City income tax under consideration here

"ALL OF THESE COSTS ARE DIRECTLY being borne, solely by the property owners of the City of St. Johns," Greer continued in his remarks. "A local income tax on those persons who now live in the town but weren't before their time here would be fair and equitable.

"Should the Communities Chest board think otherwise, it is possible the Chest fund drive next Monday may have to be cancelled."

Another three-quarters of a mill in taxation would be necessary to complete the St. Johns Public School building program, the board of education announced last Wednesday night.

The board voted to submit to voters on Nov. 28 a $200,000 bond issue proposal, the Bicentennial Fund, which is primarily to buy land for the new rural neighborhood elementary schools.

District voters will now be asked to approve another three-quarters of a mill in taxation for 10 years.

In October, the Communities Chest board approved a resolution which could have been made by the board as a result of the Chest fund drive next Monday. The resolution is being sent to the communities of St. Johns, Ovid and Pewamo.

City OKs title insurance but not title search: mayor

A thousandsimmelde over fina $400,000 permit for land from the City of St. Johns to the St. John Public Schools was reversed March 15 by the school board. Mayor John Greaves said the fight was no longer in the best interests of the school board.

Mr. Greaves said he was not sure how the change of heart came about but that it was probably due to the school board's desire to keep the land from being used for private purposes.

The school board will now have to raise the necessary funds to purchase the land and the city will have to repay the school board for the permit.

Multi-county talks, proposals occupy Clinton supervisors

The Clinton County Board of Supervisors will need to act Monday evening at 7:30 when they gather in St. Johns to discuss their monthly meeting of multi-county committees. Monday night's meeting was scheduled to be five counties. No action was taken on Tuesday, and he said it might be

Bond issue

The county is one of the three largest sources of state support for the state's mental hospitals, and the bond issue would require a 5-cent increase in the sales tax to provide $2 million each year, or $20 million in five years. The bond issue would be used to build out the capacity of the hospitals and to provide for new facilities.

Crime Court

James L. Butcher, 27, of Lansing, was fined $200 plus $20 costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail on a charge of disorderly conduct. He said he would not be required to contribute unless their income is considered the most equitable now and for the future, "the Municipal Report" on the income tax concluded.

St. Johns stays in league race

Redwings' first play kills Comets

The Redwings weren't perfect in their control of the game, but they kept things under control and scored on the first play from scrimmage. Bob Reedy fumbled a high pass on the first play, and Berkley ran it in for a touchdown. John Saleml picked up 10 yards to the six, and then Saleml swept left for a TD. The score took only 35 seconds to make. John Saleml was the Redwings' leading rusher with 101 yards in that category, in the first half of the game. The St. Johns offense was dominated by the defense, and the Redwings' lack of points was the result of a St. Johns fumble in the second half. The Redwings didn't have many scoring opportunities, but they kept things moving and scored on the first play from scrimmage.

OVID-ELSIE HOMECOMING QUEEN, HER COURT

Fumble recovery saves 0-0 tie

CASS CITY — Fumbling the ball in their own territory with just over a minute left, the Cass City Trojans fumbled away an opportunity to win their first game of the season. The Cass City defense was unable to stop the Marauders’ offense, allowing them to score 27 unanswered points.

Unoccupied rural old home burns

A westerly wind fanned the flames, and the old home burned. All that remained standing was a kitchen when they got there. Maier said the flames were spreading too fast and too hot, and the occupants needed to evacuate as quickly as possible.

The home, located on the old Wills farm road, was one of the oldest rural homes in the area. It had been abandoned for several years, and there were no occupants. The fire started in the attic and spread throughout the house, eventually consuming the main structure.

The fire was contained by firefighters from surrounding areas, and the cause of the fire is under investigation. The occupants were able to escape without injury, and the home was declared a total loss.

Ways to break the breakfast barrier

By HELEN M. MEAD

When people begin to think of breakfast as the most important meal of the day, they may be a bit surprised to learn that breakfast barriers to eating can be broken with the aid of simple knowledge of how the body functions. Breakfast barriers are often associated with a lack of time, too much work, or a general feeling of being rushed. But there are other factors involved in breakfast barriers and knowledge can help to remove them.

In 60 years, one man and a woman share a breakfast table. If your daily breakfast is the same as his, chances are each of you may be missing a lot of nutritious food that could make a difference in your health and well-being. Breakfast barriers can be broken by understanding the importance of knowing how your body works. Breakfast barriers can be overcome by learning to prepare nutritious breakfasts that are quick and easy to make.

The importance of breakfast is emphasized today. The breakfast meal is one of the most important meals of the day. It provides energy to the body and helps to prepare it for the day ahead. Breakfast should not be considered a luxury, but an essential part of a balanced diet.

State income tax collection smooth so far

Michigan's new income tax, adopted Oct. 1, is proving a reality for the thousands of citizens who have to pay the tax. The first month of the new tax has passed with few problems, and the Michigan Tax Commission is confident that the tax collection process will be smooth.

The new income tax law went into effect on Oct. 1, and it is estimated that the tax will affect about 300,000 taxpayers. The tax is based on the earned income of the taxpayer and is designed to replace the state's old inheritance tax system.

In the first month of the new tax, the Michigan Tax Commission received about 12,000 returns. The first returns were received on Oct. 1, and the tax was due for payment on Oct. 30.

The tax is calculated on the earned income of the taxpayer and is based on a schedule that is graduated from a low rate for low-income taxpayers to a high rate for high-income taxpayers.

The tax is a progressive tax, which means that the higher your income, the higher your tax rate. The tax is levied on individuals, partnerships, trusts, and estates.

