To Those Who Gave Their All....

Down the corridors of time comes the memory of brave men...the many who, throughout our nation's history, have given their all, sacrificed their very lives for honor, home and country. Their acts, their courage and their beliefs are ever an inspiration.

Those servicemen of our community who, in more recent times, have fought and died in the cause of freedom are part of this noble company. On Memorial Day, we reflect upon their deeds with deep respect and lasting gratitude. And proudly, we salute them.

Bank dividends declared

The Clinton National Bank, which was formed by the merger of St. Johns National Bank and the State Savings Bank of Elsie, has declared a dividend of $58,560.

President of Clinton National Bank, Stanley M. Rambo, said the dividend will be paid to shareholders of record on June 1, 1971.

The dividend payment is the first since the merger in January. The combined bank now has $5 million in assets.

The dividend payment is expected to be a significant financial boost for the bank's customers, many of whom are small businesses and individuals in the local community.

In addition to the dividend, the bank is also investing in new technology and expanding its services to better serve its customers.

A day to memorialize

In some minds today, it may seem out-of-fashion or not "up with the times" to pause on Memorial Day to honor America's War Dead. This is truly a sad situation in a country whose freedom has been fought for in many ways.

Graves, the conflict in Viet­nam and our country's involve­ment is not looked upon in the same light as the world wars.

But the deaths of American service­men are as real and their memory and what they died for are equally important.

To pay less tribute today to our War Dead is to turn our backs on the grand and glorious efforts and make­mockery of the freedoms which still exist for which so many have paid the supreme sacrifice.

Another great success

The St. Johns community has done it again.

Another successful Soap Box Derby was held recently in Detroit. That was in 1945 when there will be much camping and picnicking and fishing this summer.

"Some programs are looked for­ward to by parents and their children, while the times" to pause on Memorial Day is not looked upon in the same light as the world wars.

Such programs are looked for­ward to by parents and their children, while the times

CAPITOL SAVINGS & LOAN ASSOCIATION

Two primary issues arise in the fair housing debate: whether the law should cover all groups equally and whether the law should be enforced. These are complex issues, and both sides present valid arguments. However, the current law is not sufficient to address the needs of all communities, and more needs to be done to ensure equal protection under the law.

KEEP BAKING SODA FRONT-CENTER!

Don’t bury that box of baking soda on the back of a shelf when you line up supplies in your brand new kitchen. And save a package in a prominent place in your medicine cabinet, too; in it, if you really want to save money. Known also as a Horseshoe of Soda, bicarbonate of soda, or by its chemical formula NaHCO₃, this powdery white substance, according to many enthusiasts, has more uses than anything else aside from water. It goes into your batter to make baked goods rise. It puts out the fire in your kitchen (with discretion, of course) in your skillet; puts up your car battery, your weak feet; soothes burns, bites, cuts; soothes throat; softens silver, cleans, just about everything else in your home, including your teeth; kills bed bugs and other annoying pests; personal or otherwise; prevents rusting.

And last you’re tempted to pass baking soda off as just another of grandmother’s old wonders, take a look at some of its recently discovered uses . . . added to chicken feed it gives eggs sturdier shell. Added to cattle feed, it causes the fire in your skillet; peps up your stomach (acid indigestion), soothes burns, itches, bites, sore throats; shines silver, chrome, just about-everything else in your home, including your teeth; kills vents rusting.

Wedding

There’s a special time in a girl’s life when every day is like Christmas. And so the mother or even the bride may be so worried or pressured the bride may be with wedding preparations. And in receiving gifts and being honored at shower parties is an exciting and memorable experience.

What to give the bride is a question . . . not a problem taken many friends as well as for her family. For the thoughtful who want to give a different gift, we suggest decorative accessories. Lamps, objects d’art, or even an accent table can be a distinctive and welcome gift.

For those who like to explore to find that special gift, the market place has never been more open. One collection of accessories and lamps from Tyndale, named after the Indian festival of lights when thousands of candles lit into the night illuminates the wonder of Indian merchants at their market, is called Divali. The Divali lamp is a wild, beautiful time of warm friendliness. What could be more appropriate.

