By HAROLD SCHMALTZ

Labor Day has come and gone once again and the very word "Labor" conjures up images of factories, sweat equity, work done and a few loots that go through the same Labor. They are especially good for this.

This is Alden Livingston Week

For many years now Alden has served in capacities in the county as a member of the county zoning commission and in his position as a member of the Congregational Church. He has been a hard-working Republican, a hard-working Democrat and a hard-working Republican and Democrat.

This is the purpose of the St Johns Volunteer Clinic which not only gave medical help at the Monday night clinics to 300 or more workers and their families, but also set a number of follow-ups in other clinics which not only gave medical help at the Monday night clinics to 300 or more workers and their families, but also set a number of follow-ups in other clinics.

In addition to a hard-working Jaycees, the County Service Unit was also represented by 13 delegates headed by County Chairman B. Stanley Pocius, Superintendent of the Ingham County Board of Education and the Ingham County Intermediate School District.

The reason for this was the fact that Alden Livingston was born and raised in the Gratiot area for being a successful businessman in the county and was an influential member of the community and had his roots in our own little town.

Ariaz family says it with flowers

ST JOHNS - The Gamaliel Ariaz family says it with flowers. They have turned their home at 512 W Gibbs into a mini-greenhouse. The thick green grass surrounding the white frame house sprouts a rainbow of budding colors.

The local couple put their green thumbs to work years ago. That's when Gamaliel, his wife Vicky and their daughters Estella, 7, Abigail, 8, and Norma, 10 traveled to Clinton County from Texas. Ariaz suffered a heart attack shortly after the move took him off the job. Gardening became his therapy. Rain or shine ... summer, fall, winter or spring the Ariazs can be found hand carrying from Texas. Another one of the pride and joys is a zinnia which measures 5 inches across the head. Many flowers will be rooted next year.

Another gardening project Gamaliel has undertaken on a larger scale is corn and pickles. He's harvesting his crops now before fall weather comes along bringing cold weather.

Friends, neighbors and passersby have enjoyed the colorful spray to brighten their day. Many go out of their way just to look at the Ariaz family's flowers. In their half acre of flowers are roses, petunias, zinnias, "moss rose, hens and chicks. The list is endless.

Ariaz's secret to successful flowers? Gamaliel Ariazes can be found on hands and knees in their makeshift greenhouse. And the thick green grass makes a green house too. The Ariaz family loves it. People from Clinton County say it is the most unusual plant they have raised.

Gamaliel and Vicky are hard at work in the yard. This planter is one of many that decorate the fenced lawn. The Ariaz girls, Estella, 7, Abigail, 8, and Norma, 10 are junior flower growers. Their green thumbs are starting to turn green thanks to what the family is teaching them.

They've turned their home at 512 W Gibbs into a mini-greenhouse. The thick green grass surrounding the white frame house sprouts a rainbow of budding colors.

The local couple put their green thumbs to work years ago. That's when Gamaliel, his wife Vicky and their daughters Estella, 7, Abigail, 8, and Norma, 10 traveled to Clinton County from Texas.

Ariaz suffered a heart attack shortly after the move took him off the job. Gardening became his therapy. Rain or shine ... summer, fall, winter or spring the Ariazs can be found hand carrying from Texas. Another one of the pride and joys is a zinnia which measures 5 inches across the head. Many flowers will be rooted next year.

Mutual problem

Citizens of St. Johns and the City Commission have a mutual problem which is now not anything new. Flooded basements following rain storms or when extra storage space is needed is a system of basements that are becoming increasingly prevalent. And no one is apparently doing anything about it. The fact that engineering work is under way and has been under way for a long time does not go far in appeasing a distressing property owner. City Commission members are not happy over some of the delays, but state specifications change, often times in the middle of a project, and it requires a restart. When the time arrives to implement the plans to help solve the problem it is hoped that no major bonding issue will be required. However, in some areas of the city, corrective measures will necessitate special bonding districts. At that time we hope property owners will take the positive action required to alleviate this terrible situation.

Solutions certainly isn't alone in being caught up with time. Old sewer lines are inadequate and in many cases breaking. It looks like a long road to the day when the problem will be solved. But solve it we must, and the sooner the better.

Coverage was great

A greater appreciation of the Olympics has been the experience of millions of people this past week, thanks in a large extent to the excellent television coverage of ABC.

Abortion

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir,

I do not write within the framework of the Detroit Free Press, where a few people have a Pulitzer winning attitude and don't know it.

I wish to voice my opinion on abortion. To the best of my knowledge, abortion is a moral issue that needs to be addressed.

Abortion and birth control are not the same; they are not the same thing. Abortion is the act of ending a pregnancy, while birth control is the act of preventing pregnancy.

I believe that abortion should be legal, but that this right should be exercised responsibly and with regard for the rights of others.

Sincerely,
