City reluctant to assess $4.64 for curb, gutter

Per foot cost jumps

Property owners who were hit last year for the first time with the new curb and gutter assessment by their city have been told they will be hit again this year by the assessment.

One commissioner said he didn't think it would be fair to assess people that way again.

City Manager Don Clark said that while the city's curb and gutter assessment did result in some sort of decision so far, he will be placing the assessment decision in front of the city's city manager.

The general attitude of the assessment was that if there was no fund for each property owner to be assessed in the city, there would be no need for the assessment.

The city's curb and gutter assessment was rejected by City Commissioner John Rahn, who said he was against the assessment.

The assessment was rejected by City Commissioner John Rahn, who said he was against the assessment.

DeWitt's big ox roast Saturday

DeWitt— This will be the last year for the DeWitt ox roast, and the sponsoring DeWitt Chamber of Commerce has some real good results to show this year's efforts were paid off.

Money raised at the ox roast will be used to finance the building of a new park in the DeWitt area.

The proposed "Centennial Apartments" building on South US-27 will look similar to this, with the addition of white shutters on the windows and a white facing on the building behind the pillars.

A star is born at Maple Rapids

Maple Rapids is in the news with the birth of a star. The newborn baby, whose name is not yet revealed, was delivered to Miss Ruby Dyer at Maple Rapids Hospital. The infant, weighing 7 pounds and 3 ounces, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dyer, who reside in Maple Rapids.

The proud parents, along with grandparents, great-grandparents, and other family members, were overjoyed at the arrival of the new addition to the family. The hospital staff congratulated the mother and father on the birth of their healthy baby.

Mr. and Mrs. Dyer plan to raise their daughter in Maple Rapids, and the community welcomes the new arrival with open arms. The baby is expected to follow in the footsteps of other notable Maple Rapids residents, who have contributed to the town's vibrancy.

Maple Rapids is a small town nestled in the heart of Michigan, known for its close-knit community and vibrant local economy. The news of the birth of a new star is sure to add a celebratory atmosphere to the town's already lively spirit.

Maple Rapids is located near the Michigan State Fair, which is known for its diverse events and attractions. Visitors can enjoy a range of activities, from agricultural displays to music concerts.

The town is also home to the Maple Rapids Community Library, which offers various resources for the community's cultural and educational needs.

In conclusion, Maple Rapids is thrilled to welcome its newest resident, who is poised to become a star in the town's future. The community looks forward to celebrating this significant milestone and supporting the baby's growth and development.

Maple Rapids is a welcoming community that values its residents and is committed to upholding its traditions and heritage. The town is excited to see the potential of this new addition to its family and is anxious to help nurture its growth.
Dean’s plays 6 times in district, loses finale

Dean’s softball skills at St. Johns has helped him to play 6 times in the district. He is expected to play again this fall.

Shaw, 3rd baseman, was hitting .390 at the end of the season and played a consistent third base. He is expected to continue his base hitting and fielding skills.

Dean played their five games in the district, but they struggled in the final game. Despite their efforts, they fell short of victory.

The team’s coach, Coach Bickford, said, “We played well in the final game, but we just couldn’t pull it off. We came close, but we fell short.”

However, the team showed improvement throughout the season, and Coach Bickford is optimistic about their chances next year.

“I’m proud of the way the team played this year,” said Coach Bickford. “We had some ups and downs, but we battled through it, and I’m looking forward to next season.”

The team will be back in action next year, with a new set of challenges and opportunities.

Fulton Schools swing into activity Sept. 1

MAPLE RAPIDS — With preparations almost completed for the opening of the nine district schools, the 3,000 pupils of the Fulton school system are excited over the first day of school. A full day of teacher orientation and student activities will be held today, Sept. 1. Monday, Sept. 4, will be the first school day that pupils will enter the buildings.

Today is the opening day for kindergarteners and students in grades one through seven. Parents and pupils are expected to report to their respective schools at the usual times as in previous years.

MONTGOMERY, PERKIN, MAPLE — Elementary school children are required to bring a second set of textbooks to school for the first time this fall. Elementary schools must undergo a test to determine whether they can receive textbooks at the usual time.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 7, all elementary grades will be in session, with grades eight through twelve in session on an alternate basis.

Middleton, Perkinton and Maple students in grades one through seven will be in school on Monday, Sept. 4. Those in grades eight through twelve will enjoy the first school day on Wednesday, Sept. 6.

Kindergarten children at the old Middleton school will have to wait another week before they are permitted to attend classes. Kindergarten children are required to be present in school on Monday, Sept. 4. Last year, it became imperative that kindergarten children be present on Monday. Painting has been done in all the schools along with some minor remodeling.

Immunized!

Things got rather hectic at the newly-built hospital in the county on Monday with the opening of the first ward. 105 nurses and doctors staffed the hospital on its first day, and the county put out over $100,000 for the hospital. It is hoped that the hospital will be open for business in the near future.

The Denzil Hancocks of 712 S. Oakland St., St. Johns, are all smiles after the birth of their twin daughters, Robert Russell and Leslie A. Hancocks. The children were born by Cesarean section.

Mr. and Mrs. Denzil Hancocks moved to St. Johns from Lansing and are now living at 712 S. Oakland St. They plan to open a new business in St. Johns.

Mrs. Hancock (June) is employed as the superintendent of the Clinton County Infirmary and her husband has the Sinclair gas station in St. Johns. The Denzil Hancocks and their family are well-known in the community and are expected to be active in local affairs.

The Hancocks were scheduled to leave for southern Wales. Mrs. Nowell, and matron at the Clinton County Infirmary, went with the Hancocks and had been employed as the superintendent of the hospital for over a year. She is expected to return to St. Johns in the near future.