Inspired by this festival, the collection features tables, planters and wall accessories, flower and table lamps. The designs are key not by bold carving, delicate filigree and delicate ceramics which coordinate to achieve a total look. Used individually, they provide a most striking accent. Pottery, native sculptures and painted furniture carved with Taj Mahal motifs are included, as well as lamps in burnished Indian silver with softly fluted shades. A silver lamp with an ostrich leg base highlights the Divali collection and is shown on both floor and table lamps. The wonderful look of the new fluted shades offers high fashion impact and appears on many of the lamps in the collection.

There is a wide range of materials used in the Collection. Among them, terracotta. An antique terracotta Polish Tungie dish as an Indian silver metal mounting is topped with a highgloss white parchment shade. The Collection also includes an important white ceramic garden seat, ideal as an accent piece. There’s a special time in a girl’s life when every day is like Christmas. And so the mother or even the bride may be with wedding preparations. And in receiving gifts and being honored at shower parties is an exciting and memorable experience.

MULTIPLE WEDDINGS

July 15, St. Peter’s Day, is the traditional time in Galicnik, Yugoslavia, when group weddings are celebrated. Many young men of the village are employed away from home most of the year. Those planning marriage return for St. Peter’s Day, and wedding ceremonies for the group are held. Festivities include feasting and dancing; they last for several days.

If you’re about to embark on a marital “journey,” you’ve been warned just what the inmates of “first year” mean when it gets down in the everyday drudgery of actually living with “him.” Perhaps more than once the necessity of fitting your own “well-ribbed” open beauty habits into your new “revolutions” has crossed your mind.

Here it is easy to say. “Well, I’ll do it before he gets home” but with all your new responsibilities and homemaking there’s a nubbed “non-schedule” like that can leave you looking just as “hit and miss” on your beauty plan.

Since the smart bride can’t risk losing an inch of beauty ground, she can’t risk losing one of her own. Pond’s Beauty Institute to tell us “first year” means when it gets more than once the necessity of taking care of herself. “Hit and Miss” has crossed your mind.

There’s no way of timeless grooming “settlement” like that can leave you looking just as “hit and miss” on your beauty plan.

The home furnishings industry is coming up with savvy new designs for young moderns with a flair for fashion and a fetish for function.

A leading manufacturer of bedroom, dining room and occasional furniture has caught wind of the contemporary demand for stylish furnishings that will stand the tests of versatility, durability and mini-bank balances.

Newlywed apartment hunters insist on a formal dining room need not quash their hopes after dragging through modern buildings with disappearing walls. For example, a 72-inch high buffet and hutch, by Kemp Furniture Industries, can help them literally build walls to appease their sense of gracious living.

The buffet and hutch, from the "American Settler" collection of colonial dining room and bedroom furniture, can be used as a room divider to carve a dining nook from a living room. The shelves of the hutch create a show-and-store wall for displaying favorite wedding gifts, and the cabinets of the buffet afford ample storage space for a formal china service. A mellow engraved pine finish guarantees a cozy atmosphere for twosome dining. Do-it-yourself adhesive paper can be applied to the back of the units to add a decorative fillip to the living area.

When the household's breadwinner is a junior executive on the transfer circuit, today's purchases must fit in tomorrow's home. To meet the mobile couple's special decorating and storage needs, Kemp manufactures modular two and three-drawer chests with matching bookcases. From the "Brigadier" collection of military campaign furniture reminiscent of Napoleon's generals, the units are offered in five bold and bright painted finishes as well as a warm engraved Bombay pecan finish.

The chest and bookcases feature brass corner plates and inset handles for a neat and trim look with a lot of new power. The chests can be used above an bedside cabinet or hall pieces for a neat and trim look with a lot of new power. Silver holloware is the beautifully natural companion to a young lady's silver service. When she chooses her flatware pattern, it is a good idea to have her contemplate her holloware pattern as well. The jeweler will help her pick a pattern that harmonizes with her flatware and adds to the total beauty of her future table. Holloware such as a bud vase, bon bon dish, bread tray can be more gift notables to appear on a young lady's list and increase her silver happiness over the years that are the prelude to her wedding day.

