St. Johns may or may not do some new street paving this summer.

If there is any doubt it might be the whole program as originally planned. Then, again, it might be only half of what was planned.

The fate of the paving program is still up in the air this week, independent of whether the city commission can resolve the financial problems of the city water fund.

The water fund - stranger than fiction - may prove to be the key to the pavement program.

Residents'里 charges

Paving never seems to contain any sizable list of issues. St. Johns, twice, has dealt with the problem of getting money for the streets and the pavement.

This isn’t the first time a major question has come before the people of the city. The streets will be about the same number and they will be paved.

The movement followed the lines of the same type of discussion between the audience and Mayor Col. Sirrine who said he had heard by personal contact that the streets would be about the same number and they will be paved.

Federal-Mogul, Sealed Power express 'concern' over new water rates

New St. Johns water rates of $1.75 for the first 1,000 gallons and $2.50 for the next 1,000 are in the city proposed on application before the city commission last Tuesday by Federal-Mogul and Sealed Power, respectively.

Both said they were "seriously concerned" over the new rates and the effect they would have on the operation of the horizon.

The new rates would affect the city's total water revenue from the city to $122,125, an increase that has no set time limit.

"We're writing to say we share," Itzkowski said, "that this concern is not too great for the moment. It is one in the nature of this movement that is taking place in the state and the country.

"In the city of St. Johns, it's a move that's been in the making for a long time and we've been watching it very closely. We're not saying that it's a bad idea, but we're saying that it's a step in the right direction."

Local Adventists prepare for big annual camp meeting

NORTH SIGHTS and sound produced by speakers at the Campground Theater on July 21 marked the official beginning of the 14th annual Northside Adventist Camp meeting of the Great Lakes region. The meeting is sponsored by the Northside church of the Church of Adventists in Toronto, Canada.

The Northside Adventist Camp is one of the largest gatherings of Adventists in the world, attracting thousands from all over the United States and Canada. The theme for this year's meeting is "Seeking the Kingdom of God Above All Things," focusing on the importance of prioritizing spiritual growth over earthly possessions.

The meeting features a schedule packed with workshops, seminars, and keynote speakers. Notable speakers include Dr. John Stott, a renowned advocate for the importance of faith and virtues, who will be delivering a series of talks on the significance of the kingdom of God.

The camp also offers a variety of activities for children and youth, including games, crafts, and special programs designed to engage and educate them on spiritual values.

For more information on the Northside Adventist Camp Meeting, visiting the website or contacting the organizers directly is recommended. The camp is held annually, and the exact dates and location can be found on the official website or by contacting the organizers.

Many Michigan moms are at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor this fall. They are enrolled in 150 courses offered by the College of Education. Among them are mothers from all parts of the state. They are enrolled in such courses as child development, education, philosophy of education and curriculum preparation.

BANNIERS FAMILY at Expo - 67

Among the recent visitors to Eastmen were Mr. and Mrs. Leon Banniers and daughter Patricia of Benton Harbor, who joined a group of 100 from St. Johns, Ionia and Philo to admire the wonders of the World's Fair. The Banniers are season ticket holders of the World's Fair and said they are pleased that the children of their extended family were able to see some of the new wonders of the world.

The Banniers went early, early to the exposition in order to see as much as possible before the crowds became too dense. Mrs. Leon Bannier stated that they have been to the exposition several times since it opened in May and that they are looking forward to seeing it again soon.

WAGNER REUNION

In the Wagner reunion, which was held last Saturday at Wagoner, there were games and gifts for the guests. The committee, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wagner, chairman, and Miss Jeanette Keys and Miss Barbara Keys, spent the past week with Jeanette Keys and her family at St. Johns, for the past year. They are attending the reunion this year in order to see their friends from the area. They have lived in St. Johns for the past 10 years and have enjoyed the beauty of the area and the people.

Most of the Wagner family attending were from the state of Michigan. The other states represented were from Minnesota, Iowa, and Ohio. The family members present from Michigan were from Clinton County and all of the surrounding counties.

A WAGNER REUNION

was held at St. Johns, Michigan last Saturday at 2 p.m. The old friends gathered around in the pavilion last Sunday afternoon to enjoy refreshments and to talk about the old days. The reunion was attended by approximately 36 members attending.

County Clinton's four Cooperative Extension Service agents now have private offices in their new quarters on South Oak Street. Mrs Helen Muesch, home economist; John Ayresworth, 4-H agent; George McQueen, agricultural agent; and Earl Hans, agricultural agent, stand at the doorways to their offices. The Extension Service is now located in the basement of what used to be called the building's building but is now referred to as the courthouse annex.

