School breakfast programs reality in some school districts

A NEWS FEATURE

by DOYLE L. MILLER

Assistant State Supervisor

It’s 9:00 a.m., school time, and the students are waiting in line for their breakfast meals. The cafeteria is bustling with activity, as students of all ages and sizes stream in from their classrooms. The aroma of food fills the air, and the chatter of conversation is filled with the sounds of the day.

The line moves slowly, but steadily, and soon the students are seated at their tables, enjoying their meals. Some of them read, some talk to their friends, and others are quiet, lost in their own thoughts.

The morning meal is a crucial part of the school day, and it plays an important role in the students’ overall well-being. Breakfast provides essential nutrients that help students start their day on the right foot.

School breakfast programs

School breakfast programs are designed to provide students with a nutritious meal to begin their day. These programs are offered in schools across the country, and they are often funded by federal, state, and local governments.

The benefits of school breakfast programs

School breakfast programs have numerous benefits for students. They help improve academic performance, reduce tardiness and truancy, and increase overall attendance.

In addition, school breakfast programs can help combat childhood obesity and malnutrition. By providing healthy, nutritious meals to students, school breakfast programs can help ensure that all students have access to the nutrients they need to succeed.

School breakfast programs in Michigan

In Michigan, school breakfast programs are available in many schools. The Michigan Department of Education provides funding and support to help schools implement school breakfast programs.

The Michigan Department of Education is committed to ensuring that all students have access to healthy, nutritious meals. They provide resources and guidance to help schools create and maintain effective school breakfast programs.

School breakfast programs are an important part of a healthy and successful school day. By providing students with a nutritious meal, schools can help ensure that all students have the energy and focus they need to succeed academically and socially.

Toughest Box Built... Safer, too!

Gold Boxes have been safety-tested and farm proved. At the factory and in the field, gold boxes are rugged and tested by independent crash test service. Qualified industry tests have shown that, using the Gold Box, there is no chance of a complete rollover. The safety features are approved equipment with every Gold Box.

Gold Boxes offer greater safety, longer life, too. Built with a rugged 11-gallon, 200-lb. capacity fuel tank, Gold Boxes offer a longer range and higher fuel capacity. Area farmers who want to learn more about soil testing in the best way to take it and complete would be well to show up at the Michigan State Univ. in Mt. Clemens (Tuesday). Clinton County Extension Agent George McGivney will conduct a soil testing field day at which demonstrations on soil testing will be given. In conjunction with this field day, a demonstration of the Gehl Box will be given by a local farmer. The field day will be open to all interested persons.

How to send hogs

to market two weeks sooner

32 pounds heavier—on 40 pounds less feed!

Today’s hogs fed the Purina way, go to market two weeks sooner and 32 pounds heavier—on 40 pounds less feed than just ten short years ago!

These benefits are the result of improvements continually being made at Purina’s Hog Chow plant. Ginna and your home grown grain will help you market your hogs faster than ever before!

Gutting hogs to market in a hurry is important—the longer you delay, the longer the hogs consume.

Resolve now to send them to market in a hurry, the Purina way. Ask for Purina Hog Chow at our store with the Checkered sign.

Strong annual meeting program for state FB

Dr. Russell Galler, director of the Michigan State University Extension Service, will speak at the 1968 annual meeting of the Michigan Farm Bureau on Nov. 18-20. Galler, a nationally-known agricultural economist, will present his views on "The Future of American Agriculture." His address will be among headline speakers at the Farm Bureau Nov. 18-19-20 annual meeting of the Michigan Association of County Farm Bureaus.

Galler, who has made numerous television and radio addresses throughout the country, is expected to explore the "generation gap" — tell of student dissent and what it means, and speculate on the future impact of this generation gap on society and politics of the future. His talk will focus on the young generation's attitudes towards the roles they expect to assume in society and politics.

Although many Farm Bureau members may be especially interested in Galler's address, the conference program will offer seminars on a wide variety of topics that should be of interest to members throughout the state.

The annual meeting will be held at the First Congregational Church, Friday Oct. 19, at 7 p.m. The meeting will be televised on WABC-Channels 60.

4-H State Show brings smiles

David Schwartz of Corde, a member of the Spring Valley 4-H Club, won the tractor operators contest at the state 4-H show last week and has received his trophy from Robert White, Extension specialist in agricultural engineering at MSU. David will go on to compete in the U.S. 4-H Tractor Operators Contest Sept. 24.

Douglas Parks of Lanthsburg, a member of the Scattered Southeast 4-H Club, poses with his sheep after being named the champion spring lamb in sheep showmanship at the State 4-H Show last week.

OTHER THAN ANIMAL shows included Douglas Park of the Scattered Southeast 4-H Club, who won an educational trip to Chicago, Ill.; for his examination of poultry, and Martha Mitchell of the Pappy Flowers 4-H club, who placed first in showmanship in the poultry division.

Additional winners not placing in Clinton County in livestock or in competition classes are as follows:

DAVID CULLENSTEIN
Charles Green of the Brushtail 4-H Club placed first in poultry judging, first-place 3-year-old ewe and ewe lamb; and second place in a sheep competition with his recording.

