John Wesley College Moves Into Major Expansion Program

During the next few months, John Wesley College will be undergoing a major expansion program. The college administration is proud to announce that the land purchased in Owosso, Michigan, will soon be added to the existing campus. The move is prompted by the need for additional space to accommodate the growing student body.

The expanding campus will include a new library, student center, and residence halls. The library will be state-of-the-art, housing a large collection of books and resources. The student center will provide a variety of amenities, including a cafeteria, coffee shop, and study areas. New residence halls will house additional students, allowing the college to expand its enrollment.

The expansion project is being funded by a combination of private donations, endowment dollars, and state grants. The college hopes to complete the project within the next five years, with the first phase of construction beginning immediately. The college administration is grateful to the many supporters who have made this expansion possible.

The expansion will not only accommodate the growing student body but also provide the necessary facilities to enhance the educational experience. The new library will offer students access to the latest research materials and technological resources. The student center will be a hub of activity, fostering a sense of community among students. The new residence halls will be comfortable and secure, providing a safe and stimulating environment for students.

The college administration is committed to ensuring that the expansion project is completed in a manner that is consistent with the college's values and mission. The college is dedicated to providing a high-quality educational experience for all students, and the expansion will enable the college to continue to deliver on this commitment.

The college administration encourages all alumni, parents, and friends to support the expansion project. Contributions can be made to the John Wesley College Endowment Fund, which will be used to fund the expansion project and other initiatives to support student success.

The college administration is excited about the future of John Wesley College and looks forward to continuing to provide a first-rate educational experience for students. The expansion project is a significant step in实现 this goal, and the college is grateful to all those who have supported this endeavor.

Fulton voters to decide fate of building bond issue

MIDDLETON -- The validity of the Fulton Consolidated School District bond issue is on the ballot on Tuesday, June 12. The bond amount in the total sum would be about $300,000 to be used for a new high school building and also for the construction of an art room, a science room and two motels to accommodate the fifth through the eighth grades, and also to provide for a library and music instruction.

The annual millage rate will not exceed 7.3 mills annually and the cost of the entire millage will amount to a total of 7.46 mills. The debt retirement will end in 2081.

The present elementary school facilities are being used to capacity and some have exceeded their capacity, according to Superintendent Waino Pihl, who is the principal of the Fulton Elementary School where a renaissance has been experienced. The board voted to build a new high school building.

Michigan congressmen push for hearings

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- The House Agriculture Committee has held hearings on the problems of the meat industry. The hearings were held to decide what quality he will get when he purchases them in the store. The congressmen said that if the consumer should demand that the grocer does not stock the product, he would not be able to purchase them.

The event is held on the first day of the program, and is a chance for students to sample the food service program, and to show their parents what they have learned.

When asked about the future of the program, Lashaway said he is hopeful that it will continue and expand, as it is an important part of the education offered by Daley’s.

As part of the opening remarks, the driver's license program at Daley’s proved a popular attraction.

The program is open to students enrolled in the school district, and is available on a first-come, first-served basis.

completing the course. He also said that many of the students have expressed interest in continuing in this area as a career.

The event is held on the first day of the program, and is a chance for students to sample the food service program, and to show their parents what they have learned.

When asked about the future of the program, Lashaway said he is hopeful that it will continue and expand, as it is an important part of the education offered by Daley’s.

As part of the opening remarks, the driver's license program at Daley’s proved a popular attraction.

The program is open to students enrolled in the school district, and is available on a first-come, first-served basis.
More about welfare reform

Our beloved legislation, afraid not devoted by a loyal army of Democrats, has found its time. They have made a few more steps to an ultimate victory, and a great one, and it is nothing short of the national policy of this country. The law of the welfare service, that is going to cost a lot of money. The name of the game is welfare, and what a game it is.

The author of this legislation, the Honorable Martha Griffin, who is chairman of the Joint Committee on Public Welfare, has had the privilege of recruiting the most distinguished women in the country to her staff. Work well, my dear! — demanded for the first time, but not for the last, the Florida State legislature and the Florida State welfare department.

Griffins study shows that the welfare "professionals" receive more from welfare grants, as many as six or seven per cent of their income. It means that more money is going into the pockets of the people who are supposed to be helping others. On this point the problem of the financial position of the poor family is increased by one or two cents.

Griffins study also shows that the total income of the poor family is increased by one or two dollars a month, to the tune of about four or five per cent of its income. The study also showed that the financial position of the poor family is increased by the welfare money, but because of the increased cost of living, there is not much surplus.

