Bath second district to ratify contracts

By TOM DAVITT

ST. JOHNS—Water, water everywhere, and (ugh) raw sewage.

That was the complaint of some 10 or 11 neighbors at Monday night's Bath City Commission meeting. They were upset that the city had not fixed the problem that has plagued them for the past three months.

The neighbors complained that the city had promised to fix the problem several times, but nothing had been done.

The Bath City Commission met Monday night to address the issue. The commission decided to take action and start fixing the problem.

The commission also heard from several residents who were upset about the sewage problem. They said that the city had not done anything to fix the problem and that it was getting worse.

The commission agreed to take action and start fixing the problem. They also said that they would hold the city accountable for fixing the problem.

The commission thanked the neighbors for coming to the meeting and for bringing the issue to their attention.

The commission adjourned the meeting after hearing from the neighbors. They will hold a follow-up meeting to discuss the progress of the sewage problem.

The St. Johns Board of Education is currently seeking candidates for the position of superintendent. The board has advertised the position in the local newspapers and on the school district's website.

The board is looking for a candidate with strong administrative skills and a passion for education. They are particularly interested in candidates who have experience working with diverse populations and who are committed to providing high-quality education for all students.

The board will hold interviews with the top candidates in the next few weeks. They hope to make a decision on the new superintendent in early March.

The DNR anticipates issuing licenses to some Indians in their areas. They will be required to present to the Michigan Department of Indian Affairs an Indian identification card, as well as proof of Indian ancestry. The other 2 treaties did not provide for any such formal identification requirements.

The DNR's action to require licenses from the Indian tribes involved their ancestors. Under the first treaty, by which they were given rights to certain Chippewa bands of the Chippewa Tribe, they gained title to lands-—previously covered by the recently court-ordered Treaty of 1854. Descended from the Chippewa's environmental efforts will be directed from the Sault Ste. Marie and Tahquamenon Falls areas.

The DNR's environment effort will not go far until the U.S. court in Grand Traverse Bay area. The U.S. court is requiring more commercial fishing rights for Chippewa bands. The U.S. court has also ordered that the Chippewa bands be allowed to harvest certain species of fish from the Great Lakes fisheries zone management areas. Follow Kathy's example

How many of you members of the Elsie 4 Corners of the National 4-H Congress at Washington, D.C. have the opportunity to visit Japan and become a part of the Nation team. She has also met with President Nixon at the White House and other State Project winners.

For example, Kathy Nichols of the 4-H club as a teen leader, camp counsellor, club of fleer and many others, has exhibited at the Madison 4-H fair as a specialist in related projects.

Do you belong to some youth group or clubs and yet have some clean fun. Nothing is more to offer the youth and adults and for what 4-H offered her, the bridges she has built and how she has been a specialist in related projects and citizenship by participating in many different things.

What about you, the youth be sure you have stopped to think a minute how you have been a specialist and help to be a leader but one who is much to offer the State Project winners.

Kathy Nichols was introduced and reports were received somewhere around 41 cents of the consumer's food not being profit. The way things average and that prices paid in the farm and vegetables plays in our state's economy. 27, JUNE — Keep Michigan Beautiful, Clinton County Chapter plans to hold a monthly meeting on May 18 at 7 p.m. at the Central Baptist Church in St. Johns. To register, please call the chapter's Executive Director, Bruce Czech, at 224-3234. Illinois will be the next state to join the Keep Illinois Beautiful movement.

LANSING—Thirty-eight cities in this state are represented in the West Michigan Area Clean Up campaign, which is the 20th annual event of the Clinton County chapter of Keep Michigan Beautiful. In the 20 years of the campaign, 10,000 volunteers have collected over 700,000 pieces of litter. The next event will be on Saturday, May 26, with volunteers needed for the following: 8 a.m. to 10 a.m.; 10 a.m. to noon; noon to 2 p.m.; 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.; and 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. Volunteers are asked to bring a bag and gloves, and to use caution when picking up trash.

With the exception of the above dates, volunteers are also needed for the Clinton County chapter's annual Clean Up campaign, which is now in its 20th year. The campaign is open to all volunteers, regardless of age, and is a great way to get involved in the community. For more information or to volunteer, please contact Bruce Czech at 224-3234.

Placing the emphasis on the importance of maintaining the environment, the chapter's Executive Director, Bruce Czech, emphasized the need for volunteers to help keep the county clean.

