At the site where Jesse Guernsey was born, 507 years ago, the Franklin County, Mass., schoolmaster was born. His thefts were few, and he did good work.

Jesse Guernsey, president of the Franklin County, Mass., school system, was born in 1566. He was the son of a poor farmer, and he learned to read and write at an early age.

Jesse Guernsey was 507 years old when he died in 1673. His death certificate was found among the records of the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

Jesse Guernsey's last words were: "I am ready to go to my reward."

As a schoolmaster, Jesse Guernsey was known for his strict discipline and his love of learning. He was responsible for the education of many of the children in the area, and he was respected for his knowledge of the Bible.

Jesse Guernsey's legacy continues to this day in the form of the Jesse Guernsey Memorial Pool, which was opened on June 24.

The pool is located in the heart of downtown Franklin, and it is a focal point of the community.

The pool is open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily, and it features a lazy river, a splash pad, and a water slide.

In addition to the pool, the Jesse Guernsey Memorial Park also includes a playground, a basketball court, and a tennis court.

The park is open from dawn to dusk, and it is a popular destination for families and individuals who enjoy outdoor activities.

Jesse Guernsey's spirit continues to live on through the pool and the park, and it serves as a reminder of the importance of education and the need to pass on knowledge to future generations.
Renaissance of Gaylord to inspire Chamber here.

The modern renaissance of a once economically depressed community included a meeting of the Gaylord area Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday night (June 20) at Daley's Restaurant.

The meeting was scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at Daley's Restaurant, according to Chamber President John F. Gowan.

Gowan explained that the meeting was being held to demonstrate the advantages of organizing a strong Chamber with the worthwhile membership of local businesses, people, industry and community residents.

Gowan, president of Gaylord State Bank from 1961 to 1966, said the Gaylord Chamber of Commerce has been trying to promote the importance of organizing a strong Chamber to local members.

The Chamber's goals are to provide a better environment for the area's economic development.

Five years of aggressive effort to broaden the community's economic base was taken in 1958 when the Gaylord Industrial Development Corporation was formed, according to Gaylord Chamber President John F. Gowan.

Gaylord, one of the first communities to take an active role in organizing a Chamber of Commerce, has been an inviting sight for local residents, for the area shopping district.

The Chamber is in charge of recruitment and is open to the public.

East Lansing's Jeff Smith new football coach

A week ago, the South Bend coach who had been the talk of South Bend and throughout Michigan high school football for the past several years, Jeff Smith, arrived in East Lansing to take over as football coach. Smith, who was being given a six-year contract worth $2,000 a year, was expected to start work immediately on building a new team.

A recent graduate of South Bend High School, Smith had been a star player and an assistant coach under Don Miller, the South Bend coach. He had also been a head coach at South Bend and was well known for his successful coaching record.

Smith was appointed to his new position after an interview with the school's administration. He had been offered the job by several other schools, but chose East Lansing because of its reputation for being a strong football program.

Smith's arrival was met with great enthusiasm by the community, and he was expected to be a great asset to the team in the years to come.

Teshka also stressed to the boys that life preservers must always be worn according to state law. With him were Ron, Jack, Don and Dick Cuthbert, Lawrence Kanaski, and Harry M. Mendenhall.

 registration of hands was set at a record level in Clinton County during 1968, although the number of convicted offenders dropped to a record low. While some cases still face trial, most of the people involved in the first five months of 1968, in 1967, has continued to climb during 1968. This year, according to Principal S. W. 'It's the berries' time in Michigan

By HELEN B. MEACH

For Michigan processors has long been a time to watch, for by July 4th or the fourth of July the Michigan strawberry season is in full swing. These all-American berries are a delight to eat and the mainstay of our state's fresh fruit market. They are the first fresh fruits that come into our markets and they set the pace for the rest of the season. The fresh strawberry crop in Michigan is harvested from May to October.

In Michigan, strawberries are grown on about 6,000 acres, producing approximately 15 million pounds of berries each year. The state's largest strawberry growers are located in the counties of Genesee, Lenawee, Washtenaw, and Lenawee. The berries are harvested by hand and are sold fresh in the fields, at farm markets, and at roadside stands.

Strawberries are a popular fruit in Michigan and are enjoyed by people of all ages. They are used in a variety of dishes, from fresh to frozen, and are a favorite in many summer desserts. The state's strawberry industry is a major contributor to the state's economy, providing jobs and income for thousands of Michigan families.

In addition to strawberries, Michigan is also known for other fresh fruits, such as blueberries, cherries, and apples. These fruits are harvested and marketed in similar ways, with an emphasis on fresh markets and farm-to-table practices. The Michigan fruit industry is a vital part of the state's agricultural economy, employing thousands of workers and providing fresh, healthy produce to consumers across the country.

Watch the enzymes in laundry

Laundries have been using enzymes in their products for some time, but it seems like they are just being discovered by the public. Enzymes are used to break down protein, starch, and fat, which helps to get the clothes clean. Enzymes can be found in many household products, such as detergent, soap, and fabric softener.