Mrs. Hancock prepares the meals for the 105 residents of the hospital. In comparing their diets, she said that the hospital staff is very happy with the food.

Music club weekend at Interlochen

Mrs. George H. Brooks and Miss Brooks spent Sunday afternoon by scholarship winners in the program, which was held Saturday morning. It was followed with a luncheon at 1:15 P.M.

Mrs. Hancocks were awarded all three famous seals! Mrs. Hancocks was excited to receive the seals.

Can serve ready to cook turkey anytime

By HELEN R. NECH

Teen years are a time for trying new things and taking chances. Last week a group of young people tried their hand at preparing a turkey dinner. The group consisted of 10 young people, including 3 boys and 7 girls. They were divided into two teams, Team A and Team B.

Team A was responsible for preparing the turkey, while Team B was responsible for preparing the side dishes. Team A's turkey was roasted in the oven at 350 degrees for 3 hours. Team B's side dishes included mashed potatoes and gravy, stuffing, and cranberry sauce.

Both teams did an excellent job, and the turkey dinner was well-received by all the guests. The guests were asked to rate the turkey on a scale of 1 to 10, with 10 being the highest rating. The average rating was 8.5.

The turkey was cooked to perfection, with a tender and juicy texture. The side dishes were also well-prepared, with mashed potatoes and gravy being particularly popular. The cranberry sauce was also a hit, with its sweet and tangy flavor.

The event was a great success, and the young people involved were proud of their achievement. They are looking forward to trying new things and taking on new challenges in the future.

The Clinton County News classified this for 1.5 cents.

Thirty-nine varieties of wheat are being produced to the, U.S. Department of Agriculture's recommendations. These varieties will be used to help improve the overall quality of U.S. wheat production.

The USDA urges farmers to use only those varieties recommended by state Extension Service agronomists and other professional groups. Progress reports for 1967, as in the past, will continue to illustrate the improvement in quality of U.S. wheat production.

Here is a list of the predominant varieties, such as those shown at the Clinton County Fair on Thursday, August 25, 1966.

A covered bridge for Clinton

Lovers of covered bridges find the pickings rather slim in Clinton County. The Michigan Tourism Council lists only six, the very best to the west and south of Clinton County.

The bridges have proved to be great hometown attractions, not only for their original purpose of providing a means of crossing a river, but also for their safety and appeal. The current bridge study being conducted under auspices of the Clinton County Road Commission involves an enumeration of inadequacies on bridges, and the commission has been making long-range plans for the construction of some of the most important bridges. It would appear that some of the major developments will be appearing in the spring and early fall, but the answer hasn't been resolved yet. The cost of construction of these new bridges will be high, but the safety they provide will be immeasurable.

The type of structure of a covered bridge is admitted not to be popular in Michigan. The situation is pre-stressed, but the bridge is a necessity.

Storm recalls need for CD sirem system

That was a smashing good storm Clinton County went through last Monday night, but fortunately we escaped with little damage. Of course, many areas in the state were not so lucky but fortunately we escaped with little damage. Not so. With some areas north of us, the damage has been severe. Clinton County went through last Monday night, but fortunately we escaped with little damage. Not so. With some areas north of us, the damage has been severe. Clinton County went through last Monday night, but fortunately we escaped with little damage. Not so. With some areas north of us, the damage has been severe.

The bridges are made of solid wood, the olden days when a tower and a frame and a number of old bridges have served their time and are not worth their safety's sake. The current bridge study being conducted under auspices of the Clinton County Road Commission involves an enumeration of inadequacies on bridges, and the commission has been making long-range plans for the construction of some of the most important bridges. It would appear that some of the major developments will be appearing in the spring and early fall, but the answer hasn't been resolved yet. The cost of construction of these new bridges will be high, but the safety they provide will be immeasurable.

Indeedly, if you do have a yearning to see a covered bridge, here are the locations of Michigan's covered bridges: over the St. Joseph River near Centreville in St. Joseph County; the M. M. Brown bridge two miles northeast of Niles in Berrien County (private bridge open by appointment only); White's Bridge across the Flat River near Smyrna in Ionia County; Fallasburg Bridge across the Flat River in Kent County; and across the Thornapple River in the village of kontakt, Clinton County. There's also a rustic beauty and value to be found in nature. There's always a river somewhere, and we all the need for the CD sirem system.
Restoration of revoked drivers' licenses is high

By ELAENOR S. WORTH

There are several instances where people have appealed to courts to have their licenses suspended, but not satisfied with the result, he appealed to circuit judges last year were successful in regaining the privilege to drive.

Some 71 per cent of those who appealed to courts had successfully challenged against drivers who have been ticketed frequently and who have been reviewed by a body which is responsible for such correspondences. In the majority of the cases, the judges reversed the driving privileges.

It also means that something is being done to prevent reoccurring or revocation or revocation of that circuit privilege, however.

During the first half of 1966, nearly 2,500 drivers who had their licenses suspended or revoked by the driver's testing board were appealed to circuit courts. About 40 per cent were successful in regaining their licenses. (Records for last year were successful in regaining their licenses.

Because auto insurance rates are based in part on the driver's record, it is important that as many people as possible continue to drive. This is especially true in small communities where more than half the drivers with records bad enough to warrant suspension or revocation of the right to drive.

THIS MEANS that circuit judges are able to look into the background of a person and to see if more than half the drivers with records bad enough to warrant suspension or revocation of the right to drive.

Some 71 per cent of those who appealed to courts were successful in regaining their licenses. (Records for last year were successful in regaining their licenses.