Weekly menu planning enables the working wife to do most of her shopping on Saturday with only a few perishables to pick up daily.
Without a doubt, more and more people are buying goods and services with a credit card. At first glance, it seems it's the easy way to get what you want or need. SHOWER THAT CATERS TO SLIM BEAUTY

This is a promise: the figure-conscious modern bride is going to become a figure-conscious wife the moment she takes that walk down the aisle. Nothing will change her determination to remain the slim-and-shapely sylph she fell in love with, which is an excellent thing in terms of health as well as aesthetics! So if one of your friends is going to be a bride, why not cater to her best interests by arranging to give her a shower that features a delicious supplementary diet-food. Try Carnation Slender!

Ask girl friends to choose as presents anything that will help her to keep her lovely figure through the housekeeping years ahead. Suggest as gifts a full-length plate glass mirror, handsomely framed; petite bathroom scales; a set of the new greaseless cooking pans; six tall, straight-sided highballs and long handled stirrers (with which to mix her diet food from Carnation); and, of course, an electric blender for furry the drink into special occasion cocktails and desserts. Newly formulated without cyclamates, this protein-rich powder, Slender, can be mixed with nonfat fresh milk in a jiffy for a delicious 144-calorie snack or mini-meal. What to serve the guests at this shower? Why not froth-up a batch of Wild Strawberry Champagne Froseds as follows: For each serving, blend 1 packet Wild Strawberry Slender with 8 ounces nonfat milk; then add 3 ounces of champagne — which makes it a wild 229 calories. Pour into your prettiest hollow-stemmed champagne glasses, and drink a toast to the 1970 bride. Here's to her health and happiness!

A ring to dream on ... that very special dream she keeps locked in the most secret part of her heart, waiting for the right man with the right words to send her dream flying free, into reality. Naturally, the ring is a diamond engagement ring, the pledge ring to guard and protect a love that will last forever.

An ancient symbol of sentiment that may have begun with rings of plaited rush, the engagement ring has evolved through time and tradition until it is instantly recognized as that glowing diamond on the third finger of the left hand, the girl wearing it. So long ago that origins have been lost in the haze of centuries, diamonds were believed invincible, chosen to symbolize purity and light, to protect against the dark forces of evil. It is a wise tradition that has made the diamond the visible, brilliant guardian of that great experience called love.

Every girl wants her diamond to be worthy of her dream. And that’s the wish of every reliable jeweler, too ... and his job. The Jewelry Industry Council recommends that an engaging couple seek the advice and help of a qualified jeweler who will tell them the true value, fiery worth and worth of the diamond they can build their dream on ... together, forever.

A jeweler judges a diamond, according to the “4 C’s”: Cut, Color, Clarity and Carat.

Cut: The transformation of a rough stone into a dazzling gem, and the shape this dazzlement takes comes under the heading, “cut.” Principal diamond shapes are the brilliant or round, the emerald, the pear, the oval and the marquise or boat-shaped. The shape her engaging diamond takes is her ultimate decision.

It’s the traditional diamond. Mrs. Karen Gillespie of Lake’s Jewellery shows Marilyn the collection of diamonds available at their store. Besides a beautiful selection of wedding rings, at Lake’s, you’ll find an unmatched assortment of gifts that are perfect for any bride and groom. If you plan to buy a gift for a wedding present, you’ll save time and money by shopping Lake’s first.
Precious Dowry,
Sterling Silver

There’s so much versatility today in sterling that she’ll be amazed at how many solid silver patterns go with both formal fine china and modern pottery designs. If she likes a certain amount of design in both the elegant and casual china patterns, she’s advised by most tableware experts to choose one of the simple sterling patterns. The linear designs in the dramatic modern group of solid silver, as well as the neutralized look seen in some of the traditional group, complement many decorated china patterns. On the other hand, if she’s considering the tried and true gold-banded china, along with an earthenware pattern in perhaps a bright, clear color, her sterling can be one of the more decorated patterns. The general rule to keep in mind is that in any selection of china, glass and flatware, one of the three should contrast with the other two — not so much in style as in the amount of decoration.

make lacy cloth from plain white paper napkins . .