 Expect 1,500 farmers for management tour

Growing seed exciting

George and Robert Woodhams farm 200 acres of corn, grain, 53 bushels per acre for their present program and then how to manage their plan. They have a unique partnership in the world of farming.

The four farms selected for stops on the tour are recognized as leaders in their particular phase of agriculture. The tour will take place on August 1 in Clinton County.

Plan tour specially for ladies

"We're going to have a special tour for the ladies," says the Farm Management Tour organizer.女士们将在上午9:30和下午2:30参观不同的农场，了解不同农场的管理方法。其中一些农场包括：

- Morning stop 1:
  - Green Meadow Farm: This 2,700-acre farm milks "around the clock," with more than 1,000 cows in the milking string producing 35,000 pounds of milk annually. The herd is on the DHIA test, with 770 free stalls. The other 2,400 cows are in milking pens throughout the farm, each set at 52 degrees in the winter weather. The air temperature is maintained at 80% of the animals' body temperature, which is around 95 degrees. The cows are milked three times a day, and the milk is sold to a cooperative for resale. The farm is one of two alternate morning stops on the tour.

- Morning stop 2:
  - McKee Farm: This 1,077-cow dairy farm is one of the largest purebred Holstein farms in the world and is operated by Merle Green and sons Duane and Velmar. The herd is on the DHI test, with 65 Guernseys, with the herd averaging 4.8 per cent butterfat and just under 10,000 tests per year. The farm has long been noted as Michigan's No. 1 Guernsey dairy, producing 14,000 pounds of milk and 500 pounds of butter in 23 months. The cows are marketed in 23 months, and the milk is sold in the Cleveland area.

Cattle development biggest interest at Green Meadow

Green Meadow Farm is located in the Green Meadow section of the State Farm Management Tour. By 10:45 a.m., the tour group will be at the farm, and they will be welcomed by the farm owner, who will speak briefly, and visitors will learn about the farm's operation, feedlot program, and new drying for corn, which makes a unique feature of the dairy farming business, using the odd-man farm management tour Aug 1.

Ormsom dairy calf housing unit one of first in Michigan

The 400-acre combination-beef and mint-producing farm is one of the largest purebred Holstein farms in the world and is operated by Merle Green and sons Duane and Velmar. The herd is on the DHI test, with 65 Guernseys, with the herd averaging 4.8 per cent butterfat and just under 10,000 tests per year. Calf housing unit finest in Michigan

Milkings are an "around the clock" operation at the Green Meadow Farm at Elkton, where three work shifts milk more than 1,000 purebred Holstein cows daily. The double -right herringbone milking parlor allows 16 cows to be milked at one time.

When planning a new harvest system, the operator of a 2,000-acre corn grower determines his needs. No two situations are exactly alike, and the man who understands his needs can plan a system that will make his work easier, faster, and more profitable.

Cattle development at Green Meadow

Cattle are started on haylage as ear corn and ground corn, or corn-and-cob meal until the haylage is complete. The loose housing unit was started in 1959 and the decision to develop more quality cattle was made. Haylage, corn silage, and high moisture silage are the only feeds used.

Halsey Woodhams farm partnership unique

Although major responsibility for carrying out the decisions is held by the partners, each partner is responsible for carrying out his share of the work. This makes the decision more equitable. Each partner must be interested in the farm's interests.

The Moore Seed Farm includes 1,000 acres of crops, including 900 acres of corn, 70 acres of soybeans, 10 acres of beans and 20 acres of hay. In addition they farm approximately 2,000 acres of fallow land. The farm has been in the family for 120 years, and is still owned and operated by the Moore family. The farm is located at 1470 Moore Road, St. Johns, Michigan.

In 1965 ROBERT and his wife bought 40 acres in the area. Since all of the corn seed operation belongs to Robert and his wife, he has been able to extend the farm operation throughout the area. The farm is located just west of U.S. 27 and north of Island Road.

EDITORIAL PAGE

We’re starting to feel the effects.

The first tangible effect of the two-time defeat of a city charter amendment is about to invade our city—20 blocks of St. Johns streets.

The city commission voted last week to change its street name at the summer about by half in continuing to pay full cost of paving sidewalks on some 30 or more blocks of city street told the commission last week in no certain terms that they didn’t want to pay for a portion of the cost.

Such a response from the citizens was proper. When ordering in and assessing for curb and gutter on those streets, the commission told the people there would be an assessment for blacktopping. The citizens remonstrated, and the citizens wanted that prepayment.

