, and national American Legion to support the American Legion Boys' State program.

The judge agreed that the center was not needed and would probably contract with another hospital or medical center.

Noted as alternate delegate to Girls' State was Janice Darby, daughter of Mrs. and Mr. Darby, and Darby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darby, both of 502 E. Cass Street.

This center was closed down last year and was never again opened. It will probably be a couple of weeks before anything is done about it.

The judge agreed that the center was not needed and would probably contract with another hospital or medical center.

The number of cars in junkyard areas is often referred to as a problem by local officials. But there is no clear plan to address this issue. Some localities have established programs to recycle parts or sell vehicles for scrap, while others have explored possibilities for converting them into works of art or installations.

Bishop Zaleski blesses school

By Flora Dobson

The village of Westphalia grew and until a few years ago offered the roadside traveler and the small community its own unique identity and character. Now, however, the village is undergoing a transformation, with plans for a new school and other improvements.

When the new school building was dedicated earlier this year, Bishop Zaleski was on hand to bless the facility. The school, which will replace an older structure, is designed to accommodate the growing student population in the area.

In his blessing, Bishop Zaleski emphasized the importance of education and the role of the school in preparing students for their future.

"Education is the foundation upon which our society is built," he said. "It is through education that we prepare our young people for the challenges of the future and ensure the continued growth and development of our community."

The new school building, which includes state-of-the-art facilities and a variety of classrooms, is expected to open in the fall. Students will begin attending classes in the new facility in September.

The dedication ceremony was attended by local officials, school staff, and members of the community. The occasion was marked by speeches, music, and refreshments.

In addition to the new school, Westphalia is also planning to renovate its existing fire station and construct a new city hall. These improvements are part of a broader effort to enhance the quality of life for residents and visitors alike.

"We are committed to creating a vibrant and dynamic community," said Mayor Joe Schuler. "By investing in our infrastructure and providing quality services, we hope to attract new businesses and residents to our area."

Believe stall caused plane crash, killing 3

It will probably be at least three months before the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board issue a determination of what caused the crash of a light plane at the Capital City Airport last Wednesday evening, with the plane falling about 300 feet straight down, killing a pilot and his passenger and injuring a woman who was on the plane.

A red-brown 1966 Cessna "Citation," owned by a Cleveland commercial firm, had just completed a flight from the New York flight when it crashed into the woods west of the airport.

A loud explosion then shook the area for the three who were killed in the crash, apparently killed the pilot and his passenger and injuring a woman on the plane.

The plane made the simulated landing, a stall, and a real landing and apparently stalled again.

The plane was flown by a man who appeared to be in his 40s or 50s with no outside control and apparently had no control of the plane. He was identified as a pilot and his passenger and the woman on the plane.

Spring serenade for strings

The singing strings of the St. Johns Public School orchestras will sweep out over the high school auditorium next Tuesday evening when the "Spring Serenade for Strings" public concert is held at 8 p.m.

It is an annual concert where not only the high school orchestra but choirs, too, from the fifth grade as well as all grades from junior high school orchestras from St. Joseph Schools and St. Joseph School will take part in the spring concert from any school districts.

The spring concert proceeds next Tuesday evening, May 23, at 8 p.m. Tickets may be purchased that evening or in advance from the high school athletic office.

Giving the public an opportunity to hear the music of fine arts, the fourth-graders combine with sixth-graders combined with junior high school strings, including vocal and instrumental strings.

The fifth graders will perform the concert with two special numbers "Arabian Nights" and "Paddy Pallin." The Beethoven-award will be present to the outstanding seniors in the high school orchestra.

The Beethoven award will be presented to the outstanding seniors in the high school orchestra.

Here's orchestra program

Miss Jean Wilson, the high school orchestra director, will perform a variety of numbers including the final movement of Elgar's "Cradle Symphony," Mozart's "Eine Kleine Nacht Musik," Corelli's "Sanza Bass," which is known as an Italian Folk Song by Siennicki. The program will also include "A Dream of Olwen." William's "Dream of Olwen," "A Spoonful of Sugar," and "Jolly Follies" as well as "The Happy Hobo" by Bowles and "Spring Serenade for Strings," next Tuesday evening, May 23, at 8 p.m. Tickets may be purchased that evening or in advance from the high school athletic office.

Today area kindergarten children study current events — they learn about famous places and people. When they reach Martha’s grade, children are extremely interested in what’s going on in other parts of the world.

They soon discover that children in some countries have few clothing and toys—and even more important, food and homes, many young Americans want to help. And they can! They can help clothe and feed the needy. In church, they will develop their natural generosity and will learn to give the values of worthwhile and love.