EVERY JOURNEY...

The Church for all... all for the Church
The Church is the greatest force on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a mighty force for right action. Without a strong Church, neither charity nor civil liberties are safe. There are few communities where the healthy, young people should attend services regularly and support the Church. They say: (1) For our own sake. (2) For the sake of the Church's work. It needs our moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and eat your Bible daily.

DON'T HELP A GOOD BOY GO BAD.
Lock your car, take your keys.
By Mrs. Robert Whaling, Director of Services, St. Francis Windows, Battle Creek, who covered the entire city and beginning in May, the Neighborhood Service was to begin a training program in the overall program of Neighborhood Service. The Neighborhood Service is a community action program supported by the United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The purpose of the program is to help people improve their living conditions by developing self-help groups. The program is designed to provide assistance to people who are unable to help themselves. The Neighborhood Service is staffed by a team of workers who are trained in social work and related fields. They work with individuals, families, and groups to help them identify their problems and develop solutions. The program is designed to be flexible and responsive to the needs of the community. It is based on the principle that people are capable of taking charge of their own lives and that they can improve their conditions through self-help. The Neighborhood Service works with people from all walks of life, including those who are unemployed, those who are homeless, those who are in crisis, and those who are looking for ways to improve their lives. The program is designed to be a long-term investment in the community, and it is expected to have a lasting impact on the lives of people who participate in it. The Neighborhood Service is supported by a variety of sources, including federal, state, and local government agencies, as well as private foundations and businesses. It is a collaborative effort that involves the community, the government, and the private sector. The Neighborhood Service is a valuable resource for people who are looking for help and who want to improve their lives. It is an important part of the community's efforts to build a better future for everyone.

NEW Hay-King... toughest haymaker built!

Haymaker construction — all over — makes the difference in the Gehl Hay-King. Exclusive all-chrome drive, with slip-clutch protection. Positive power because there are no belts to slip or break, to lose power being transmitted to the blades. Hay-King's easy-adjusting five link tail roller makes for clean cutting, no bunching, and less problem combs. Combs have a full-sized smooth cut, reducing the effort needed to cut, and the cutter bar gently lays down a fast drying, leaf-saving windrow. Hay-King makes a fast, clean windrow.

Reversible transmission (140 or 1000 RPM) for both a clean or a rough windrow, without removing windrow shields.

On the Gehl Webster farm on Charlottetown Road, Jim Stoetzel is happy with his new Hay-King from Karber Implement Co., St. Johns.

Japanese beetle trap being set

To reduce the presence of di-remitant Japanese beetles, various type of traps are being set by farms in several parts of the state.
Beetles are trapped using a mixture of various insecticides and attractants. The traps are usually placed in fields or near houses to catch the beetles as they move around.

Haylage potential high, MSU scientists report

"Traditional belief that hay was more desirable than haylage is paradoxically supported by our work," said John M. Ball, ph.D., Extension insect entomologist at the Department of Entomology.
"Our research shows that haylages are more productive and less expensive to produce than hay.

The second measure authorizes the 1969 law that permits the practice of haylage production and other activities.

state.

Many farmers applying for applications for wheat farms this year," said Ball. "We are still reviewing them and will make a decision soon.

Managing Community Weeds

A weed control ordinance and a weed control study now in progress are soon going to be needed. Weeds are solved to a great extent, thanks to the number and method of applications. They are not only hiding what is under them but what is in the future. If left unchecked since early spring, they become visible and hard for millage approval under the present stage. It is their way of getting here pretty fast, and the residents need to take pride in their city, patches of tall weeds are certainly not a pride and dangerous

...that's a weed patch

Ugly and dangerous

This is the time of the year when the initial growth of weeds reaches the ugly stage. If left unchecked early spring they are tall enough and bossy enough to not only hide what is under them but what is beyond them.

Primarily tall weeds are a safety hazard. There are several spots around St. Johns where weeds have blocked the view of motorists at busy intersections and have already resulted in many near-accidents. In other areas the weeds hide small and sharp debris that is potential hazard for youngsters, now out of school, who like to think of tramping through tall weeds as an adventure...

Safety is the prime consideration for weed control, but another important aspect is community pride. Tall weeds are not pretty; they are, as we said earlier, ugly. Their presence detracts from a nice-looking community. In a town where St. Johns residents need to take pride in their city, patches of tall weeds certainly are not a help.

There is a weed control ordinance and a nuisance ordinance on the law books of St. Johns. We're sure city officials are about to crack down and force the cutting of several spots. It would become the owner of property sprouting tall weeds to have them removed on his own initiative before it gets to the point of being an accident...or before a serious accident occurs.

Let's go to work

on tax solution

School operation problems for this year are solved to a great extent, thanks to a forward-looking community of voters, but well not only hide what is under them but what is in the future.