"It's important that we continue to work together to keep the county clean," Czech said. "We need everyone's help to make a difference."
United Fund deserves support

Let's get a couple of facts off the beaten route:

Most will agree that the United Fund efforts in the major community campaigns are leading the way.

And much of the cause is due to the support of citizens sponsored by U.F. boards.

But the fact remains that the bulk of the money donated to U.F. will be used by not donating at all.

Most folks believe in strong support of youth organizations such as Boy Scouts, and will be happy a portion of their contribution.

The list to which United Fund contributes has grown over the years. You've seen them at times that no agency is reduced to get a slice of the pie.

Therefore, we as a contributor can specify exactly where our money is going and you can be assured that your money will go there.

You will get an acknowledgement so stating.

So no more hangovers or excuses would seem legitimate to not support U.F. this year. In many communities, this may be the year of decision as to the future of this way of supporting your favorite charities or organizations. The alternative way, if you may have forgotten, is not as appealing a thought.

Bridging the gap

National 4-H week, October 3-9, is an appropriate time to call attention to youth, leaders and researchers who make this informal educational program work for the benefit of all people who are interested in America's young people.

The youngsens come from every state in the Union, as well as from territories like Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Guam. They live on farms, in rural, non-farm homes, in suburbs and in the country's largest cities. A growing number each year are from inner-city, low-income homes, while for 4-H type programs is greatest. Similar programs have been organized in 85 countries around the world.

This year's National 4-H week, "4-H: Bridges the Gap." The 4-H'ers between the ages of 10 and 19 are certainly helping to bridge the gaps resulting from traditional prejudices, generations and stereotyped opinions. They are working to improve communication between races and the haves and have-nots.

Through their clubs they are working for the betterment of their homes, their communities and their country.

Many clubs join together to work on individual community problems, such as conservation, health, nutrition and safety. The mass 4-H week is designed to put a road-side clean-up drive and co-op waste paper and tin can recycling. The older members work with younger teens teaching practical ideas, leadership and how to get 4-H service.

But 4-H is more than just the present members who are getting knowledge while having the time of their lives.

It is the half-million volunteer adult, teen and junior leaders who work with them, guiding their efforts and encouraging them to greater achievements.

It is the men and women with the Extension Services—both Federal and State—amid the experience of 4-H programs and projects, expanding 4-H as the needs are made known.

It is individuals, corporations, civic organizations and private foundations which give encouragement through support at all levels from local communities to programs of national and international importance. Their financial aid, technical assistance, incentives and recognition span the continent.

And it is the more than 300,000 4-H volunteers who have benefited from their 4-H experience and new ways of sharing their knowledge and encouragement to present members.

Clinton County has over 1,600 boys and girls enrolled with nearly 300 projects each year. They are guided by over 300 adult leaders and 4-H members and services in guiding the youth in learning different skills related to their programs.

We salute the total 4-H organization and wish it continued success in serving America's young people. We endorse 4-H expansion into urban areas and look toward even greater service to youth of our great nation.

Harvest Moon

One Year Ago

Sept. 30, 1970

Two Clinton County men were recognized on the occasion of United Fund week in the state and in Clinton Township. Harold Wellman, president of American Oil Company, and an active member in the county U.F. boards, was honored by the U. F. boards for 40 years of service.

But the fact remains the large administrative problems of national and international importance, their financial aid, technical assistance, incentives and recognition span the continent.

And it is the more than 300,000 4-H volunteers who have benefited from their 4-H experience and new ways of sharing their knowledge and encouragement to present members.

Thoughts on welfare

by REV. HUGH BANNINGA

There's none more for King- Jesus than the poor and hopeless. To help them is to serve Him and to share in His sufferings. For this reason the state of Michigan and the city of Pontiac have established the "Open Door Agency." The mission of this agency is to bring help to those in need. The Open Door Agency is located at 1401 N. Main St., Pontiac. They offer various services such as clothing, food, and counseling. If you wish to donate or receive assistance, you can visit the agency or call them at 734-368-8500.

North Bengal

by WILLIAM SHED

People are always interested in hearing about the latest travel experiences. Last month, I had the opportunity to visit North Bengal, a region of northeast India. It is home to many different ethnic groups, including the Baptist and Muslim communities. The region is known for its lush forests and scenic landscapes. During my visit, I had the chance to meet with local leaders and learn more about their culture and traditions. I was particularly impressed by the hospitality of the people and the beauty of the natural surroundings. Overall, it was a memorable and enriching experience.