The riddle of schizophrenia

Chairman, Committee on Mental Health

In this country, as in the rest of the world, one might talk about the beauty of the American football team, completing it with a picture of the team members. There are, however, other factors that contribute to the understanding of this disease. The sub-committee will consider the results of the study, but will not be able to report on the progress of its members or the work of the committee. For this reason, there will be no discussion on the topic of the day.

Because talk about mental illness is not considered the main focus of the committee, the committee members will not discuss the topic of the day. The discussions will be left for the committee members to consider on their own.

The committee will report on the status of the study on May 6th, at 8:00 p.m. in the committee room.

View from the Senate

Happiness is a strange thing. It is not only something that we feel, but also something that we do. It is not a state of mind, but a state of action.

Strange things are happening
by douglas frezie

Strange things are happening. People are not only doing strange things, but also thinking strange things.

The question many people ask is how we can get rid of these strange things. There are a few ways to do this.

1. By reporting strange things to the authorities.
2. By educating people about strange things.
3. By creating a culture that does not accept strange things.

Strange things are not always bad. They can be a source of inspiration and creativity. However, they can also be a source of confusion and travail. It is important to be aware of these things and to try to understand them.

One important step in understanding strange things is to learn about them. There are many books and articles that can help us understand strange things. We can also learn about them by talking to people who have experience with strange things.

Strange things in the world are not only strange, but also very significant. They can be a source of inspiration and creativity. They can also be a source of confusion and travail. It is important to be aware of these things and to try to understand them.

Farm Bureau Services sales hit record

ANNIEME - Farm Bureau Services sales of negotiable bonds and marketing services have set a new record for the state-level cooperative, according to Donald R. Armstrong, executive vice president.

The first six months of the company's fiscal year ended June 30, 1973, showed a 25% increase over the same period in 1972.

Farm Bureau Services Inc. distributes and sells negotiable bonds in most states. The service is available to anyone with a direct or indirect interest in agriculture.

The record sales are attributed to several factors, including increased grain and feed prices, and the current economic conditions.

The company also sells marketing services to farmers, including storage facilities and marketing agreements.

In addition to the increased sales, Farm Bureau Services has expanded its services to include insurance and real estate.

The company continues to focus on providing solutions to farmers and ranchers to help them manage their businesses more efficiently.

The future looks promising for Farm Bureau Services, with plans to expand its services and reach even more farmers across the country.

Mary Austin to visit Europe

By Jack Platt

Lansing - Lansing Heights, one of Michigan's outstanding girls' schools, is proud to announce that Mary Austin, a junior at the school, will be visiting Europe. Mary has been selected to participate in a two-week study of European culture.

Mary's selection for the trip was based on her excellent grades and her interest in history and art. She has already completed several courses in these subjects and is eager to learn more about the rich cultural heritage of Europe.

Mary plans to visit several countries and will have the opportunity to meet with local students and teachers. She is looking forward to learning about different cultures and gaining a deeper understanding of the world.

Agriculture in Action

Mary Austin has a strong interest in agriculture and has been involved in several projects at Lansing Heights. She has recently completed a comprehensive study of the agricultural industry and is preparing a report on the challenges facing farmers today.

Mary's project has been supervised by her history teacher, Mr. Thompson, who has provided valuable guidance and support throughout the project.

Mary's interest in agriculture is not just limited to the classroom. She has also been involved in several extracurricular activities related to the field, including a visit to a local farm and a trip to the state fair.

Mary's dedication to agriculture is admirable and is an inspiration to her classmates and teachers. Her passion for the subject is evident in her writing and in her approach to the study of agriculture.

4-H Chatter

By JOHN AYLWORTH

A question to the local 4-H club is: "What are your plans for the 4-H Fair this summer?" The Fair is scheduled for Saturday, August 28, at the Clinton County Fairgrounds. The 4-H members are busy planning their projects for the Fair.

The 4-H Fair has been a tradition in Clinton County for many years. It is a time when 4-H members can showcase their skills and hard work. Projects range from animal husbandry to gardening to photography. The Fair is also a chance for members to socialize and make new friends.

In addition to the projects, there are various competitions, including a baking and cooking contest, a 4-H talent show, and a 4-H business and marketing plan competition. These competitions help members develop their skills and prepare for future challenges.