Charles Grant of the Brushtail 4-H Club had first-place sheep and animal lamb; and second place in a sheep competition with his recording.

Sheep pertinent to the Brushtail 4-H Club had first-place sheep and animal lamb.

Clint Woodhams of St. Johns displayed a talk on LSD. She is from the Olive 4-H Club. Clinton County 4-H members attended the show in Michigan, including Kathy Nichols, who placed first in the open division.

Leaders Bruce Green and Cordelia Borton of the Scatter County 4-H Club received an award for 4-H project evaluation.
I for the fact that the pickle is probably Michigan-grown. If you want to make your own pickles, it sets the stage for you to become a homemade pickle expert. When you visit a store, like the Friendly Kroger, you'll see that the size of the cucumber can vary. As they come from the garden, it's important to note that the color, spotted, or with shriveling skin, every cucumber has its own unique quality. It's about one hundred descendants of the cucumber that are worth considering.

Outlaw throw-aways

It becomes increasingly evident as we drive through the highways and farmers work along the outer edges of their fields, that litter, and apparently gasoline bottles, are a nuisance we can ill afford.

The availability of beverages in throw-away glass containers is only aggravating the problem, making the grassy roadways and the other side of the fence all the more inviting for the would-be litterbug.

The Clinton County Farm Bureau, other farm organizations and other general groups have publicly opposed the use of non-returnable bottles. We think the cause to join and work to liken the use of such bottles outlawed in Michigan.

Metal and paper containers cause enough of a problem in themselves along Michigan’s roadways, but glass breaks, and that’s when it does read damage. The glass is a big problem, of course, not as strong as that in returnable bottles. We think the cause to join and work to liken the use of such bottles outlawed in Michigan.

Prices and taxes

We often hear of something being as cheap as that something and all the like, the same may be now said of continuing increases in the price of gas and other things we buy. We drive into a service station to buy gasoline, a good share of the price of that gas is tax. Specifically, the average retail price of gasoline in the U.S. — excluding taxes — increased only about 2 cents in the past 10 years, according to the publication, Oil Facts. In the same period, the federal government’s average price index for all items rose 18.5 percent, while state and federal taxes on gasoline increased 20 cents. These taxes now average 10.72 cents a gallon.

Nowhere is the relationship between prices and taxes more evident than on the gasoline pump of every service station where we park, pump and pay our money. The oil industry is a reality, a huge tax collection agency for government, and what is true of the oil industry is true to a greater or lesser extent elsewhere.

How should we support education?

The board of education’s request for a $5,073 increase in millage is one of the many financial requests that are often presented to the board. Although the request may appear small in comparison to the total budget, it is a significant amount for any district.

The need for additional funding is evident in the current economic climate. Education costs are rising, and the state and federal governments have reduced their support for education. As a result, schools are forced to rely more heavily on local sources of revenue, such as property taxes.

The board of education has carefully considered the request for additional funding and has determined that it is necessary to ensure the continued quality of education in our district.

The request for $5,073 will help offset the costs of providing a quality education for our students. This includes funding for teacher salaries, support staff salaries, instructional materials, and maintenance and repair of school facilities.

The board of education has worked hard to ensure that every dollar is spent wisely and effectively. They prioritize the needs of the students and ensure that the funds are used for the greatest benefit.

We encourage you to support this request for additional funding. It is an investment in the future of our children and our community.

Mrs. Michael Flagg and daughter, Lois, of Sheepsville, spent last Sunday afternoon visiting relatives in Owosso. Mrs. Flagg's son, Gene Flagg, and his wife, Carol, of Owosso, were also visiting their parents.

The Sheepsville Little League team, under the guidance of Coach Marvin Whitford, played a game against the Owosso team on Saturday, August 24, at the Sheepsville Park. The game was played under the beautiful blue sky with the sun shining brightly. The Owosso team scored early in the game, taking a 3-1 lead into the third inning. However, the Sheepsville team came back in the bottom of the third inning, scoring 4 runs to take the lead, 5-3. The Owosso team fought back in the fourth inning, scoring 2 runs to tie the game, 5-5. The Sheepsville team scored 4 runs in the fifth inning to take a 9-5 lead. The Owosso team scored 3 runs in the sixth inning to make the score 12-8. The Sheepsville team scored 3 runs in the seventh inning to win the game, 15-8. The Sheepsville team played a total of 8 games in the Little League season, winning 6 and losing 2. The Sheepsville team is currently in first place in the Little League standings.

Cities, villages, townships get sales tax money.

A ROLL OF BURLINGTON, in color,

These two teams battled for the Little League championship. The Sheepsville team had a strong pitching rotation, led by pitcher John Wickwire, and a solid defense, led by catcher Ray Hofstetter and shortstop Mike Weller. The Owosso team had a strong batting lineup, led by batters John Szabo and Dan蕤, and a solid defense, led by pitcher Ralph Weller and shortstop Mike Weller. The game was a hard-fought battle, with both teams playing their best in the Little League championship.
