Four county residents work on Ballenger fund raiser

Four Clinton County residents are operating an annual mid-Michigan citizens' bonding effort to raise money for the Ballenger fund raiser.

The drive, which runs Sept. 18, 19, and 20, will be conducted by officials of the St. Johns Jaycees, who have taken over supervision of the effort.

The drive began in 1971 and has been held annually in the mid-Michigan counties of Ingham, Eaton, Shiawassee, and Clinton.

This year's goal is $10,000, and the money raised will be used to support athletic coaches in the county.

The St. Johns Jaycees, under the leadership of Bill Patton and Charlie Huntington, will be in charge of the operation.

The drive will involve the collection of donations at various locations throughout the county, including the St. Johns Jaycees' headquarters at 401 E. Higham St.

The money raised will be used to support the athletic programs in the county's schools.

The St. Johns Jaycees are a civic organization that supports local charitable causes and community events.

The drive is open to the public, and donations of any amount are welcome.

Talking about tenants

Earlier this year Representative Ronny Onorato of Ovid-Elsie introduced a bill with the sponsorship of District Governor E.O.W. of the Michigan State Grange to help parks in this area. The bill became law effective January 1, 1973. Prior to the introduction of the bill, there were only 12 mobile home parks in the state of Michigan. Since then, due to the political pressure from the members of this group, there were over 26 parks created in the state. As of today, there are 39 mobile home parks in the state. The Michigan State Grange is the largest agricultural organization in the state.

The bill provides assistance to parks in the state. The parks are eligible for a grant of up to $25,000 to help with the operational expenses. This grant is a significant amount of money, but it is not enough to cover all the expenses of a park. The parks are still required to raise additional funds to cover the operational expenses. However, the bill has provided a significant boost to the parks in the state. The parks have been able to raise the additional funds through various means, such as grant writing, fundraising, and other initiatives.

The bill has also provided a sense of security to the parks. The parks have been able to plan for the future with the assurance that they will have the necessary funds to cover the operational expenses. This has helped the parks to attract more residents and provided a stable environment for the residents.

The Michigan State Grange has been a significant contributor to the success of the bill. The Grange has provided strong support for the bill and has been instrumental in spreading awareness about the bill and its benefits. The Grange has also provided financial support to the parks, through the grant program.

In conclusion, the Michigan State Grange has played a significant role in the development of mobile home parks in the state. The bill has provided a significant boost to the parks, and the Grange has been a strong supporter of the bill. The Grange has also provided financial support to the parks, through the grant program.

In summary, the bill has been successful in its objectives. The parks have been able to raise additional funds to cover the operational expenses, and the parks have been able to plan for the future with the assurance that they will have the necessary funds to cover the operational expenses. The bill has also provided a sense of security to the parks. The Grange has played a significant role in the success of the bill. The Grange has provided strong support for the bill and has been instrumental in spreading awareness about the bill and its benefits. The Grange has also provided financial support to the parks, through the grant program.
Heart of the system

For the first time in memory—at least in peacetime—US businessmen may find themselves unable to have all they want of necessities and luxuries at low prices. If anything, the shortage of such things as food and energy is. There is, as yet, little public understanding of the dangers implicit in permitting shortages to undermine the efficiency and productivity of the competitive enterprise system.

People wonder, for example, why companies continue to advertise and promote their names and their products or why they continue to seek more satisfied customers. The answer is simple. Even when there are shortages, in fact especially when there are shortages, other companies must work harder than ever before to maintain the economies of scale flowing to consumers. The best possible news is that retailers and businesses of all kinds—gasoline and food, for instance—something akin to glee at the prospect that shortages will force businesses to forgo promotional efforts show the least understanding of our modern mechanism of production and distribution.

Back through the Years

A PERSONAL LOOK AT THE NEWS Between the lines

with Jim Edwards

Last week was a three "nothing went well" week. I lost $10,000 on the stock market, I was fired, and I married Mrs. Edwards.

There can be no turning back now, so I'll just have to go on and see if I can make something of it. I'll just have to laugh at the whole thing and try to make the best of it. If anything, it will be a test of my abilities and my determination.

You see, I am a hard worker, and I am determined to succeed. I will not give up easily. I will keep trying until I achieve my goals.

Yes, I know, it may sound crazy, but I have faith in myself and I believe that I can overcome any obstacle. I am going to work harder than ever before, and I am not going to let anyone tell me that I can't do it.

So, let's keep our heads up and our spirits high. We can do it! We will do it! Thank you all for your support and encouragement.

The July hatch was up 99% from a year ago, and eggs were 15% higher than last year. This is a result of increased egg production. Factory eggs were selling out at about $6 per hundredweight.

The price that manufacturers were paying 3 months ago was about $6 per hundredweight.

Another hint at increased pork production is the fact that farmers are increasing their feeding of hogs. Farmers who are feeding hogs are reporting a higher demand for feed.

Welcome to the widest array of luscious fruits and dewy fresh garden vegetables in the entire marketing area. Our fruits and vegetables are carefully selected from the “lush” growing fields of California, Florida, Hawaii, Texas and throughout the Mid-West, then rushed to our Kroger Store.

There’s no sense driving all over town looking for those little odds and ends when you can get almost anything you might need at your Kroger Superstore when you shop for food. You’ll find household needs, sewing notions, party and plastic needs, school and art supplies, hardware-plumbing needs, pet supplies, greeting cards and much more. Sure, you’ve got frsh... but we’ve got a lot more, too.