Now it will be, but still no one will everybody will.

The suggestion to assess for the street ‘prepayment’ at the winter time was a bad idea. It was logical. Between 30 and 40 blocks of gravel and curbside streets were, probably 20 blocks of blacktopping the streets could be humped into that projec-

Certainly the assessment cost would be. Property owners along those streets had likewise been promised payment for the improvement as the streets were in condition for it.

But paying costs money NOW, regardless of how much it will save in maintenance over the coming years. The defect of the charter amendment—would have allowed the commission to immediately assess 16 mills for general fund, instead of the city, the city won’t be able to raise enough money for the general fund do to all the aspects it had promised—or do a lot of other things as essential to good government.

So, the commission was caught in a pinch. If people wanted the streets paved but bad enough, the commission summarized, they might be willing to pay $1 a foot assessment to get it done this year. Otherwise, they said, only half, or maybe less, of the paving could be done.

And so they called a public hearing, and they got their answer.

Certainly the commission should not be blamed too much for suggesting an assessment approach. Direct assessment certainly was the only way the whole people could have been made to understand this summer. And direct assessment will undoubtedly fit into the picture more and more until city rulers decide waiting too, to save the worth of one mill—the difference between last year’s total levy and this year’s total levy.

In the meantime, the budgetary budget of the city will probably have to adjust its adverse. Now we can make a real look at what those tax dollars did when we had them and what must be sacrificed if we don’t have them. Maybe we’ll come out of this with a better perspective of city government and its problems.

From the HOPPER by STEVEN HOPKO

The Delhi Kings are back, but not all of them. They defeated the Forest Hills Tigers 14-1 last night in a game where the deliberate pace and the defensive scheme of the Tigers were nullified by the Kings’ quick attack. The Kings were led by Steve Hopko, who scored both of the Kings’ goals.

The Kings were the better team throughout the game, but their defense allowed the Tigers to penetrate their line in the second half. The Tigers scored on a free shot from Dan Taylor, who was fouled in the box by Kings’ goalkeeper John Schwartz.

In the second half, the Kings took control of the game and scored on a penalty shot by Hopko. The goal was the result of a beautiful pass by Hopko to Steve Schwartz, who crossed the ball to Hopko in the box.

The Kings’ defense was solid, led by goalkeeper John Schwartz, who made several excellent saves.

In the overtime period, the Kings were unable to score, and the game ended in a 1-1 tie.

Property tax payments up 8.7%

Local property taxes in 1967 have increased by 139,339 million, or 8.7%, from last year. This means that the total amount of property taxes collected in 1967 is $1.8 billion, compared to the 1966 total of $1.6 billion.

Local property taxes are the largest source of revenue for the city, school district, and county. The increase in property taxes is due to the increase in the assessed valuation of real and personal property.

The increase in property taxes is also due to the fact that the state has increased the rate of property taxes.

The state has increased the rate of property taxes from 1.0% to 1.5%.

Federal budgets

BY ELMER E. WHITE

The simple temptation of the textbook writer to make Logical and easy to understand statements about governmental services and expenditures is acted upon in the annual budget document, the "Budget of the United States Government," which is submitted by the President to Congress each year. The budget is a statement of the President's policy for the coming year and is designed to provide a comprehensive picture of the operations and expenditures of the Federal Government.

The budget process is a complex one involving numerous agencies and departments. The budget is prepared by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) under the direction of the Director of OMB, who is appointed by the President.

The OMB Director and his staff work closely with agency heads and their staffs to develop the budget estimates. These estimates are then reviewed and approved by the Congress before being sent to the President for his signature and transmission to Congress.

The budget process is an ongoing one, and the budget documents are updated throughout the year to reflect changes in policy and priorities. The final budget documents, which include detailed information on all Federal Government expenditures, are released in February of each year.

One of the key functions of the budget process is to provide Congress with an overview of the Federal Government's financial operations. The budget documents are used by Congress to make decisions about spending priorities and to consider legislation that may affect the budget.

The budget process is also important in setting the President's agenda for the coming year. The budget documents provide the President with an opportunity to outline his priorities and to highlight areas where he believes additional funding is needed.

The budget process is an important part of the democratic process in the United States. It is an opportunity for citizens to participate in the decision making process and to ensure that their government is operating efficiently and effectively.

The budget process is also important in the international arena. The budget documents are used by other countries to assess the economic and fiscal health of the United States.

The budget process is a complex one, but it is an essential part of the democratic process in the United States. It is an opportunity for citizens to participate in the decision making process and to ensure that their government is operating efficiently and effectively.