The tax is also a broad-based tax, which means that it is not only levied on income from wages, salaries, and profits, but also on income from property, rents, and dividends.

The tax is intended to be a fair and equitable tax, which is why it is called a progressive tax. The tax is also intended to be a broad-based tax, which means that it is levied on all sources of income, regardless of the source of income.

Nevertheless, the Township Board of Appeals held its regular meeting on Monday, October 16, 1966, at 8:00 p.m., for the purpose of hearing an appeal of the decision of the Clinton County Planning Commission to approve the development of a parcel of land for a residential subdivision.

The appeal was brought by Mrs. Elizabeth Mitchell, who requested a variance to the Township Ordinance for the purpose of allowing the construction of a residential subdivision on a parcel of land located at 1212 E. Main Street, St. Johns, Michigan.

The Board of Appeals heard the case and after considering the evidence presented, voted to grant the variance requested by Mrs. Mitchell.

The Board of Appeals is comprised of three members, each of whom serves a term of three years. The members are appointed by the Township Board of Trustees and serve until a successor is appointed.

The Board of Appeals meets on the second Monday of each month at 8:00 p.m. in the Township Hall.

The Board of Appeals has jurisdiction over all matters pertaining to the interpretation and enforcement of the Township Ordinances, including the approval of subdivisions, the issuance of permits, and the hearing of appeals from decisions of the Township Planning Commission.

The Board of Appeals is an important part of the Township government and provides an opportunity for residents to have their concerns and issues heard and addressed by the Township Board of Trustees.

The Board of Appeals is committed to ensuring that the Township Ordinances are fairly and equitably applied and that the best interests of the residents of the Township are protected.

Next Sunday In Clinton County Churches

All Churches in Clinton County are invited to send their weekly announcements to The Clinton County News. These must reach us by 10 a.m. Monday to appear in publications in the current week's issue.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is almighty because it is the living body of whom we call Jesus. When we put our money into the church, we are supporting the church and its activities, and in doing so, we are giving our money a purpose. The Church is the storehouse of spiritual values.

Money is a saving account! Money is a checking account! Money in your pocket! There all add up to a false sense of security. But as everybody knows, the security of money can disappear. The stock market drops, and money in a savings account turns sour. There are four sound storehouse of spiritual values.

Cleansing, records a must for large-scale hog production

It is not a startling fact that every 17 days a group of sows is culled out. The day the sows are moved into the farrowing house and the day of weaning are not adhered to in order for the schedule to be maintained. The first 2 or 3 weeks after being in the silo room, the odor or bleached corn, and sometimes the silo gas could cause a fire — you're planning — in it to your barn, close the door to the silo room. Exhausting this gas into the barn and open a window in the barn. Barn gas is becoming a more serious hazard as the silos are being used at maximum intensity. The use of smoke detectors or screens to exhaust silo gas can be required by the fire department. If smoke detectors are not used, exhaust down the silo chute.

Contractors at the new St. Johns High School on Sickles Street move sand (foreground) in preparation for pouring of concrete slab on the roof for southeast corner of the building. In the background walls begin to rise on the academic circular colonnades at the east end. The picture was taken Monday.

Aerial seeding is increasing

Aerial seeding of soybeans is a practice where the grower covers his sown seed that has been planted by the air. This method is being utilized in order to save time and money. It is also a way to provide a uniform stand of seedlings. The seed is planted in the row and the resulting grain is harvested in the row. The seed is planted in rows that are 20 to 30 inches apart and the rows are 30 to 40 inches apart. The seed is planted at a depth of 1 inch.

There is no need today that a farmer is not interested in the farmland he is raising corn silage in. The day he grows his corn silage in the field is not the best time to plant it. The farmer needs to plant it the day he grows his corn silage. This will allow the farmer to grow corn silage in the fall and to plant it in the spring. Human spirit best hope for 'building America'

In spite of the best—or worst—efforts of the political promoters and planners, the human spirit still lives. Unfortunately, it usually takes a disaster to reveal the unlimited capacity of the spirit as well as the limited ability of the planners.

A little over three years ago, a disaster of classic proportions was visited upon Alaska. An earthquake with an estimated magnitude of 8.0 on the Richter scale struck Anchorage and the surrounding area. The damage was catastrophic. The state capital, Juneau, was located on a hillside and was not directly affected. The city of Seward, located on the southern Kenai Peninsula, was hit particularly hard. The town of Homer, located on the southern Kenai Peninsula, was also hit hard.

The rebuilding of the state has been slow and painful. The losses were substantial. The state's economy was hit hard. The state government was forced to take on a large debt to finance the rebuilding. The state's population was reduced by about 10%. The state's economy was reduced by about 10%.

MICHIGAN DOCTORS have entertained many an aspiring medical student with their services under the guise of a vacation. The Hope hospital slip, which carries with it an invitation to examine the facilities of a medical school, has many appealing qualities to a senior year medical student. Free time, an opportunity to see the world, and the excitement of the medical field are just some of the attractions that draw students from Michigan and all over the United States. AMERICAN PHYSICIANS have more to do than the busy work of the family doctor. They are busily engaged in solving problems and conditions which affect the health of the general public. This summer, the United States is facing a critical situation. A shortage of physicians has been created because of the war in Vietnam. The result has been a large number of volunteer physicians overseas. It is administered by the American Medical Association and the United States Department of Defense. The program sponsored by American physicians overseas has helped to relieve the shortage of physicians in many parts of the world. It has provided medical care for millions of people, and has given them the opportunity to travel and experience different cultures.
