Lisa Davis quietly strums her guitar while thinking of her summer in Denmark on the Youth for Understanding exchange program. She was there for seven weeks.

Impact of Denmark trip now hitting home for Lisa

Lisa Davis is finding the experience in Denmark like none near even more interesting now that she has returned. She and the other students have expressed to friends and family.

"What I saw over there I thought was incredible. I saw things I've never even dreamed of before. I learned so much and I've realized that I want to go back," said Davis.

"I met people from all over the world, and they were all so friendly and welcoming," said Davis.

"I also learned a lot about the culture and the way of life," she added.

Davis had the opportunity to live with a Danish family for a month, and she said it was an incredible experience.

"I had my own room and my own bed, and I even got to go on a trip with them to see some of the sights. I also learned how to speak Danish," she said.

Davis is now back in the United States and is excited to share her experiences with her friends and family.

NEW LOOK FOR RHEINHANS

Rheinhans' Costume Shop for men and boys in downtown St. Johns has a new look these days. Sign letters were installed by workmen Friday on the front of the new facade, part of the extensive remodeling and renovation that has been going on through the summer.

Whoever is elected to the two vacant seats on the St. John's City Commission in November will have to do it on a write-in campaign. There won't be any names printed on the ballot for the commission heeding.

City Atty. William Kemper ruled Monday night that the last day for filing nominating petitions was Aug. 24, the date of the primary election. Since no one had filed petitions prior to then, the ballots blanks will remain blank.

Kemper's ruling followed a request for an interpretation of the law from new City Clerk Thomas Hurdley.

Kemper's decision was along the lines of one by former City Atty. Donald Brown in 1965 who ruled that election law had superseded the city charter and its election procedures.

Kemper said the charter provides in addition "(S)" of Section 2 a mandatory provision that no petitions can be accepted

New Zealand IFYE staying on Clinton farm

The IFYE program is a program designed to provide opportunities for young people from New Zealand to experience life in another country. It is the plan of the program to have one IFYE participant from New Zealand for every six American IFYE participants.

Lisa recalls trip to Denmark

Lisa, who was born in New Zealand, was part of the New Zealand IFYE program in 1967. She visited Denmark for a month, staying with a host family in Aarhus.

Lisa's experiences included visiting the city of Aarhus, participating in Danish culture, and learning about the daily life of a Danish family. She also had the opportunity to attend school in Denmark, which gave her the chance to experience the education system firsthand.

Lisa's time in Denmark was a valuable experience for her, as it allowed her to learn about a different culture and gain insights into the lives of people from a different country. She returned home with a greater appreciation for her own culture and a deeper understanding of the world.

Imagine!
$50,000 for an OPAL
by JIM HICKS

It’s funny about people. A lot of them still have the old-fashioned notions, like love and marriage. Now, I for one stick to the classics. I’ll bet you have some idea of what I mean, too.

Yet, strange to relate, when they were first discovered in the 17th century, the opal was known as a stone of good fortune. So let’s consider the possibilities.

Imagine! A spring 1969 Wedding is possible!}

Kathleen Kindel new Mrs Walter Kinsey

The ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Gerald Churchill, pastor of the First Baptist Church of St. Johns, Presiding.

The father of the bride gave the ring to the groom and then the couple left for their honeymoon trip.

Mrs Kathleen Ann Kindel, daughter of Mr and Mrs L. C. Kindel, became the new Mrs Walter Kinsey, a devout member of the First Baptist Church of St. Johns.

The couple greeted guests at their wedding at the home of Mr and Mrs Earl Dunckle, St. Johns.

According to ancient astrology the fiery opal—one of nature’s most valuable gems—is associated with power, energy, and vitality.

Bermuda is a paradise of white-sandy beaches, crystal-clear waters, and lush tropical vegetation. It is the only country in the world where you can surf, snorkel, scuba dive, and play golf, tennis, and croquet in the same day.

Redwings open grid wars at Mason Friday

St. Johns light on experience, depth, and weight

The St. Johns Redwings will open their 1988 football season Friday at Mason with very little experience compared to Mason. Coach Jeff Smith does not expect the Redwings to be overcome Friday by the Pirates.

"I'm not going to say we're going to win, but we will have a good game," said Smith. "The Redwings played real well against the three schools we scrimmaged against this summer, and I think we can give them a good game."

The Pirates will be favored, Smith said, and DeWitt will have a tough time opening the season. According to Smith, DeWitt will have a strong defense, a balanced offense, and a good secondary.

"The Secondary will be our strength, and we'll have a good defense," said Smith. "But the offense will be a problem, and we'll have to rely on our defense to win the game."

The Redwings will have to rely on their defense to stop the Pirates. Smith said that the Redwings will have to stop the Pirates' running game and prevent them from scoring.

"The Pirates will have a good running game, and we'll have to stop them from scoring," said Smith. "But we'll have a good defense, and we'll have to rely on our defense to win the game."

The Pirates will also have a strong passing game, Smith said, and the Redwings will have to be careful.

"The Pirates will have a good passing game, and we'll have to be careful," said Smith. "But we'll have a good defense, and we'll have to rely on our defense to win the game."

The Redwings will have to work hard to win the game, Smith said, and they will have to be aggressive.

"The Redwings will have to work hard to win the game," said Smith. "But we'll have a good defense, and we'll have to rely on our defense to win the game."