The 4-H Fair is a celebration of hard work and dedication. It is a time when members can be proud of their achievements and share their knowledge with others. The Fair is open to the public, and everyone is welcome to attend.

ST. JOHNS HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING TRADES
PROGRAM PRESENTS AN OPEN HOUSE

SATURDAY, JUNE 9
2 to 6 p.m.

and

SUNDAY, JUNE 10
1 to 7 p.m.

Located at 1208 So. Swegles St.
IN ST. JOHNS

Clinton County News
SECTION C JUNE 6, 1973
Class has 21 students

What in August was a hole in the ground is now a $40,000 home at 1208 S. Swegles St.

In September, the St. Johns building trades class faced a cement block basement and, June 7 will officially complete an attractive new home.

Working an average of 30 hours per week since the school opened in September, the building trades class has completed 540 total hours of work to finish the task.

Students work in 2 shifts with 1 group working 3 hours in the morning and the other 3 hours in the afternoon. Each student receives 3 hours of credit for the course.

Plans for next year call for expanding the program to 32-hour sections to build another home in the same subdivision on Swegles St.

The expanded program will increase the participants from 21 this year to 36 next year.

Not blessed with a year of weather desired by builders, Robert Niemi, instructor of the course, said neither the weather nor the rising cost of lumber presented many problems for the class.

During the winter months, the house had been roughed in and most work was carried on inside the structure.

As far as costs are concerned, most supplies and materials had been awarded on a bid basis in the fall and costs remained mostly at the level they were at that time.

Niemi did say, however, that the cost of lumber had continued to rise since work first started on the home.

Work on the home is scheduled to be completely finished June 7 and an open house will display the work done by the students to the public.

Although the majority of the work done on the house was completed by the building trades class, there were areas completed by contractors.

A contractor, for instance, was responsible for the excavation for the basement plus the cement block walls in the basement.

A fireplace in the family room was also done by an outside contractor with some assistance from students in the class.

They did get their share of concrete and brick work, however. The brick facing on part of the front of the house was done by the class in addition to the concrete for the driveway, sidewalks and porches.

Color, Battens Aid Basement

Have a homely basement? Paint and a few boards will give walls a fast dress-up at low cost.

First paint the concrete walls a warm, sunny color like gold. Then run a 1x4-inch board flat across the top of the walls like a cornice molding. Do the same at the bottom of the wall, to make a base shoe.

Then apply 1x2-inch battens vertically at three-foot intervals across the wall. Stain the battens and the cornice and base moldings a rich charcoal brown and watch that basement room come alive.
Twenty-one St. Johns High School students have been involved in the building of the new home at 1208 S. Swegles in St. Johns.

Members of the Building Trades course, the 21 students built the 3d home in the community that have been projects of the Building Trades class. Work on the house goes on 6 hours a day, Monday through Friday. One group works for 3 hours, in the morning with the other group working 3 hours in the afternoon.

Robert Niemi, instructor of the course, cites the many sources of experience for the students in helping to build such a home. He said those in the class get a background in training by being exposed to the different trades involved in constructing such a home.

Building trades students obtain experience in carpentry, electrical work, masonry, roofing and siding, interior trim, formica work, insulation and many other areas.

Participants in the course are juniors and seniors. Nine of this year's juniors will return to the course next year and act as foremen.

Three hours of credit are given for the course and those who complete the course possess enough experience to become apprentices in the commercial building related trades. One such person, a recent graduate, who completed the class and is now an apprentice for a local electrical contractor.

Next year's class is expected to include 34 students.

One of the finest accomplishments of 1973 for the Clinton County area is the completion of this home, built by students in the St. John's Building Trades Program. This three-bedroom ranch with aluminum exterior plus brick front is highlighted by a large attached garage. Equipped with a family room with fireplace, the home also offers heating with a gas forced-air furnace. Also complete with TV antenna and central air conditioning, the home features a full basement and carpeting throughout. Our congratulations to the students, their instructors and the many fine local tradesmen and supporters of the project. It is something we can all be proud of.

We at Capitol Savings are also proud of our growth in 1973. Our assets of over $225 million make us one of Michigan's largest savings and loan associations. Helping communities grow by financing home owners is one of the main functions of our organization and you as a saver at Capitol Savings can be assured the money you save will be used to make our area more prosperous and grow.

