Eclipse dims sun

ST. JOHNS—Jupiter's moon Io, often referred to as a "hot spot", was undergoing the first of a series of eclipses Tuesday, May 24, according to宇宙ist Scott Kounild, of the United States Naval Observatory, Washington, D.C. The eclipse started at 2:20 p.m. and lasted about 33 minutes. It was observed in St. Johns by a group of students from Michigan State University who were participating in a space physics research project.

Group considers satellite airport

ST. JOHNS—An 18-year-old aviation enthusiast who is currently enrolled at Michigan State University, the St. Johns Planning Commission has recommended that the city establish an airport for small aircraft.

Purpose of the gathering was to determine what kind of airport would be suitable for the city and its residents. The meeting was attended by a variety of people, including members of the St. Johns City Council, the St. Johns Chamber of Commerce, and representatives from Michigan State University.

The meeting started with an introduction by the chairman of the planning commission, who outlined the goals of the meeting. The chairman explained that the purpose of the airport would be to provide a place for small aircraft to take off and land, and to provide a location for pilot training and other aviation-related activities.

The meeting then proceeded to a discussion of the various options available for an airport. The options included a small airport with a runway, a heliport, and a strip with a grass runway. The group also discussed the costs and benefits of each option, and the potential impact on the surrounding community.

The meeting ended with a vote to recommend to the city council that an airport be established. The recommendation was made on the basis of the potential benefits for the city and its residents, including increased economic development and improved access to transportation.

Commissiners deny request for advisory vote on hospital

ST. JOHNS—A citizen group opposed to the new Civic Center complex requested that the commissioners hold an advisory vote on hospital matters. In response, the commissioners indicated that they would not hold such a vote.

In his report to commissioners, Mayor Ed Keppel said that the Civic Center project was progressing as planned. He noted that the new facility would provide much-needed space for various community organizations.

The report also included the opening of the new Civic Center gymnasium, which has been well-received by the community. Keppel said that the gymnasium was an important addition to the facility and would help to attract more people to the Civic Center.

In a related matter, the commissioners discussed the need for additional parking spaces at the Civic Center. They agreed to look into the matter and consider options for expansion.

Other items on the agenda included a discussion of the need for additional lighting at the Civic Center, and a review of the budget for the upcoming fiscal year. The commissioners agreed to meet again soon to discuss these issues further.

HOLIDAY AFTERTHOUGHTS

Independence Day has passed for another year and like any major holiday it brings to mind afterthoughts. Christmas and New Years Day are held in high regard by most people and many persons had tragic. It is hard to think of anything but picnics — and for Tiger fans the weekend was the judge of that decision's wisdom.

Beaver Bay's city administration has elected Rollin A. Huard Jr. for a second term as mayor. The other city council members also were reelected for another year to serve.

At any rate, the decision has been made. The board's meeting on Monday, July 14, 1971.

The Safty Valve

Question: What happens to the exhaust system of the car when the vehicle is operating?

Answer: The exhaust system of the car is responsible for expelling the exhaust gases from the engine. It consists of pipes, mufflers, and catalytic converters, which help in reducing the emissions of harmful substances into the atmosphere. The system also controls the sound level of the engine, making it quieter.

Question: What are the potential negative impacts of a faulty exhaust system?

Answer: A faulty exhaust system can lead to several negative impacts, including:

1. Increased emissions of harmful substances into the atmosphere, which can harm the environment.
2. louder noise from the vehicle, which can disrupt the peace and quiet of the neighborhood.
3. Reduced fuel efficiency, which can increase the cost of fuel for the vehicle owner.
4. Increased risk of engine damage, which can lead to costly repairs.

Question: What is the role of the muffler in the exhaust system?

Answer: The muffler is a crucial component of the exhaust system. Its primary function is to reduce the noise level of the exhaust gases. It also helps in controlling the flow of exhaust gases, ensuring that they are expelled from the engine in a controlled manner. Additionally, the muffler can prevent the backflow of exhaust gases into the engine, which can cause damage to the engine's components.

What are we doing to protect children? There are a few ways we can do this. One way is to educate the public and our children about abuse prevention. Another way is to work with child protection agencies and other organizations to raise awareness and provide support.