An elegant, lacey tablecloth made from plain white paper napkins can be the basis for a festive bridal table setting that’s easy to make and beautifully romantic.

Take about 12 paper napkins, torn fold over and then cut out small triangles along folded edge. Continue the same accent for an all: it’s much like cutting out tined paper doths. Untie all the napkins and match each square together with “Seach” Spra-Ment which bonds quickly to a variety of materials. You’ll find you have created a glamorous table cover as delicate as fine lace. Place it over a solid colored felt cloth or any contrasting tablecloth you have.

A harvest of straw items — pretty as well as practical — is in the stores this fall. Gathered from markets around the world, straw for kitchen or table comes in a variety of sizes and shapes, weaves and textures, and assorted colors.

Place mats, from almost any corner of the world, provide the groundwork for a table that's sumptuously laid. They are available in the whole spectrum of colors.

Baskets — from Madeira, Mexico, Hong Kong, Mediterranean or Eastern Europe — are practical accessories. Use them to hold wine bottles and rolls; line them with small glass dishes for condiment trays; or pile them high with a harvest centerpiece of fruit, dried flowers, or Indian corn and gourds.

In the kitchen, straw is practical and decorative. Straw whisks from Scandinavia prove ideal for whipping and folding. The traditional Swedish scouring whisk, a bunch of straw tied tightly together in the center, cleans pots in a jiffy.

And an American classic with a new straw 'look,' Kleenex tissues, comes to the rescue of the cook's onion tears or pepper sneezes.

The new dispenser size box, "The First Straw," is available in tones of blue, green, yellow or pink, to match the pastel tissues it holds, or in natural straw tones for the white tissue. With the brand name remaining on only two adjoining corners once the box is open, it becomes a decorative — and necessary — accessory to keep handy on counter, shelf, or window sill.

For centuries straw has been used in and around the home, as floor coverings, fire-shades, toys, mats and baskets. Its revival this year in new and traditional forms is welcome indeed to the homemaker who wants her accessories to be functional as well as attractive.

Though the barbeque season may be drawing to a close in your area and the crush of holiday cooking is fast approaching, you don't need to feel cramped in the kitchen. Here are a few helpful hints for bringing the relaxed outdoor atmosphere in with you!

Bring a radio — good music, half a chance to soothe the harried homemaker. Collect quick "n' easy recipes for holiday fare and take advantage of the many new convenience foods. Make sure your kitchen is cheerful and restful; surround yourself with bright colors and comfortable furnishings.

And, of course, make cooking more fun with cookware which is both pretty and practical. A real sugar lifter is Ekco's new Sky Blue decorated cookware from their State Fair line. Sky Blue brings the crisp freshness of a clear day into the kitchen. The bright white design on saucepan and casserole covers is another fashion first.

It's beauty is more than skin deep. The cookware has Teflon II linings for non-stick, non-scratch, easy-to-clean cooking. An aluminum core spreads burner heat evenly and vapor seals lock in good tastes and numerous vitamins your family needs. For the gourmet cook, there's a new specially designed omelet pan, too.

When you're not cooking, enjoy Sky Blue as part of your kitchen decor. Handy hang-up tangs in saucepan and omelet pan handles let you hang them in a wall arrangement. And since the line is self-nesting–storing, it's a perfect decorator item for the newly popular open shelving.

"Early American" reflects an attitude. This country is full of people who want their home to be a sheltering haven — sentimental? Unashamedly. The nostalgia of the feminine is preserved intact in some of the newest Early American furniture even though it ranges from the late 17th to the mid-18th Century in inspiration. Comfortable good design usually evolves with them.