Regardless of the comfort and beauty of the interior of a house, a very important aspect of a new home is an attractive exterior in pleasant surroundings. That factor is evident in the Swegles St home built by the St Johns building trades class. The home is equipped with maintenance free aluminum soffits and siding with an attractive partial brick front. The front of the home is accentuated by a casement picture window and side lights on each side of the thermal insulated front door.

The garage door is 18-foot wide and constructed of fiber glass. Finished drywall siding allows the garage to present an attractive appearance, with the door closed or open. Plenty of yard space provides for an attractive lawn, flowers and trees. The lot comes ready equipped with a shade tree in the corner.

Comfort and beauty... plus worry free living

Worry-free comfort is a major aspect of the Swegles St home built by the St Johns building trades class.

As you enter the home, the first room is a comfortable living room with plenty of natural light from the picture window. The doorway from the living room leads to a family room on the left and a kitchen just off the living room.

The kitchen features harvest gold electrical appliances and roomy color coordinated cabinets. The combination kitchen-dining area is accented with a divider cabinet.

The home contains a bath and a half with facilities for another full bathroom, located in the basement.

Equipped with forced gas heat and electrical appliances, the home is cooled with central air conditioning. All windows in the home are Andersen welded windows and all windows are equipped with screens.

Wash day is less of a chore with an electric washer and dryer located in a room right on the main floor. Convenience is the key in the kitchen also with a build-in range and dishwasher.

Hot water comes from a 40-gallon gas hot water heater. The home is wired with a 200 amp breaker box electrical service. A maintenance free exterior features aluminum siding with a partial brick front.

Except for the half bath and laundry area, which are floored with olivetite linoleum, the home will be completely carpeted.

Value of the 3-bedroom home on a 90 x 130 foot lot is set between $40,000 and $41,000.

Electrical experience in many areas providing experience for members of the building trades class.

Color coordinated kitchen includes Harvest Gold electric appliances and Odyssey Oak cupboards.

Friendly Gate
A garden gate should be door-like — an inviting entrance, not a barrier. For an open appearance, good gdeas, design yours of spaced slats nailed on both sides of the frame.

Interior work in early stages as class members prepare walls for plastering and paint.

Subtle features are attractive ... and practical

The house recently built by the St. Johns building trades class has several subtle features that could be termed "unique."

One such feature is the washer and dryer room on the main floor, removing the need for cumbersome trips laden with laundry baskets up and down the stairs.

Another practical feature can be found in the kitchen and dining area. Just off the living room in the kitchen is a planning center, including wall telephone, built-in desk and storage cabinet and drawers. The main bath in the bath and a half home, has 2 rooms with a separate room for the vanity sink and closet containing a linen storage cabinet. The tub in the bath is a 1-piece molded fiberglass tub, plus shower.

Quality and year-around comfort can be found in the home, right down to the front door. The door is a steel-clad fixture with thermal insulation. Future occupants of the home choose a bright and colorful approach with lavender chosen for the master bedroom. Another bedroom is creme-de-mitche green and the 3d bedroom is River Blue. The main bathroom has flocked wall paper, as does the dining room.

The half bath is decorated with textured vinyl wallpaper. The soffit above the kitchen divider counter is accented with striped wallpaper. The color coordinated kitchen consists of harvest gold appliances surrounded by Odessa II light oak cabinets.

One of the highlights of the home is the family room fireplace. The fireplace, on one end of the sunken family room, is covered by a wood shingle decorative roof. The fireplace itself is constructed of fire brick with a sandstone hearth and mantle. Television fans will find the home to their liking with antenna and television jacks installed in the family room, living room and master bedroom.

SJ building trades class home has "lots of living space"

Lots of the living space is one of the major attractions of the home, built by the St. Johns Building Trades Class. A 13'6" x 13'6" living room is supplemented by spacious 20' x 15'6" family room, including a fireplace. The kitchen and dining area is a roomy 12' x 18' one with counter-divider and built in appliance. The master bedroom is 13'6" x 13'6". The other 2 bedrooms are 13'6" x 10' and 13'6" x 11'1". The 2 car garage comfortably houses 2 automobiles with room left over for a work area. The house has a total square footage of 1600 feet - and that doesn't include the basement.

The Swegles home basement measures 38' x 49'.

The St. Johns Building Trades program has provided an opportunity for young people from St. Johns High School to receive first-hand experience in the construction of a house, and we support the instructors and students in the program by encouraging attendance at their Open House. The interest and desire to accomplish is evidenced through the coordination of schedules of the students involved in the program and the participants can be justifiably proud of their accomplishment.