For practical purposes, East Essex School is all new

The library at East Essex School is still in the settling stages, but already the teachers are using it. Mrs. Mary Walton's second grade teacher, looks for some ideas from the shelves.

Mrs. Judith Wright, first grade teacher, talks over the uses of the projector in the library; with her are second graders in her classroom. Here she helps fourth graders Rachel Vallin and Georgia Spade and third grader Spencer Martin with writing at the chalk board.

Once upon a time, Beverly Baker was a teacher and the District School Board Chairman and a graduate of St. John's High School. She now teaches at the school which she helped to establish. This year is a milestone year for the St. John School system, although she has been teaching for over 25 years. As the school was founded in 1869, a tribute was made to her for all of her contributions to the school.

The school's principal is Mr. John L. Sproule, who has been with the school for 15 years. The principal, a graduate of St. John's High School, is dedicated to the education of the students and has made many improvements to the school.

The school has a beautiful campus with many buildings and facilities. The classrooms are equipped with modern technology, including computers and interactive whiteboards. The library is well-stocked with books and other resources, and the gymnasium is equipped with state-of-the-art equipment.

The school offers a variety of extracurricular activities, including sports, music, and drama. The students are encouraged to participate in these activities to develop their interests and skills.

In conclusion, the St. John School system is a great place to learn and grow. The staff and students work together to create a positive learning environment where students can achieve their goals. The school is committed to providing the best possible education to its students.

At least one article in every newspaper is about the importance of community. It is a sentiment that is shared by many, and it is evident in the way people interact with each other. The news section of the newspaper is a place where people can share their stories and connect with one another. Agriculture in Action

No earthy wilted pumpkins may be seen in the bountiful array of vegetables the local farmers of St. Johns, Michigan, grow. Many are displayed in the store windows of the town's commercial downtown area. The display of vegetables is part of the town's annual Harvest Festival, which celebrates the rural heritage of the area. The festival features a parade, a harvest dinner, and a variety of other events. The town is known for its rich agricultural history and is a hub for local farmers and their produce.

Civil defense & you

by CHERYL FRAZIER, Publicity Director

A recent issue of the American Rifleman featured an article that highlighted the importance of civil defense and gun ownership. The article emphasized the role of firearms in protecting citizens, particularly during emergencies and natural disasters. It argued that the right to bear arms is not just a heritage of the United States, but also an essential part of an individual's personal safety. The article concluded that firearms are a necessary tool in the arsenal of civil defense, and that individuals should have access to them to protect themselves and their communities.

There is an important issue of education that needs to be addressed. The U.S. Army study concluded that corporal punishment is not effective in achieving desired outcomes. The study found that students who are subjected to corporal punishment are more likely to engage in aggressive behavior and have lower self-esteem. The study recommended alternative methods of education, such as positive reinforcement and behavior modification, to improve student behavior.

Believes fewer, larger districts might improve education in Michigan

A MICHIGAN SCHOOL district reorganization study team is in the process of reporting to the Legislature by the end of this summer on findings and recommendations for new school districts. The team, under the leadership of Clifford Worden, a member of the Michigan Education Administration Center, University of Michigan, is considering the idea that larger "middle districts"—be- coming the means whereby a law which said "the state legis­ rates "eliminates duplication of maintaining districts that can't and tends to'think creatingfewer administratively by abolishing • • • districts do so."

The Senate Finance Committee report said: "...the report indicates the inter­ district reorganization team believes the debt man owes to animals..."

"Unfortunately, many impor­ "dition and geographic area to per­ tion and geographic area to per­ "ment of Michigan," the study says. "Larger school districts tend to make greater use of both intelligence tests and aptitude tests, and tends to think creating fewer district reorganization in Michigan," the report said.

He believes the history of intelligence tests four years ago was an "educational revolution" in psychology and has, so far, been only a beginning. "The idea that a school district should be the unit of administration," he says, "is beginning to spread out the tax base either poor or wealthy areas but..."

"Inadequately staffed, small school boards have a tendency to think creating fewer districts in Michigan showed a • • • way to provide for and maintain communities of the local level, and a state­ level system of Michigan," the study says.

Outdoor conservation labs growing value for schools

Clinton County schools are among those across the nation rapidly expanding outdoor conservation laboratories that offer city youngsters, as well as rural, more a chance to learn about natural resources.

Youth from the Soil Conservation Service, Westphalia Schools and other Clinton County educational institutions have become cooperators of the Clinton County Soil Conservation District.

"These visitations to the area schools will offer a practical and fundamental way to provide pupils with firsthand guidance in natural preserves. They can range from a small area close around a school building to an expanse of many acres. Regardless of size, outdoor conservation laboratories, for preserving the welfare of plants and animals on each other, for growing plants, and many kinds of experimentation, coupled with development projects, are agreements of the soil conservation districts and many conservationally valuable areas, parks, woodlands and open space kept as a part of other land use, the Lincoln Elementary School at Coldwater, for example, has established a model water shed laboratory, according to Richard positive, which is rapidly developing outdoor conservation areas, ponds, woodland management areas, and Christmas tree plantations.

"Outdoor conservation areas provide rural students opportunities to learn water resources to supplement classroom work and test their youth as to intelligent resource conservation for them," said L. Freeman. "Outdoor conservation laboratories that offer a practical and fundamental way to provide pupils with firsthand guidance in natural preserves.