Children need special preparation for life in our great world. This means being in tune with the new, but it also means5 preserving the old.

Children need to be taught the basic truths of life, the real values, so that in chaotic moments they will be able to keep their feet planted firmly on the path of faith. Wednesdays is good the kind of preparation they need. Is your child equally lucky?
Highly acclaimed religious film slated by Baptists

"Centerville Anglicans" a religious film
Anglicans stand against the fact that classroom discussions have decentralized to the point that they no longer provide any basis for thought in the ecumenical, or even a religious, context. It is the Burroughs family of Centerville who have been at the forefront of the opposition, leading several groups in condemning the film as promoting a form of secularism that is incompatible with the teachings of the Anglican Church.

Winner of the National Film Board's top award for excellence in religious promotion, the film draws on the traditional Anglican view of the world.

Dental students to be honored

The dental students at the University of Michigan have been honored for their contribution to the field of dentistry. The students were recognized for their dedication and hard work, which has led to advancements in the field.

The Story of Ed and Laurie Damon

The story of Ed and Laurie Damon, a couple who had been married for over 20 years, was recently featured in a local newspaper. The couple, who have been through many challenges together, shared their story to inspire others who may be going through difficult times.

Wheat acreage must be reported by June 15

This June producers who are participating in the federal grain and wheat programs will confirm their acreage.

A number of producers reported that when they signed up to participate in the programs, their livestock estate was calculated at the time that the acreage was reported. If you have not yet reported your wheat acreage, or if the information you previously reported is not correct, please report your acreages to your Farm Service Agency office by June 15.

Producers who are participating in the federal grain and wheat programs are required to file reports on their wheat acreage within specified time frames. The current deadline for reporting wheat acreage is June 15.

Failure to report your wheat acreage by June 15 may result in the loss of federal support for your crop. It is important to report your acreages accurately to ensure that you receive the maximum possible support for your wheat production.

Grange moves swiftly into its second century

With 100 years of non-partisan, national legislative activity behind it, the National Grange today is moving swiftly into its second century with new legislative goals for rural America and the entire country.

It is sometimes forgotten that most of the major laws passed in this century that affect farmers and rural Americans were either sponsored or supported by the Grange, as we may have become complacent and take many of the benefits for granted.

The public is asking for strike protection

When business and industry got too big for their britches, 50 years or so ago, the people through their elected representatives cracked down on the directing of invidious discrimination.

As labor monopolies have grown in wealth and power, they are following the same arrogant course that brought strict controls and antimonopoly laws to business. The public has suffered great inconvenience as the result of uncontrolled actions, and the public is asking for protection.

This is the old saw that can be expected when any monopoly thumb its nose at the public. This is not a case of being pro-labor or anti-business. It is simply a case of being probusiness, and the public is asking for protection.

Letters to the editor

Sharing some thoughts about America

I have just read a book by President Dwight D. Eisenhower, which I thought should be shared with other readers.

"Americanism is a thing not of the earth, but of the heavens. It is a religion that is looking for a set of rules in the minds of men that are worth fighting for. It is a philosophy, a way of life that is looking for a better world. It is a battle that is looking for a victory. It is a battle that is looking for a purpose." (p. 15)

In the end, Eisenhower's book is a call to arms for the American people, a call to defend our way of life. It is a call to remember that America is more than a country; it is a way of life that we all must defend.

The public has suffered great inconvenience as the result of uncontrolled actions, and the public is asking for protection.

Share your thoughts and feedback on this topic. Your input is valued.

COUNTY PROCESSING FILM

County Clerk Paul Wakefield is now producing (developing) film as part of his duties. He is taking temporary charge of the county's new Projector Film process for the development of microfilm. The new unit, located in a room
across from the clerk's office, has been in use
for about two weeks & cost approximately $3,800. At the present time, most of the microfilming is done through the register of deeds'
office, but the county expects to do more microfilming in the future, and they figure the savings by developing the film them-

selfs will eventually offset the cost of the new unit.

COUNTY PROCESSING FILM

County Clerk Paul Wakefield is now producing (developing) film as part of his duties. He is taking temporary charge of the county's
new Projector Film process for the development of microfilm. The new unit, located in a room
across from the clerk's office, has been in use
for about two weeks & cost approximately
$3,800. At the present time, most of the mi-
crofilming is done through the register of deeds'
office, but the county expects to do more mi-
crofilming in the future, and they figure the savings by developing the film them-selfs will eventually offset the cost of the new unit.
